In order to impress Rogers decides to beat his sons at their own game, and in the course of his delightful French comedianne, Fifi Dorsay, he visits an expensive tailor, and makes the rounds of the various night clubs, race tracks and other centres of pleasure.

And his plan gets results, results that are not only surprising to Rogers, Fifi, and his sons, but which will amaze you, too.

"Young As You Feel," which is from Rogers' starring version of George Ade's well known stage play, "Father And Son," is said to offer Rogers the best opportunity of his entire screen career to display his natural and homely style of humor and to be the most human and hilarious of all his pictures.

In addition to Miss Dorsay, the comedian is supported by a cast of interesting players, including the celebrated character actor, Lucien Littlefield, Donald Dillaway and Terrance Ray Impersonate the two spoiled sons and Rosalie Hoyt and Jacqueline Dunn are the feminine members of the youthful and romantic foursome. Other prominent players are Brandon Hurst, who recently played with Rogers in "A Connecticut Yankee," C. Henry Gordon and Claire Dubrey. Frank Borzage, who directed "They Had To See Paris," which picture marked the screen debut of both Rogers and Fifi Dorsay, directed the production.

"EXTRAVAGANCE" SCINTILLATING SATIRE AT CAPITOL TONIGHT

With the same brilliance that the S. P. of the Roaring Twenties set the ladies tonight, tinkle knives at the Capitol, when "Extravagance" radiate.

Totally cold of that horrible sex-appeal, "Extravagance" is one of those rare pictures which always deals with a problem probable in our own daily lives.

A motion picture on her daughter infidelities every whim of extravagance with much sacrifice on her own part, until she is relieved of the burden by her daughter marrying a fairly wealthy young business man. However, the newly married couple soon find breakers ahead when the husband refuses to spoil his wife in the way that her mother did. The wife's extravagance soon results in financial embarrassment to the young husband. Her craving for beautiful things prompts her to deceive her husband, and consenting a girl-friend who is adverse to accepting clothes from men other than her husband, the young wife is finally reconciled to seeing the wisdom of doing the same. The discovery of a sable coat, bought by an unscrupulous dealer, almost wrecks the lives of several trusting husbands, and with satisfactory winding-up of a most unfortunate state of affairs is only brought about after many realistic events.

"Extravagance" stars June Collyer as the erring wife, Lloyd Hughes as the young husband, Aganston Thomas as the villainous stock broker, Dorothy Christy as the foolish girl friend and Owen Moore as the foolish one's husband. There we have the cast, a synopsis of the story and the implied moral. The finished picture will be found delightfully entertaining to everyone who witnesses it at the Capitol Theatre today and Wednesday with matinee large.

"There will be a comedy, a travelogue with the Rambling Reporter, and a vaudefilm included in the programme.

GREAT BRITAIN

From cable advices it would appear that Great Britain has taken the step most likely to lead out of the difficulty facing British finances in the formation of a non-party national government to tide over the crisis. At its head will be the Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald who will have the active cooperation of the most experienced men of the political parties.

The part which His Majesty played in bringing about the non-party government in the national crisis may, as it has been pointed out, never been fully known but it is believed that the final decision was upon the advice of the king. In the crisis all Britain will feel unhampered by party ties. Surely the last few days have shown the main importance of the kingship in such an emergency as this.

THE DEADLY HOME

Home is a dangerous place, remarks The Ohio Health News (Columbus).

More than half the deaths due to falls, in Ohio during the first ten months of 1930, occurred in the home, where safety should begin.

Forty per cent. of the fatal falls were persons past middle age, which would indicate that educational campaigns for safety must be emphasized in the home among citizens in this age group. It goes on:

"Many falls were contingent upon poor illumination and ill-designed stairways, or due to falling out of bed, in bathtubs, from splashdiders, on slippery porches, on loose carpets, and out of windows.

"Many of the falls were preventable including a large proportion due to personal carelessness; but a large number were influenced by inherent faults of mechanical or structural detail.

"Death records filed with the State Division of Vital Statistics during the past sixteen years, showed 35 per cent. increase in the number of deaths from falls, of which 52 per cent. were males and 48 per cent. females. In 1914 there were fifty-eight males and forty-two females in every 100 fatalities. Male deaths continued to predominate each year until 1922, when women took the lead. It is interesting to note that deaths from this cause among women increased more rapidly than male deaths until, in 1929, analysis of every 100 falls showed fifty-one women and forty-nine men. This percentage is significant in view of the fact that population percentages are fifty-one male and forty-nine female.

"The first ten months of 1930 developed records of 1,209 deaths due to falls with 609 in the home, 142 in industry, and 205 in the streets, around the premises, and in public places. In 251 reports, the place of accident was not indicated.

"Cause of the accident was given on 196 records as falling down-stairs; on fifty-five as falling from ladder or scaffold; on sixteen as falling from or over chairs; thirteen persons fell from trees and died, and twenty-five tripped over carpets or rugs in the home. Of 904 records this detail of the accident was omitted."

POCKETS AND THE PULPIT

Sew up firmly and tightly the pockets in every pair of ministerial trousers in the country before next Sunday!

Ministers' wives throughout the land are proffered this radical advice by the Baptist Watchman-Examiner (New York). The grace and dignity of the pulpit have been so jeopardized by the hands-in-pocket habit of American ministers, in the opinion of this Baptist editor, that the only remedy is for the wives to get busy with needle and thread, and sew those trousers up. How many ministers, inquires The Watchman-Examiner, are conscious of the degrees to which they are addicted to the hand-in-the pocket habit? Yet—

"There are few things more grotesque and awkward than the sight of a well-dressed, well-set-up speaker at the very beginning of his address or sermon ramming his fists down into his trousers pockets and keeping them there during a considerable part of the time he is speaking.

"It is a kind of slouchiness for which there is no excuse, and which would be tolerated in no other important place.

"Imagine, for example, the Ambassador of the United States to Great Britain, charged with a message from or concerning his country, assuming in its delivery the undignified, hand-n-pocket, free-and-easy posture and manner of address to be observed in most pulpits on almost any Sunday in the year!

"This is no unimportant matter, for the manner of the delivery of a sermon has much to do with its effectiveness.

"One of the rules on preaching that ought to be emphasized in the theological seminary is: 'Keep your hands out of your pockets!'

"If the minister can not or will not, then let the minister's wife get busy with her needle and thread. If necessary, let every church insert an item in its budget to provide her with sewing material."

THE ADVENTURERS
By Aline Michaels

This is a song of the men who go
From the tropic heat to the polar snow,
Over tossing oceans and desert sands,
Ever in quest of the unknown lands.

Though the Earth is shrinking year by year
And its distant places are brought more near,
As the voice of the planes roars down the sky
To the signal-lights that they thunder by,
While the lifted beacons flash gold and green
Like the throb of a heart-beat, strangely seen.

There still are men who go tramping on
In search of the wonders beyond the dawn.
This is a song of the hearts that ask
For the tang of adventure to lend their task
A hint of the glamour of old romance
From the days when men dallied with fate and chance.

Though the Earth is ancient, its sons are young
And sweet are the lures by the distance sung,
And as long as the systems are whirled through space
A spell will be cast by the farthest place.
This is a song of the men who make
The trails that the world one day will take.

BELLEVILLE MUNICIPAL BAND, under the leadership of Reg. Hinchey, is making great progress. A reader of this column sends in the following: "It was a delight the other evening on dropping in at the practice of the Belleville Municipal Band to note the improvement made during the last month. "Reg." Hinchey and his twenty-five men are certainly working very hard to give the music lovers of Belleville a real splendid program each afternoon and evening of the Belleville Fair. It is his ambition to have one of the best bands Belleville has had. Programs will consist of new and up-to-date numbers together with some that, while they were written many years ago, are always popular with young and old." Reg. Hinchey can be depended upon to bring the Belleville Municipal Band up to a high peak of perfection for he has good material, having a number of the old 21st Battalion bandsmen. There was a band! competed overseas with the best military bands of the Empire and finished one, two, three. Played the triumphant allied army of occupation into Germany and made history generally.

CRIME COSTS

Friends of prohibition have some reason for complaint against the carelessness of newspapers in certain quarters recently over the Wickersham Commission report on the nation's crime bill. That this cost amounts to more than a billion dollars a year was naturally the item first emphasized. When this is considered in with the statement that two-thirds of the outlay is accounted for by prohibition enforcement, it does not need a particularly careless reader to carry the impression that prohibition enforcement costs the American people two-thirds of a billion dollars, even if the adjective "probably" used as a assertion technically correct. The fact, of course, is made plain in the more careful headlines, is that prohibition consumes, of the total of the $33,000,000 expended by the Federal Government on law enforcement, making the special outlay something less than $33,000,000. On the other hand, a considerable proportion of the great sums expended by local and State governments in combating crime might very well be charged up to the operations of the prohibition law; but there we are dealing with broad estimates and no one man's guess is considered as good as another's—and better—New York Times.

A GREAT DREAM REALIZED

Last month another chapter of railway history was written in Africa, when the first train to cross the Dark Continent from the east to ocean travelled from Lobito, in Angola, Portuguese West Africa), to Beira, in Mozambique (Portuguese East Africa), a distance of 2,946 miles. This line, which passes also through the Belgian Congo and Rhodesia, is a great British enterprise, carried out with the cordial cooperation of the foreign governments concerned, and it marks the realization of the dream of Cecil Rhodes, which was to see the Cape-to-Cairo route tapped by trunk lines running to the east coast and the west and thus staging an outlet to all the seas for the great interior area extending through which the Cape-to-Cairo railway ran.—Montreal Star.

AN ANTI-FLY CLUB PROPOSED IN ORILLIA

Appeals to "Swat the fly" too often fall on deaf ears and the result is that every year sounds the call wanted is united effort to curb, if not to annihilate, this disease-carrier and general nuisance. We have been told that it can be done by those who aim is service and therefore we hail the proposal to Orillia to form an Anti-Fly Club. Mr. Frank Gover, elated with the success of the Anti-Mosquito committee of which he is chairman, suggests a similar organization to combat the fly nuisance in that town. The Dominion Government surely can supply the information for the control of flies and it should not be difficult to put the theory into practice. "Think what a boon to the town it would be," says Mr. Grover enthusiastically. "If we could say that Orillia has neither flies nor mosquitoes." If Orillia succeeds other places will follow its example. It is strange that no one thought before of forming an Anti-Fly Club. Mr. Grover has the right idea. Man is a creature of habit and once the best work in groups, each stimulating the other. At the end of the season a prize might be offered for the greatest number of flies killed. In this way the club spirit would be maintained and the club members would look forward with pleasure to the next season of warfare.—Toronto Mail & Empire.

COURTESY AND SCENERY

On our streets and highways the overwhelming number of motor cars with United States licenses tell their own story of the new tourist "industry" which has developed in this country. Our neighbors are so attracted to Canada that visitors are said to supply the third largest revenue in the Dominion. The total in 1930 was $279,000,000, which, this year, was $30,000,000 below the figures for 1929, owing, obviously, to the depression.

So the past has been the influx from the United States, and so wide the origin of the travellers, that Canada is becoming known across the border as never before. Says the New York Times, in an editorial on "The Canadian Playground," refers to the hospitable attitude of the Canadians and adds that this courtesy and helpfulness to all visitors is a common Canadian trait. Ask your way in Quebec of a native, and he will walk along with you to see that you take the right street." While the Times regards the opportunity to purchase spirits and wines as an attraction for some of the visitors, "the far greater attractions in Canada are the scenery and fishing, hunting, boating and hiking resources."

Canada has at last taken a place on the front street of playgrounds. The Dominion is within driving distance of at least 100,000,000 people in the United States, within less than a week's journey by canoe, and its recreation resorts are well distributed from coast to coast and well served by railways, hotels, ships motor coaches and good roads. It is no wonder the tourist business thrives, despite the shortness of the season for outdoor pastimes.—Toronto Globe.

BOSTON MAYOR'S PROTEST

In Boston, too, the stranger within the gates has been punished. A Massachusetts law makes compulsory the preference of citizens "on all work of any branch of the service of the Commonwealth or of any town or city therein." The Highland Supreme Court holds that this applies to all municipal employees. To appoint or employ a non-citizen in any city service is a criminal offence. Somebody dug up the law and demanded the dismissal of three non-citizen chemistry and student nurses at the City Hospital, lured over by the offer to carry out their first papers. Mayor Curley had no alternative but to order their discharge, but he protests against it:

The plea that the employment of this fine group of women deprives native women of opportunity to work does not ring true, and even were it true it would be difficult to justify the severity of the punishment visited on these girls for following training and the exceptional character of service which they and women coming from the same foreign portion of the world have given to the people of Boston.

According to The Transcript, the nurses of many Massachusetts hospitals have invited Canadian graduate women to give their services as student nurses, to be trained for professional nurses. They have become in ignorance of the law against their employment in public hospitals. "In normal times it is difficult to secure native-born women as student nurses." These little cruelties and excesses of zeal are unhappily not natural at present.—New York Times.

SHE FAINTED AFTER FOOD

Nurse's Acute Suffering Corrected by Kruschen

"A nurse's life does not leave much time for illness, but having derived much benefit from taking Kruschen, it's only fair to you and others to publish the facts on:

"I was suffering from over-acidity and flatulence to such an extent that I was completely ill. I couldn't take food. The very thought of it nauseated me. When I actually forced myself to take something, I would be wretchedly ill, and faint afterwards.' I really began to feel life was not worth while.

"I have now taken Kruschen for 13 months, and I have no doubt that it has righted my digestive system. I am now quite fit and able to work with vigor again.

"I recommend the same treatment to those of my patients who are likely to benefit by it."—Nurse K. S.

Indigestion is caused by a failure in the flow of the gastric or digestive juices. Kruschen Salts, instead of being assimilated by your system, simply collects in the blood, and this is producing harmful acid poisons. Start the digestive juices flowing properly, and you'll not have to suffer any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings swift and lasting relief from indigestion. The immediate effect of the six mineral salts in Kruschen is to promote the healthy flow of the vital juices of the body. And that means a blessed end to indigestion and a renewed and whole-hearted enjoyment of your food without the slightest fear of having to pay the old painful penalty. And soon! You will soon experience the tonic influence of Kruschen on your bloodstream. You will begin to feel a new being—happier, heartier, and laugher than you ever felt in your life.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

BENNETT NOT SURPRISED

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 25.—(By The Canadian Press)—The resignation of the Labor Government was not unexpected, For some time it has been stated that financial legislation must be enacted to meet the difficulty or the existing situation in Great Britain. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada interviewed here with reference to the developments in the British political situation. When asked for his opinion as to the outcome of the situation, Mr. Bennett replied; "Obviously I am not expected to express any opinion on the political situation in Great Britain. The British people have always been capable of dealing with their own affairs."

Industrialism Shows Signs of Opposition to New National Gov't

Independent Labor Sends Out Notice to Its Branches

ATTACK WAGES!

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 25 (CP)—Already evidence is accumulating that official opposition in the House of Commons, when it does arise in sufficient strength, will receive substantial support from organized industrialism throughout the country in waging war against the new government's proposals for enforcing economy and relief.

Belligerent pronouncements and resolutions from labor council and kindred bodies are pouring into London with a haste which may perhaps be deemed to discount their true value. A pungent note of criticism issued last week by the Manchester trades and labor council (representing 100,000 workers) of the proposals for economy and of the report of the economy committee, has been followed by a statement from its general secretary, who says that labor as a political force is pledged to maintain and even extend the widespread social services, which include unemployment insurance and the dole.

Charges Bank Pressure

"Notwithstanding Jix" cognizance the spokesman of the Manchester body, "a section of the government has given way to the pressure of the bankers, the federation of British industries and the national employers' council".

The Lancashire independent labor council declares: "The labor government was stampeded by bankers and financiers following a virulent campaign by big business under the specious pics of economy".

May Refuse Support

While the parliament of labor, the trade union congress will give no official opinion until after its meeting tomorrow, there seems little doubt it will at least refuse its support to the National government, and may more likely register its open hostility.

Naturally when the whole matter is removed from the atmosphere of the trades union council and of the trades union and labor council meetings, and into the chamber of parliament, the prime responsibility for the Opposition attitude will rest with Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson.

Up to the moment Mr. Henderson has merely headed those ministers serving in the new cabinet who refuse to continue with the Prime Minister. There has never been a suspicion of full-blooded left wing principles associated with Mr. Henderson, however, and even as regards the general economy proposals it is understood he was prepared to go a very long way in agreeing to them.

It may well be, therefore, that Mr. Henderson will pause before committing himself to active resistance to new government policy programme. On the principle of enforcing economy he is with Mr. MacDonald; it was on the refusal of the Government that he found agreement with the Prime Minister impossible.

A statement which is being sent to all branches of the independent labor party, throughout the country says "With the formation of a National government under the leadership of Ramsay MacDonald, the I.L.P. is released to advocate and on wages enters on a new industrial phase.

"The declared intention of the new government is to establish a coalition down on the plea of financial stringency unemployed allowances and other forms of essential social expenditure and the salaries and wages of civil servants and teachers, while leaving the burden of war debt payments and the new war expenditure of 108,000,000 pounds sterling untouched will be the signal for a renewed onslaught on the less well organized workers by employers in all industries."

Tri-Party Cabinet

London, Aug. 25 (C P Cable).—His Majesty has called a party council meeting for tomorrow morning. At this meeting it is expected that members of the old Labor Cabinet will hand in their seals of office which will be transferred to the ministers in the new National government headed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

London, Aug. 25 (AP).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald as head of the new National administration government, today announced the personnel of his Cabinet including Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, as President of the Council, and Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden in the old post as Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The complete Cabinet is as follows:

Mr. MacDonald, Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin (Conservative) President of the Council.

Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden (Labor) Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Sir Herbert Samuel (Liberal) Home Secretary.

Lord Sankey (Labor) Lord Chancellor.

Lord Reading (Liberal) Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Sir Samuel Hoare (Conservative) Secretary of State for India.

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas (Labor) Secretary of State for the Dominions and Colonies.

Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain (Conservative) Minister of Health.

Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister (Conservative) President of the Board of Trade.

Sir Donald MacLean (Liberal) President of the Board of Education.

Sir Henry Betterton (Conservative) Minister of Labor.

Lord Londonderry (Conservative) Minister of Education.

Lord Lothian (Liberal) Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Sir Amulree (Labor) Secretary of State for Air.

Sir Austin Chamberlain (Conservative) First Lord of the Admiralty.

Sir Archibald Sinclair (Liberative) Secretary for Scotland.

Rt. Hon. Lord Irwin, the retiring Viceroy of India.

Sir Percy Cunliffe-Lister, Minister of Agriculture are to be announced later.

The British press joins in extolling Mr. MacDonald's action. The Daily Herald, semi-official Labor organ, states that he and the other leaders who remain with him enter the new ministry as individuals and not as representatives of the Labor movement, but the Herald adds that the Labor Party as a whole "without the leaders who have resigned, will stand by them and will put their names live with lustre in history."

"Fully aware of the consequences," the Herald continued, "Mr. MacDonald has had immediate colleagues who propose to act with him, and he wielded with ability to the political wilderness. Prophecy is unnecessary, but already we know that the Labor movement as a whole is in splendid and generous enough to salute their sincerity.

Audience With King

Mr. MacDonald had an audience with His Majesty the King, which was believed he would submit his resignation and that of his colleagues. His Majesty approves then the appointment of the new ministers mentioned, either late today or tomorrow morning, to transfer the seals of office from the old ministers to the new.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, who of course remains secretary for foreign affairs under the Baldwin, his seal, was at work early today at the foreign office, personally turning over the work to his successor, whoever he may be but Hen Hon. Arthur Henderson has a prominent position in the last two days. He and MacDonald are the leaders of the unionism. There is considerable speculation as to the reason for the changes of the world disarmament conference which opens in Geneva next February. Mr. Henderson, who is admitted on all sides to be the best informed man in the country, was named as chairman of this most important conference.

It is expected Mr. Henderson will take the chair at the meeting of the trades union congress meeting at Bristol next month, although Mr. MacDonald is expected to attend and give an outline of the new policy. The Prime Minister is to speak for 30 minutes tonight, given by the Herald generally his view of the situation.

Received she had undergone an operation at the Kingston General Hospital, and was returning home, accompanied by her mother, with Mr. Fisher, and naturally the accident distressed her.

It is said that the Moore car ran into the rear of Fisher's car, the windshield, radiator, bumper and one side being badly damaged. The Fisher car, the police state, did not receive much injury, as it was bent and the bumper damaged. Traffic Officer Byrne of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated the accident.

U. S. BANKERS CHARGED WITH DICTATORSHIP

British Labor Organ Charges Labor's Fall to U. S. Federal Reserve

London, Aug. 25.—The London Daily Herald, Great Britain's chief Labor organ, today gives the most prominent place to a story in which it charges that the fall of the MacDonald Government and the establishment of a new National administration was "dictated" by United States bankers.

The story said that the $250,000,000 credit recently supplied to the Bank of England was informed by the Federal Reserve Bank that this bank credit could only be granted if drastic economies were made in the "dole."

"The late Government," the paper says, "refused to let pressure from the Federal Reserve Bank that credits would only be granted provided specific and considerable economies were made as one in the administration, chancellor of the Exchequer.

Sir Herbert Samuel (Liberal) Home Secretary.

Lord Sankey (Labor) Lord Chancellor.

Lord Reading (Liberal) Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain (Conservative) Minister of Health.

THREE DEAD IN MOTOR CRASH

Fatal Crash Near Mallorytown as Car is Ditched

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 25—The toll taken by the motor accident of Monday morning near Mallorytown mounted to three when it was learned Mrs. William Ryder, of Dunnville, Ontario, died in the General hospital after having lain unconscious with severe injuries from the time of the accident.

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 25—Carrie Ryder, 20 years of age, of Dunnville, Ont., was instantly killed and Mrs. Ryder, mother of the girl, were seriously injured two of them perhaps fatally when an automobile owned and driven by Rev. Clarence H. Hendren, Dunnville, left the King's Highway No. 2 one and one half miles west of Mallorytown Monday morning and crashed through a fence before upsetting in an adjoining field.

Rev. Mr. Telford and Mrs. William Ryder, mother of the girl who are unconscious in the General Hospital here are not thought to be fatally injured. While the former's injuries are of a very serious nature Mrs. Ryder is suffering from a fractured arm, a fractured skull and a broken left arm and possible internal injuries. She is unconscious to die momentarily. Her husband is conscious but has a broken arm. Several bruises and cuts are suffering from shock.

Telford, pastor of the Baptist Church at Cornwall was driving his automobile at the time of the Kingston when the accident occurred.

EX-PATIENT IS IN CRASH

Miss M. Thompson of Bancroft Suffers Only Slight Shock

Shortly before noon on Tuesday, an easy came into collision on Highway No. 2, about eight miles east of Belleville. Mr. Fred Fisher of Bancroft, driving a car, pulled out to pass a load of hay and collided with a car and truck driven by Mr. John Moore of Queensboro. The latter car was the worst damaged, injury but Miss Myrtle Thompson of Bancroft, was considered serious.

Received she had undergone an operation at the Kingston General Hospital, and was returning home, accompanied by her mother, with Mr. Fisher, and naturally the accident distressed her.

It is said that the Moore car ran into the rear of Fisher's car, the windshield, radiator, bumper and one side being badly damaged. The Fisher car, the police state, did not receive much injury, as it was bent and the bumper damaged. Traffic Officer Byrne of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated the accident.

Die-Hard Tories May Sit with 'Wild Men' from Clyde

MacDonald's Sharpshooters Will Now Face Premier

NEW LAY-OUT

London, Aug. 25.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Prime Minister MacDonald and his composite Labor-Liberal-Conservative Cabinet will not really occupy the ministerial front bench to the right of the speaker with their supporters behind them.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson will other Ministers of the late Government, who could not agree with the Prime Minister on the economy programme, will face the Government on the left of the speaker. Labor's left wing, the Independent Labor party group, will also be featured James Maxton, champion of "socialism in one thing" will move across the floor of the house. Mr. MacDonald, who has hitherto had these sharpshooters behind his back will have them facing him across the floor from behind Mr. Henderson's genial figure.

It may happen that certain Conservatives, not members of the new cabinet will prefer to retain their present seats on the Opposition benches as they did during the war coalition period. What a curious spectacle the house would offer if this turned out—die-hard Tories sitting cheek by jowl with the "wild men" from the Clyde.

Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King Pleased With Results

Ottawa, Aug. 25—Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Dominion Liberal leader, expressed himself as being delighted when informed by the Canadian Press of the result of the election in the Province of Quebec. Mr. King, who has been out of town for a few days, was informed of the result when he descended from his train here.

Inasmuch as the contest had been fought very largely on Federal issues, he said, it would be clearly demonstrated that result indicated on the part of the electors of the Province of Quebec a very definite confidence in the Liberal administration of Premier Taschereau, and also little in the way of confidence in the present administration at Ottawa and its policies.

Horror of Fire in Forests About Priest River, Idaho

MUCH SUFFERING

Heat So Great as to Stir Up Tornadoes in Spokane

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 25—The larger fire in the area was a photographic stories of the horror that followed the Priest River blaze. A conflagration were trickling into Spokane today.

Many individuals running until they dropped dead, farm families standing neck-deep in cold mountain streams to escape the flames, and hundreds of persons in want, their homes razed, were described by Mrs. F. Chant, who lives at Conkin, Idaho.

"The heat was so great," she said, "that it stirred up tornadoes that tore up big trees by the roots. One rancher, Cal Hill, was on the roof of his barn, trying to keep flying cinders off the roof when a gust carried the roof up a neighboring barn, scalding him to death.

Safety in Streams

Settlers hemmed in by the blaze which foretold that it travelled 25 miles in two hours, fled to streams for safety.

Some of them stood for hours, all day sometimes, in the streams, many with pneumonia and rheumatism after they were rescued.

"It was terrible to see horses, calves, cows and chickens burned," Mrs. Chant said. "Their cries filled the air. One poor horse ran down the road, afire, and fell exhausted and dropped dead. such scenes were common.

"Lots of crippled deer have been seen, some with their hind legs burned off to their tails, a foot or two and others blinded."

Able-bodied refugee, some aided by red cross funds and others by contributions from private citizens, have started rehabilitation of their farms. Others, penniless, remained in nearby towns, she said, seeking work to support their families during the winter.

Financial Adviser Plays Golf as Government Falls

HIS WORK DONE

London, Aug. 25—Sir George May, the comparatively obscure insurance man whose report on government expenditure has created a great furore, is mostly by slashing the dole practically all of $500,000,000 in the recommended economies were not included.

This was a first-class bombshell and the Conservatives pointed out short his vacation, returning to London for the conference which resulted in the fall of the Labor Cabinet.

His Task Complete

But once the report was issued Sir George's task was done. He returned to his country place to play golf and sail his yacht, himself. He is a tall, slim man and once he was almost blind, even now he is never seen without a darkened monocle, and there is a story he wears it in his sleep.

During the war the Chancellor of the Exchequer, looking for money to pay for war supplies, asked Sir George how much money he had in United States securities.

"Forty million dollars," was the reply.

"May I have them," asked the Chancellor.

Pastures Dry Up, Milk Dairy Products Fall Off

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 25.—(By The Canadian Press)—Harvesting is progressing rapidly throughout Ontario, according to the weekly crop report issued by the Department of Agriculture. Continued dry weather in the Eastern part of the Province has resulted in a sharp falling off in milk, butter and cheese. The price of eggs is advancing as customers increase.

Ontario County reports one of the best wheat yields it has ever had, and Dundas reports an average of 45 bushels to the acre. Corn and tobacco crops are splendid. Barley yield, on the other hand, is poor.

Frontenac, Haliburton, Hastings, Prescott and Russell Counties all report pastures drying up and milk and dairy products reduced this year. In Huron, however, milk and cream production shows a 35 per cent increase over August, 1930, due largely to pasturage.

Harvesting has shown that yields are generally average, although the oat crop is not up to usual standards.

BAWLS and STRIKES

Some strange figures were revealed when the Peterboro Examiner released the averages of the Central Ontario League for 1931. Many statistics are hereby advanced by the "Examiner," the most surprising feature of the batting averages for the league is the absence of Kingston players in the 300 class. The "Ponies" only had five hitters in that class while Peterboro had but four. The Belleville Yalelands had more 300 hitters than did the other five combined, they had nine without counting Manager Gerow who hit for the grand average of an even .300.

MANY SURPRISES

Hitting for a mark of .446 in thirteen games, Rogers, crack catcher of the Peterboro team, led the regulars among the O.G.B.L. batters. In-the schedule which closed here on Friday, Morgan and Gerow, of Belleville, topped Rogers, but neither can be classed as a regular.

Harry Hodgins, slugging manager of the Ponies, was the runner-up to Rogers, connecting for an average of .400 in nine game, closely followed by Vern Weir of Belleville, who boasted of an average of .396.

Belleville led in team hitting with .307, with Kingston second and Peterboro third. Kingston had the most hits, 174, and the most doubles, three-base hits and home-runs. Singularly enough, all four homeruns made during the O.G.B.L. season were hit by Kingston players. Peterborough had 167 left on base, Belleville 108 and Kingston 97.

Vern Weir scored the most runs, 21, while he was tied with Foley of Peterborough for the most hits, 36. Foley had the most singles, 30; Stone of Kingston led in doubles with 7; Vince of Kingston and Scott of Belleville each had four triples to lead that department and Vern Weir-Quakle of Kingston led in home-runs, with 2.

Ben Vince displayed his speed on the bases by stealing eleven sacks, two more than Vern Weir. The latter hit the most sacrifices, 4.

The complete batting averages for the season are:—

PITCHING

By virtue of scoring two victories, "Brick" Stone, stellar first-sacker of the Ponies, leads the pitchers of the O.G.B.L. Tournament, also of the Ponies won one game and was undefeated.

Foster of Belleville pitched the most innings, 63, and had the most strikeouts, 63. Godfrey of Kingston and Maudsley of Peterboro allowed the most runs, 30, and Godfrey yielded the most hits, 70. Pointer was the wildest pitcher, 25 walks.

Two tie games were played, Gibson and Kitchen being deadlocked in a game at Peterboro and Godfrey and A. Weir in the game last week.

FIELDING

Belleville also lead in club fielding, with Peterboro second and Kingston last. The Ponies, however, had far more assists than either of the other teams, turning in 219, as compared with 156 by Belleville and 150 by Peterboro.

Of the regulars the leaders were: 1st base, Hickey (Peterborough); 2nd, Ben C. Weir (Belleville); 3rd base, Gerow (Belleville); shortstop, Green (Belleville); outfield, A. Weir (Belleville), McQuaide (Kingston), Hall (Peterboro); catcher, Mills (Belleville); pitcher, Jamieson (Kingston.)

DOUBLE PLAYS

There were eighteen double-plays made during the season, Kingston having eleven and Belleville seven, while Peterboro failed to secure a double-play.

Stone figured in most double-plays, 7; while the others in double-plays were: Vince, 6; E. Green, 5; Boyd, 4; Quinn, 3; Cretney, 4; A. Weir, 3; Darrah, 3; A. Weir, 2; Smith, 2; Vince, 2; Mills, Foley and Scrutton, one each.

OTHER FIGURES

"Moose" Darrah, first-baseman of the Belleville Nationals, was the strikeout artist of the league, whiffing the fir nineteen times during the season. Smith of Kingston was next with fifteen strikeouts, while Vince, Scrutton, Quinn and Foley each had ten.

The players struck out as follows:

Kingston—Vince, 10; Smith, 15; Quinn, 13; Stone, 13; Scrutton, 13; Arnlel, 10; Boyd, 10; Godfrey, 2; McQuaide, 3; Timmerman, 4; Jamieson, 3; Skelly, 1; Ada, 1; Totals, 107.

Belleville—Darrah, 19; M. Green 10; Pointer, 9; V. Weir, 9; Hutchings 8; Scott, 8; A. Weir, 8; Mills, 3; Young, 3; Blaker, 2; Wilkins, 1; E. Green 1; Cretney, 1; Hurley, 1; Crertey, 1.—Total, 82.

Peterborough—Foley, 12; Hickey, 8; Sweetman, 7; Rogers, 3; Nichols, 5; Hitchins, 4; Hall, 4; Hillier, 4; Maudsley, 2; Collins, 1.—Total, 75.

Smith of Kingston was the leader in drawing bases on balls, walking nine times during the season, one more than V. Weir of Belleville. Peterboro had 66 walks, as compared with 39 by Belleville and 28 by Kingston.

The players drew the walks as follows:

Kingston—Smith, 9; Ada, 4; Quinn, 4; Stone, 3; Teuro, 2; Arnlel, Boyd, Godfrey, Vince, Skelly, Scrutton and McQuaide, 1 each.

Belleville—V. Weir, 9; Mills, 4; Scott, 2; E. Green 2; Gibson 2; Pointer 2; Hutchings, 2; Morgan, M. Green, Wilkins and Cretney, 1 each.

Peterboro—Nichols, 7; Foley, 7; Macdonald 3; Sweetman, 3; Hall, 4; Hillier 4; Collins 3; Heckman 2; Rogers 2; Moore 2; Kitchen 2; Batten 2; Maudsley 2; Johnston 1.

All-eyes turn to Kingston tomorrow when the Belleville "Nationals and the Kingston "Ponies" play the third and deciding game in the Limestone City. Things are not quite as rosy as they might be in the City of Limestone City, though Geo. Ada was emphatically stated that he would be an absentee when the "homesters" took the field tomorrow. The sharpers also know that the "Ponies" have been afford to lose a bitter like Ada. Although Ada does bring the wrath of the "Pony" supporters upon his head by his continual "riding" of the Kingston players, it has to be admitted that he knows the game from the top to the bottom. The absence of Ada from the "Pony" bench will do their club no moral good.

On the other hand the Nationals are working like a smooth machine. They had a practice last evening and all of the boys seem to be in the best of condition. If they play the same class of ball tomorrow that they demonstrated in the past two games with the Ponies there should be the "Ponies" tomorrow. It is more than likely "Tommy" Pointer will get the assignment for the "Nats." Pointer has only allowed the Kingston fans 6 hits in the last two games that he has faced them. Although the Ponies won the first game of the series from Pointer they only helped themselves to four hits. Any team that wins a ball game with as few hits as that are very fortunate and it is safe betting that if they fail to get over four hits tomorrow the Nats should again bring home the pennant. (Anybow tomorrow will tell the tale.)

A benefit game is being played at the Fair Grounds on Thursday evening at 6 p.m. The cause is a worthy one for all baseball fans to help. Pitcher "Curly" Smith, of the B.A.A.A. Juniors, had the very unfortunate occurrence of breaking his arm last week while-pitching for the Belleville Juniors in Peterboro. The locals now play the champions in the O.B.A.A. play-offs with one pitcher. Smith has pitched all season for the Juniors and his services are pretty well down in the mouth although he loses to the club. The management are staging their games to raise finances to defray the expense of the accident. The B.A.A.A. kids are playing an exhibition game against an All Star team picked from the rest of the local junior league. All of these players have signified their intentions of playing in the game and seem very glad to help the opportunity of helping the cause along. The admission is only to be 25c and if the baseball supporters of the city of Belleville will only take the matter seriously there is no doubt as to the issue. Balls, grounds, officials and everything that is necessary to make a real game are being donated gratis. It now remains in the hands of the local sports.

Pedder Gives Exhibition Swim Tomorrow at Park

Tomorrow afternoon at three p.m. the citizens of Belleville will have an opportunity of seeing Marilyn Pedder in action in the C.N.E. Marathon swim held in Toronto. Tommy Pedder's mother but who is confident that he can finish the 15 mile grind and help win the next swimmers to the world. Pedder will go on tomorrow even in front of Victoria Park.

The boy, under the watchful eye of his two pals and trainers "Pat" Morris and "Ted Hunt" is, has been training for the past six weeks in and around this district. Morris has every confidence in the ability of young Pedder and openly predicts that Pedder will not only finish the Marathon but will also be in the money, that is getting according to Morris has been doing his training in many different waters, Lake Ontario, Bay of Quinte, Moira Lake and Trent River. It was in the Trent River that the young lad swam one and three-quarters miles in 37 minutes and finished 13 miles of swimming off Wingfield Park in excellent condition last week.

Much confidence Morris takes Pedder to a different training field as to get him accustomed to the different conditions he will be under.

Pedder is a Belleville boy and is but 15 years of age living at College street. This boy has a very quiet and unassuming nature being of a shy disposition which accounts for his hard work to get out and boost for himself but the kid seems to have the ability of a champion swimmer and may make the same history for Belleville as Tommy Young made for Toronto when he won the Marathon swim some years ago. At any rate the public will have a chance to see young Pedder in action tomorrow afternoon at Victoria Park.

BRILLIANCE OF W. COASTERS DRAWS MONEY

Gomez and Mahaffey in Fine Mound Performance

MELLOTT'S 28RD.

(By Edward J. Nell, Associated Press Sports Writer)

A spindley left hander and a tall right hand sharpshooter, both from the finishing school of the Pacific Coast League, are proving bitter and effective arguments, as the season wears on, in favor of the Pacific coast. Vest Coast youngsters command in the Major League baseball market.

There'll be another expensive crop culled along the Western sea coast next Spring. One of many performances of these two youngsters was turned in by Lefty Gomez of Mack, leader of the world champion Athletics, and Pat Mahaffey, Yankee pilot, bidding violently for his job with the Silvertips pulled wide on the mowing bags.

Gomez, who has been pulled from the right hand bender, Leroy Mahaffey of Connie Mack's staff, turned in an even more stylish performance to win his fourteenth victory of the season against only two defeats. The 1928 graduate from Portland, Ore., limited the St. Louis Browns to five hits while the A's were belting Sam Gray, Goose Goslin's 20th homer cost Leroy a shutout.

big bat, ready with his 37th home run as well as four other consistent hits, made up for that. Lefty allowed the Sox only seven hits while the Yankees were combing Al Thomas for seventeen in true Yankee style.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Leavitt, Dollsville, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Leavitt, Picton, visited Mrs. Allen Clapp on Friday last week.

Miss Thelma Blakely and Miss Middleton were visitors at Mrs. Clapp's on Saturday when they left for Toronto on Monday. Miss Blakely will teach at the Blakely school east of Picton and Miss Middleton teacher at Port Hope.

ORIOLES SEEK LEADERSHIP IN INTER-LEAGUE

Newark and Rochester Also Clustered at Top

BEARS BEATEN

(By the Associated Press)

The private war between the Rochester Red Wings and the New ark Bears to determine the temporary leadership of the International League threatens to again become a three cornered affair with the Baltimore Orioles challenging for the lead.

The three games separate the pace setting Bears and the third place Orioles today while in between, just one game back of the leaders, the Red Wings, battling to regain their customary position at the top of the standings.

Rochester handed the Bears a 7 to 5 setback yesterday to deprive the leaders a little closer together while Baltimore was losing the decision to pick up valuable ground, dropping a 4 to 3 decision at Mont treal.

Strange as it may seem the Rochester-Newark contest and the Baltimore-Montreal contest and the Toronto-Reading game were won either in the ninth or tenth innings. Toronto came in the tenth inning over Reading Keys.

Rochester into the last inning of the game with Newark trailing 4 to 3 but managed to get three Byron Speece from the mound and before the smoke had cleared away four Red Wings had crossed the plate to win. Newark had dropped their second straight to the champions.

The ninth innings before the Royals succeeded in turning back the Orioles, Lefty Grissel and trio of Baltimore pitchers, Kouzal, Smythe and Warneke, failed to stop a pitchers' argument but in the tenth baseman Dressen threw badly to second on a force play with second and third and had dropped their second straight to the champions.

The ninth innings before the Royals succeeded in turning back the Orioles, Lefty Grissel and trio of Baltimore pitchers, Kouzal, Smythe and Warneke, failed to stop a pitchers' argument but in the tenth baseman Dressen threw badly to second on a force play with second and third and winning run scampered across the plate.

CHAIN STORE BASEBALL

Gabby Street, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and one of the most famous players and managers in baseball, is helping upon himself a great deal of adverse criticism by his activities in chain store baseball tea ms. Gabby has only one answer—"Come and see my ball team." The St. Louis star started their chain store system, the Ordinals were formed as a counterpart of the Boston Braves, or the Philadelphia Phillies. But since then they have been up in the thick of the fight every year. St. Louis now owns or controls five teams outside of the Cardinals, including the Rochester team in the International, Columbus in the American Association, Evansville in the Three Eye League, Houston in the Texas League, and Omaha in the W.J.Y. And their farm teams are by no means total failures. Rochester is second to Red Wings in the International. Every place is on the first division and anxious to make a place in the "Big Time," chain store baseball has its disadvantages, but it certainly has its compensations.

STEAMER IS BLOWN ASHORE

Vessel Goes Ashore Broadside at Vineyard Haven

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Aug. 26.—The passenger steamer Nausheon, carrying 200 persons, passengers from New Bedford, was blown ashore in a heavy fog last night as she was about to dock. The vessel ashore broadside, was struck with her 3 unmanned schooner, a sixty-foot power yacht and half a dozen smaller craft.

The crew launched lifeboats in which all the passengers were brought safely ashore. The lifeboats were two large to be beached out of the surf, and the passengers were carried by members of the crew the rest of the way.

No one was aboard the schooner, the Alice Wentworth, a coaster, or the power boat, owned by Calvin C. Child, of New York.

Rainbow Fades, No Gold But Just Copper

Sudbury, Ont., Aug. 25—The end of the rainbow was the dream cherished by Toni Malichuk, and there was boy gold—but nothing except copper ore. Toni was arrested on August 13, by Provincial Police Sgt. Jack Smith, charged with Sault Ste. Marie, carrying a satchel containing what was thought to be $5000 worth of gold dust.

The grip was pretty heavy, and this alone made the officers of the law suspicious.

Toni was taken to Sudbury jail and kept in custody while an assay was being made of the "dust."

But the government laboratory, in Cobalt, to which the contents of the gold dust was sent for assay, advised that the precious stuff is just copper and zinc and of no commercial value. When the fact ceased to appear police, they appeared pretty worried. Sudbury jewellers had heard of the "loot." Toni was carrying was valuable and it looked bad for him. But the official assay was the means of setting him free, and the proceedings in the case were brief.

"Don't palm it off on the Sudbury jewellers," said Magistrate McKissock in discharging Malichuk and advising him he could keep his "gold."

DELAY IN OPENING DUCK SEASON SOUGHT

Toronto, Aug. 26—Shortening of the duck season in Ontario will be urged upon the Fish and Game Committee of the Legislature, it is understood, by experienced Toronto sportsmen, who foresee a rapid depletion of the principal abboting area if present conditions are allowed to continue.

Purely local factors are sufficient to justify drastic action, it is said, despite the appeal that has been made for conservation measures following the death of millions of birds in the west due to drought.

Bounty on Iron of 2-1-2 Cents is Sought

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 25—(By The Canadian Press)—A Provincial bounty of two and one-half cents, per ton of iron ore mined in the Province, the setting apart of park area of five to ten acres or more in extent along the main highways of the Province, and a northwestern portion of the Province with the preservation of a belt of virgin timber extending 200 feet on either side of the main line of all main roads. The appointment of a separate Minister of Game and Fisheries and revision of the legislation passed at the last session requiring all municipalities in Northern Ontario to pay for the upkeep of children under the Northern Children's Shelters.

These were the main recommendations adopted at the Convention of the Association of Northern and Northwestern Ontario here.

Early Home of Liberalism in Kingston Recalled by Premier

Kingston, Ont., Aug.—Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader, visited Barriefield in Kingston as guest of his former private secretary, Professor Norman Rogers, now of the Economics Department of Queen's University. Mr. King visited Queen's in company with Professor Rogers and Principal A. McGinnis, Chairman of the University Board of Athletic Control. He also paid visits to other friends, and in his journeyings viewed the little house on Bagot Street where Liberalism was cradled in the Limestone City and in which Hon. George Brown, founder of The Globe Toronto, used to spend many evenings with prominent Reformers eighty years ago. Just in the rear of this building, Mr. King saw the office in which since first in which the first Premier of confederated Canada, Sir John Macdonald, practiced law.

CHAPTER XXV.

There was a silence. He said, sharply:

"Evelyn? Evelyn? Why, he said, 'you're crying!'

"No. That is," explained Fanchon, shakily, "I'm trying very hard not to. Years," she went on, recovering herself a little, "may be appropriate to Juliet, but they'll be noticed....."

"That means," he said, brushing her attempt at lightness aside, "that you do care for me! Oh, tell me, Evelyn. Let me take that much sorrowful comfort away with me."

"Yes," she told him, simply, "I do care, Collin."

After all, she had nothing to lose by her confession for she had already lost—everything.

He reached out his arms, he took her close to his breast and kissed the closed eyes and the faintly fragrant cheek and the warm, red mouth. He said, after a long moment:

"I can't give you up, Evelyn! After all, cousins have.....and do.....married.....

She drew herself away. She was shaken through and through. Her very heart cried for him. Her hands ached to touch him, her lips to be united with his own once more. She would have that to remember, she thought. And wondered if he would remember, too, with horror and shame and loathing, in just a few short hours.

"No," she whispered, "don't think of that—please.....it would break your mother's heart. She is terribly opposed to—to such a marriage. I have heard her speak of it."

"She will be love," he returned, "with her own cousin, at one time. Her family interfered, though. You know that, Evelyn? Didn't my mother ever tell you?"

"No—said Fanchon.

He said, taking her hands.....holding them close.....

"I'll always love you. And I'm going to talk to mother tonight."

The car drew up at the Van Suydam's. They separated then, but in the great ballroom they met again and spoke to their hostess, Mrs. Carstairs was there, waiting; and that other woman, who drew Fanchon aside, on the excuse of dancing with her, while Collin, coming up a little too late to claim her, was forced to content himself with the youngest of the Van Suydam girls.

"You can't come straight here," said Toby to Fanchon.

"No, I—" she said swiftly, "established the headache alibi. We drove a little in the fresh air to relieve it."

He looked at her searchingly, but her small beautiful face was perfectly pallidum. "Good girl," said Tony. "Remember all I told her?"

"Yes—"

She danced with Collin.....and with others. Her mind was seething, she felt, as if her brain were on fire. The fiction of the headache was no longer fiction.

Shortly before the supper hour, she found her hostess and made her troubled excuses. Mrs. Van Surdam murmured sympathy and watched her go from the room with a tall figure in the doorway and bent to Rosen. She said to herself—I wonder!

Collin, having engaged the supper dance with his cousin, looked for her and did not find her. He found his mother, however.

"Where's Evelyn?" he wanted to know.

Mrs. Carstairs looked up in astonishment.

"I have no idea. I thought I saw her, some time ago, leaving the room with you, Collin," she answered.

"Damn that Gillit" was Collin's unspoken exclamation, and (ashamed) his choice of a costume! He went resolutely about the room in which his mother, together with some of her friends, were playing bridge, back into the ballroom, into the conservatory, and looked on the broad stairs which were covered with whispering couples. Finally, disconcerting his hostess, he said, she exclaimed to seeing him, "So, Collin, you're back! Where is Evelyn?"

"I'm looking for Evelyn. I haven't seen her—"

"Evelyn? But she went home some time ago, with a terrible headache. I thought she went with you. She said to tell you that she mustn't on any account come home with you, that you were to stay and be good and would be looked after by her maid," Mrs. Van Surdam said, in astonishment.

Collin thanked her and went back to his mother and told her.

"I'll go along now," he said.

"Don't," said Jennie, in the middle of the rubber, "we'll both be able to get away shortly. And you'll only upset her, if she is ill and had gone to bed. Wait until I finish this hand," she ordered.

When she had done so she rose and drew him aside. The lovely face, under the soft white hair crowned with the glittering coronet of the emeralds, was very troubled.

"You don't, indeed, straight here," she said. "Collin, did you say anything to upset her on the way?"

He nodded, meeting her distressed gaze frankly.

"Perhaps I did. I was going to tell you tonight—"

"Then," advised Jennie, "don't follow her. Let her alone for a time. We'll go home together, after supper."

In the meantime Fanchon and Tony had arrived at the penthouse. He went upstairs with her, when a son let them in and Tony strode past him into the living room. Jameson was old and drowsy from waiting up. The figure was very like Collin and the costume exactly alike. He was not to be blamed for thinking it was Collin.

Fanchon took off her ermine wrap and threw it over her arm.

"You can go to bed, Jameson," she said, "I'll let Mrs. Carstairs in."

Jameson thanked her and vanished. She went into the living room to join Tony.

"All set?" asked Tony. She nodded, without speaking. Tony, without another word, opened the door softly to the penthouse terrace and stepped out on it, alone. The door closed.

The Parson's Waiting

by N. Florence Leech

Gladys Wells sat on the porch of the rambling old farmhouse, scrupulously neat, and oblivious of the cool, beautiful morning. Why couldn't she be like other girls and know her own mind? She was 19, and knew that she was getting married; but she couldn't decide between Miller Darden and his brother, Dickie. Moreover, she had promised each of them that he should be the one to marry her.

The trouble was, she realized now, that she loved them both. Moved with tenderness she gazed across the fields to where smoke rising from the chimney of the Darden home curled into a mocking question mark. She had been the sweetheart of Miller and Dickie, her favors equally distributed, ever since she wore her hair in pigtails. But now that they were grown, each boy wanted her for himself, and so her worry began, for she could not choose between them. They were tall and well-formed, Miller with the Darden dark hair and eyes, Dickie blond and blue-eyed like his mother. Miller was serious and dependable, Dickie was irresponsible and gay. And she loved them both. Her mother had suggested that she go away to school for a year; perhaps then some strange boy would capture her heart; or at any rate she would know her own mind when she returned. But she had found no other suitor, and now she had been home three days, and the boys were impatient. What, oh what, should she tell them?

"Tell them, as Portia did her suitors," her girl friends at school advised, and she had also asked most of the night before she came back, deciding in a trial that would be suitable and fair to both. She decided finally that the one who first saw him would be the one she loved most. The test might have worked, had not two obstacles presented themselves. First, her usually well-behaved heart began fluttering and then pounding like a hammer as soon as the train approached the tiny hamlet. Second, both boys had come to meet her, and she saw them simultaneously, so how could she tell which was responsible for the hot blush which suffused her already flushed face?

"Love me, hon?" Dickie had whispered, when he kissed her.

"Oh yes, oh yes," she murmured breathlessly.

"Marry me, sweet?" Miller had murmured in her ear, kissing her. "Oh, I don't know," she had answered, and smiled radiantly.

She had begged a truce until today, and again last night she had lain awake trying desperately to think of another test. Finally an idea came to her.

"I'll ask each one to set the day of our wedding, and the one who sets the earliest date I shall marry," she thought, triumphantly. She arranged that they would all go together in church, but Miller was to take her and Dickie bring her back. So she would have opportunity to ask the all important question. She had no doubt that Dickie would wag; her love triangle was the gossip of the countryside for miles around.

Miller presently drove up in his father's car. He had on a new suit, and his hair, which was brushed until it shone, and his eyes were bright with eager hope. At sight of him her heart ached. Oh, she loved him and—Dickie—so.

"Miller," she whispered, as they sped townward, "what date would you set for our wedding?"

He let go the wheel, and all but ditched the car. "Then you will—be half shouted.

"No, no, oh no!" She drew back startled. "But if I did say yes, when—"

His lips tightened, his hurt eyes evaded hers. "June 16th," he answered briefly. "And remember you promised us your answer today."

"Tonight," she retorted, almost inaudibly.

June 16th! That was her mother's anniversary. She had often said she would like to be married in the rose garden on that day, and Miller had remembered it. Seated demurely between the boys she walked impatiently for the church service to end. At last she was away from the church and the inquisitive crowd, alone in the car with Dickie, for Miller had gone home in a neighbor's car with his parents. Dickie turned sharply to her. His hair was like gold in the sunshine, his blue eyes sparkled with eagerness.

"Tell me—now," he demanded.

"Please listen for just a minute," she begged. "Dickie, if—if I chose you, what date would you select for the wedding?"

He stopped with a jerk in the middle of the road and his arms went around her. "Sweetheart, I know all along—"

"No, no, oh no!" She pushed him from her, half sobbing.

"But you said——"

"Dickie, when oh when?" she implored.

He grinned. "June 16th," he answered promptly. "We've always been unanimous about that. And sweet, you will marry me, won't you?"

"I don't know."

He sighed, then smiled. "Don't cry," he urged, gently. "One of us boys will do that."

Gladys went directly to her room when she got home, and there she stayed, refusing dinner. Miller had said he and Dickie would come in the evening for their answer, and she could not put them off again. She must make up her mind.

Time passed, and it was mid-afternoon. She heard a car stop by the lane, and then her mother's voice expostulating, came to her ears. Tap-tap-tap. Too weary even to be surprised, she opened the door.

"Dickie says," began her mother, but he was halfway up the stairs and spoke for himself.

"Please, will you go riding with me?"

"I'm not dressed."

"I'll wait until you are."

"I—I have a headache."

"The air will do you good."

"All right." Quickly she dressed, and in a few minutes was speeding down the highroad. She sat quietly relaxed, and he seemed content to have her near, and drove rapidly his eyes on the road. Oh, and on.....

"We mustn't go too far," she said presently.

They were in Athelstan now, the county seat. Dickie slowed the car and stopped in front of a small frame house. Reaching in a pocket, he handed over a crisp, white sheet of paper.

"License," he said. "Got it last week. Here's the ring, too. I phoned Rev. Starling, and he's expecting us."

She was suddenly trembling, and clung to his arm for support.

"But—I haven't decided yet," she reminded him.

He laughed as he helped her to alight. "I decided for you," he scolded. "Hurry, sweet, the parson's waiting."

DAISY FACTORY HAS GOOD RECORD

Madoc District Cheesemen Hold Monthly Meeting

Marmora, Aug. 25 (Special)—The monthly meeting of the Madoc District Cheesemakers' Association took place on Wednesday evening at the Daisy Factory in Madoc Township. President John Finnegan being chairman.

Following adoption of minutes, Mr. Finnegan called upon Instructor W. Bailey to open the program.

Mr. Bailey, in the absence of the President of the Factory, extended a welcome to those present. He mentioned that the Madoc group was still in good condition. The makers had done well since. They pleased to say that Daisy Factory had done exceedingly well. On account of a long list of makers, he delivered other remarks until the end of the meeting.

Instructor C. Linn of Stirling said it was a good thing to have a man like Professor Shutt come into the district. He warmly congratulated those referred to difficulties encountered by the makers in hot weather. "There was a lot to be thankful for in Hastings County. The patrons should be proud of their makers.

Price Same as 30 Years Ago

In these section of the Province there was the least undergrade cheese. The price of cheese was lower than he liked to see it, but in looking over an old paper, he had found that the present price was the same as for twenty years ago. He then referred to the usage of bad cans and suggested that the tops on the vats be also washed. "The clean er we are, the easier it is to make cheese, and better product comes of it," he affirmed. Th cleaning of milking machines was also stressed by the speaker. He wished the group every success in his concluding remarks.

John McCaffry, President of Alexander Factory who also followed, heartily endorsed what Mr. Linn had congratulated the makers and he wanted to see some of the comparables during the year of the producers. He regarded the cheese factory as the backbone of the dairy industry. He hoped the industry would continue to prosper.

Professor D. Shutt, bacteriologist, of Guelph Agricultural College, related how he came to be in the district.

Mr. Barr had applied for his services in order that he might study and the causes for rancid cheese. He had undertaken this as a free lance to go where he liked, and where he liked and how he liked. He must not be subject to interference. He had been guaranteed the assistance of the Instructors and had received it. As a general rule he had found the cheesemakers decent fellows, and they had given him a wonderful reception.

Question Answered

In touching upon the "dod of checking the factories," speakers proved to be most interesting and all the end answered many questions.

Others speaking before the meeting adjourned were E. D. O'Connor, J. Bell, Jr., F. West, and W. J. Cottrell. Some good recapitulation was given by Instructor Bailey before adjournment.

Dr. Shutt and other speakers scored those who would send their milk to the creamery when found derelative at the factor as "poor sports." This they felt was only being done, however, by a very small minority.

BOYS WORK DAY AT ROTARY CLUB

Delegates Give Report of Impression of Great World's Conference

"Youth Adventures With God," was the title given to the recent World's Boy Conference at Toronto which was graphically described at Belleville Rotary Club meeting Monday by local delegates who attended, Ewart Calbar, Elton McMurray and Joseph Short, were the delegates and their reports were very interesting. Delegates in attendance were 1,300 representing forty-five nations and the keynote of the conference was international fellowship based on Christianity. In the mad rush of present day activities youth is being swept along at an alarming pace into commercialism and nationalism while religion is being neglected and Christianity disregarded. The object of the World's Boy Conference was to bring before the youth of the world the necessity of following Christian standards amid the distracting developments of present day life. As John R. Mott, noted Y.M.C.A. worker, was one of the chief originators of this conference and very prominent in the various sessions.

English, German and French were the languages of the conference, all of the delegates understanding some one of these languages, and interpreters kept all informed of what was said and done.

"That boy may all be one," carried out by representatives of all the fifty-five nations was very interesting to which all pledged to work for the worthy objective that all nations shall be one in Christ.

Belleville delegates found on arrival that they were grouped with delegates from India, Bethonia, Germany and Hawaii.

Fine addresses and group discussions featured the conference and opportunities for the cultivation of good fellowship and friendliness were not lacking. Canadian games were played and explained to the foreign delegates and vice versa. All became very friendly. The Hawaiian delegation with their music and quaint ways were easily the most prominent and popular of all the foreign groups.

Ewart Calbar and Elton McMurray, teen-age boys, were sent as delegates by the Belleville Rotary Club to the Boys' World Conference and made no doubt that a great deal of good fellowship was evidenced. Both boys are good speakers and had no difficulty explaining the various phases of the conference and how they appealed to them. Their addresses were well given and very interesting.

RED ROSE TEA "IS GOOD TEA"

2 CHOICE BLENDS—Red Label & Orange Pekoe

Extracts From Log of Good Ship "Marion G"

A second group of the Belleville Tea Caddy left Belleville harbour at 2.30 p.m. THURSDAY, August 20th, on the cruise now being as follows: Captain, Geo. H. Griffin, O.C., 1st Officer, Jack Richens. Instructor; Chief Engineer, Stan. Wilson; Chief Steward, George Trainer; Assist. Steward, Clifford Bowler; Quartermaster, Sawyer; Ship's Bugler, Stewart McElrain; Able Seamen, Bob Liddle, Harold Loughlin.

With fair weather, but none too favourable a wind, we made for Presqu'ile under sail and motor launch, which we cleared the Bay Bridge where a number of friends were gathered to see us off on the cruise. The weather was beautiful and the boys enjoyed every minute of the trip.

In due course we passed Trenton and entered the Murray Canal without any exceptional happenings being recorded in the ship's log. After proceeding past very up-to-date locks and bridges were swung to allow us to pass, we pulled in alongside the Canal Registry Office where the Captain of the good ship "Marion G" had the experience of filling out for the first time a Form 1, Department of the Railways and Canals Registry Certificate (or some) and dated Dec. 31, and signing it as "master of the vessel."

All craft which requires the bridges to be turned must stop and register at least once a season and must present this permit to all lockmasters when passing through any Canadian locks or canal systems.

5.30 p.m.—The ceremony completed and with the boat underway we heard the upper bell ring for "supper ready." The officers ate at the first sitting, for two reasons; first that officers always do that; second, the officers wanted to be in charge when we left the canal and got out into Brighton Bay.

6.00 p.m.—A good meal, both watches eating before we reached Presqu'ile and to our chief steward, George Forster, we owe "three cheers" for his faithful and capable preparation of the "eats." Perhaps I should explain that the boat has a cabin, and the cabin has a table which will seat six at a sitting, and here in the cabin we enjoyed the splendid meals which were provided by the steward and his assistant.

7.00 p.m.—We cleared the Murray Canal and set our course out the Channel around the light-house, finally "picking up" (sighting) the Brighton range light, where we turned about in line and made a half-hour we were into Presqu'ile dock.

7.00 p.m.—The first duty of a Captain on arriving in port, is to report to the owners. Since the owner was present on board, he must report to his wife. This was done by Long Distance there being no wireless aboard. Then the parents, wives and sweethearts might be put at ease as to their safety and we safely into port.

Permission to set up camp was then obtained from Mr. Grant Quick, that big-hearted, capable gentleman who so successfully runs an up-to-date hotel and summer resort at Presqu'ile. As soon as he was informed that we had on board a group of Sea Cadets he was ready to give us the island, for Grant Quick is a born sailor boy himself.

The camp was pitched in the orchard. (It shows you how Grant Quick treats the Sea Cadets). After the tent was up and all the boys' equipment transferred from the boat to the tent, they were given leave until 11 p.m. The pavilion was the great attraction of the evening and our friends lost the bets and had to provide the soft drinks for the crew. The evening was soon over, and then came the dancers and visitors around the pavilion.

Shortly after ten the bugle was sounded and "Taps" was then an hour the boys were all rounded up and away to their bed for the night.

The Captain and the 1st Officer slept on board boat, and the rest of the crew under Chief Engineer Willis occupying the new motor yacht "Elilwaki" of Toronto moored up alongside of our boat at the pier and we enjoyed companionship of her guests and crew. She is a very fine yacht with every convenience, spaced but lots of comfort. She sailed Friday morning for Toronto after ventouring out into Lake Ontario during the afternoon and evening on account of a stiff breeze blowing until sundown.

Friday, 7 a.m.—"Captain, get up the wash deck sheets to spread for breakfast table," was the first great ing we got from the Steward, which meant that until the cabin of the boat was vacated as sleeping quarters there was no chance of getting the table set up for breakfast. Sufficient to say about the breakfast, that the table was spread with linen and good silverware was provided. This, together with good eats made the meals as enjoyable as on board an ocean liner. If space would permit, I believe the Steward would appreciate a copy of his menus which was drawn up a day ahead by Steward and Captain to cover the next day's meals. Food was kept in a large refrigerator on board and there was stored plenty of cool, fresh milk at every meal, as well as a huge variety of other food.

8.30 a.m.—Breakfast over, the boys were given an hour of signalling instruction by Instructor Richens; after this the boys were allowed to swim and "lie round" generally for some time.

12.30 p.m.—Dinner was about to be served to the first watch, which ate and behold you, someone rocked the boat, the Chief lost his balance and fell over the table making "smithian stew" out of soup, tomatoes, cucumbers, cold pork, bread, raspberry preserve and thick cream. Then there was trouble in the galley which ended in all hands assembling cabin, deck and cushions, for everywhere you would look you could see boys. The table was finally reset and good spirits again prevailed. Dinner was late but all the better enjoyed for being so late.

1.30 p.m. Friday—During the afternoon a softball game was staged between the Belleville Sea Cadets and the Cobourg Boy Scouts. It was a 21-0 game, Cobourg being the 21. There were several close decisions given by "Benny Bradbury" of the Cobourg Scouts. Benny was more entertaining than the game itself and several times the game was suspended to watch "Benny" perform an "umpy." There would be no need of doctors in Benny's camp for laughs were too frequent and you know that old saying. "A laugh a day keeps the doctor away."

The only casualty that day was that the Captain strained a muscle in his leg and had to retire from the game. This was a great loss for the boys for they immediately began to pile up a score, but it was half-time and the preparation had to put up the drinks again for the very keen losing or deserting his crew regardless of the reason. This was followed by a dip in the lake which There was a lot of sport at any rate and when the boys grew up to be men they shall never forget the week between Cobourg and Belleville, played on the 21st day of August, 1931, and I am sure that the boys have all made many new friends over the game.

7.30 p.m.—Another supper over and all hands are out to watch the beautiful sunset. Presqu'ile is surely well located with the Bay on one side and Lake Ontario on the other. Sailors are always interested in the weather and the glorious sunset was an indication of fair weather for the return trip on the morrow.

While at Presqu'ile we met several Belleville people who were friend of the pilot of one of our Sea Cadets and the smart appearance when in full uniform of the Captain Jack.

The boys were allowed an extra half-hour leave in the camp last night in camp, and in due course the boys again sounded "Lights out" for the ship "Marion G" was all at daybreak.

8.00 a.m. Saturday: Weather fine; East breeze. The boys are all up. Dunnage bags packed, blankets folded and tied down, ready for loading up the boat. Breakfast was served on board after we were under way. We finally cleared the Bay at 7.30 a.m. after loading up, getting fresh water and provisions for the final swim.

The return trip through the Canal was without adventure. The beautiful morning and afternoon quite sufficient invitation for the crew to disembark and have a final bath—the short sleep of the night before.

8.00 a.m.—We cleared the canal and put out into the good old Bay of Quinte. All sail was hoisted but since the breeze was from an easterly quarter it was not a good sailing breeze for a boat which should stick close to the channel buoys.

We were plying forward under sail to the Bay bridge assisted by motor when opposite Indian Island we were met by a launch with a new experience for the boys and at once some cooked bacon was on the fire which was where a good experienced seaman should be—Instructor Richens soon had the situation in hand. The small boat was quickly along-side, the kedge anchor and a long chain loaded in, we sailed the first two officer rowed astern the full length of the chain, which was dropped after we had hands on deck pulled on the chain until the anchor boat was pulled off the shore.

The anchor was lifted and the crew of the small boat returned. We were soon under way again and sailed on to the bay without further mishap.

While opposite the Country Club a large seaplane circled about us and landed on the water. They signalled to him with Morse and Semaphore flags, but no receive no answer.

We proceeded on to our destination, passing through the Bay Bridge at 1.30 p.m.

The boys were delighted with their trip and assured those who made the trip possible that it was one of the best outings they had ever had.

Madoc

Madoc, Aug. 25 By Mail—Madoc Women's Institute entertained the members of the Tweed Women's Institute at Saganoka Cottage, the summer home of Mrs. A. H. Wilson at Crowe Lake, on Friday, on Friday afternoon, August 21st. About seventy-five ladies were present, and after the Institute Ode, minutes and roll call, a very short business session was held, with Mrs. Clark, President, and Madoc Institute in the chair. In her usual charming manner, Mrs. Whytock greeted the visitors and welcomed them to the meeting, then placed the programme in the hands of Mrs. George Ferguson of the Cooper and Remington Institute, beginning the programme with "The Maple Leaf Forever." Mrs. Ferguson announced that the modern woman has come to stay, and introduced the pioneer woman" was introduced by Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, supported by Miss Helen McCoy, while the negative was upheld by Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Bailey. Excellent papers were presented by both sides, and all were listened to with earnest attention.

Mrs. Wyatt favored the audience with a vocal solo with harp accompaniment, "There's an old-fashioned house in an old-fashioned Street", after which Miss Annie McCoy gave a delightful reading "Sentenced at seventy-two." With harp and mouth organ, Mrs. Wyatt then gave a very enjoyable medley of old tunes.

A singing contest was then put on with Mrs. Reynolds, Harrison and Harrison as judges, the company being divided into eight groups, and each choosing their own old-time selection. "School Days" "Memories" and "Pack up your Troubles" were among the selections chosen, and the group 2 were easily winners, singing "Memories".

A hearty vote of thanks to the visitors for the excellent program was moved by Mrs. Tumelty, seconded by Mrs. Ashley, and presented by Mrs. Whytock to the visitors. Mrs. Ferguson replied on behalf of the visitors.

After the National Anthem the social hour was enjoyed by all. The children of the party were entertained for the afternoon at a picnic tea by the children of the campers, and spent a very pleasant afternoon at games and tea.

Mrs. W. Ross, Miss Hazel and Laura Ross, Miss Margaret Mickle and Dr. O. Fraser spent Sunday at Crowe Lake.

Political Coalitions

London, Aug. 29—It is nothing new for Great Britain to be ruled by a National Government such as that which is to replace the Labor Cabinet.

There was one such during the Great War and there were others long before that.

In the war days Party Government gave way to coalition, first under Lord Asquith as Premier and then with Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George as the head. A third coalition with Mr. Lloyd George as Prime Minister was formed after a general election in 1918. This Government lasted until 1922 when the Conservatives withdrew and Mr. Lloyd George resigned. At a subsequent general election the Conservatives were returned to power and Rt. Hon. Bonar Law became Prime Minister.

Back in 1757 the elder Pitt combined with the Whig aristocracy.

Pitt, who later became the Earl of Chatham, was leader of a formidable band of discontented Whigs known as the Patriots," who were in strong opposition to the aristocrats. While still a member of the House of Commons in 1757 Pitt formed a coalition with the aristocratic Whigs under the leadership of the Duke of Newcastle, the coalition lasting until 1761.

In 1783 a great coalition was formed when Fox, the Reformist leader, joined forces with Lord North of the Conservatives.

There was a short coalition when Lord Derby's ministry resigned in 1852, formed under the Whigs by Lord John Russell and the moderate Conservatives under Lord Aberdeen. An arrangement between the Conservatives and the Liberal-Unionists in 1886 was scarcely to be called a coalition, for the responsibility of Government rested on the former while the latter gave them general support.

MacDonald, Man of Hour, Acclaimed in Great Britain

Labor Wing Threatens to Expel Him From Party

LABOR SPLIT

(By Dewitt MacKenzie)

London, Aug. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald may be compelled to resign office, unless some political observers believe, in order to back on the extreme party demands of many of his followers that the Government be given the Economy Commission to bring the country out of its economic emergency.

Certainly the Labor party has been split. One section follows Mr. MacDonald under the slogan "equal sacrifice for all"; another powerful faction—the trades union element—is violently opposed to this programme and refuses to consider any further sacrifices by the working class.

But Prime Minister MacDonald is acclaimed the man of the hour. To offset any disposition of assuming his position in the Labor party, Mr. MacDonald has the satisfaction in knowing that many people, even including some who have been his political enemies, are giving him credit for having made a great patriotic and personal sacrifice.

As long as the new National government he may achieve a name that will buk large in history. But until this position be when the emergency has been overcome and the Ne-Nationalists have disappeared. There is already a threat from one section of the Labor party that supporters from the Labor party. But Mr. MacDonald is not worrying about that.

Third in the third time he has staked his career for a principle. The first was many years ago, when a young man he cast his lot in with the then despised cause of Labor. Then came the Great War and his pacifist views imperiled him. Now he is strong stand against the country's partie pation in the conflict, he lost the leadership of his party in the commons and in his seat in the House. He was even expelled from the golf club in his native Lossiemouth.

London Exchange Prices Improved

London, Aug. 25 (AP).—The Stock Exchange maintained yesterday's improvement on the basis of a better political outlook today and further moderate gains were recorded in a number of British securities on the strength of buying said to have come from provincial quarters.

Argentine Rails were firm features of the foreign section and Transatlantic favorites showed a tendency to harden. Small operations in the foreign exchange mar ket sustained the exchange rates nearly in favor of London.

LABOR MOTION TO EXPEL MACDONALD

General Synod Will Explore Possibility Union in Churches

Anglicans Will Also Deal With Fixed Easter Date

PUBLICITY VIEW

Memorial to Work of Archbishop Matheson Proposed

Toronto, Aug. 26—The convening circular of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, holding the twelfth session in the Maurice Cody Hall, St. Paul's Anglican Church, and opening on Monday evening, Sept. 14, forecasts vastly important sessions. The Synod sermon will be preached at the opening service by Rev. Canon R. Stacy Waddy, D.D., General Secretary of the Board for the Propagation of the Gospel, London, Eng.

An important notice of motion which will be presented before Synod will mean that "the President of the General Synod shall be the Primate of all Canada, who shall be elected and hold office under, and have such privileges, powers, authority and duties as may be defined by the constitution, canons and rules enacted by the Synod."

A resolution presented by the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto will recommend that steps be taken to provide the Church with a revised Hymn Book.

Church Union Resolution.

The Synod of the Diocese of Toronto will also bring forward a resolution on the Church Union, requesting, 1, "that conferences be forthwith arranged to explore the possibilities of Church Union in Canada along the general lines of the proposed scheme in South India; 2, that conferences for the same purpose be arranged where possible with Episcopal Churches established in Canada."

The report of the Executive Council will bring forward a memorial from the Toronto Diocesan Council for Social Service, requesting the council "to consider the question of the immediate relief of the present State of a fixed date for Easter, preferably the first April 8 and 15. Also a petition from J. W. Hamilton St. Paul, Minn., founder and Secretary of the International Magna Carta Day Association asking the Church of England in Canada to set aside June 15 as "Magna Carta Day," and the third Sunday in June as "Magna Carta Sunday." Another report of interest will give consideration to the proposed Archbishop Matheson Memorial in view of the impending retirement of Archbishop Matheson as Primate of Canada.

The question of giving due publicity to the work of the Church will be discussed and the creation of a Department of Publicity will be recommended to Synod. The committee recommends: "That until such time as funds sufficient for the purpose are available, this department be established by the Department of Social Service and be under the supervision of the Secretary of the latter department: "(2) "that the sum of $2,000 be added to the total of the diocesan apportionments of the next triennium for the purpose of such a department; and that the Executive Council of the General Synod be empowered through the Publicity Committee, when appointed, to deal with the details of the work of such a department."

'Drink City Water Advises Dr. G.S. Cronk City M.O.H.

Wells and Springs May Easily Become Polluted

SEASON'S DANGER

Dr. G. S. Cronk, Medical Officer of Health for Belleville, issued the following statement to the public today in regard to the sources of drinking water:

The citizens of Belleville are reminded that the drinking of water from open wells especially at this time of year, is dangerous. Water may be of good clear appearance and yet be highly dangerous, because of pollution of typhoid and parathyroid germs.

It is practically impossible to test the wells and be sure that they are free from contamination, as well may be polluted in a few hours' time.

The city water is safe and of good drinking quality. It is tested frequently to insure against any possible contamination.

"Do not drink from open wells or springs—drink city water!"

SEEK STATEMENT ON AIRD'S BONUS

Hamilton, Aug. 26—A resolution calling upon the Ontario Hydro Commission to furnish a "clear public statement" in reference to the payment of $5,000 to John Aird, Jr., was passed by the Hamilton Hydro Commission Tuesday afternoon on motion of Mayor Peebles and Wm. Burton. The local commission decided to send copies of the resolution to all Ontario commissions requesting that they take similar action.

Hydro Commissioner Ellis was not in favor and regarded the move as unnecessary. He said he was sure that he had been informed that the service which Aird had rendered the Ontario Commission was well worth the $50,000 he received.

"The affair doesn't sound reasonable," commented Mayor Peebles after Mr. Ellis had completed his story. He declared that there should be public explanation.

Chief Engineer Sifton did not endorse the stand of the mayor and Commissioner Burton, and feared that other centres might think that Hamilton was leading in a revolt.

MYSTERY OVER PLANE LIGHTS

Flood Lamps Used in Landing on Pitch Dark Field

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 26 (By The Canadian Press)—Equipped with small flood lights under each end of the wing of his amphibian Leigh Capreol, test pilot for the De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, experimented with landings on a pitch dark flying field late last night. His manoeuvres led to the belief that an aeroplane was in distress on the outskirts of the city, and a motor machine flashing on and off, height ened the impression. The experiment was carried out for the Royal Air Force at Camp Borden. It was the first time lights had been employed for landing purposes on a pitch dark field, and the experiment was very successful, he said in conclusion. It will give consideration to the proposed Archbishop Matheson Memorial in view of the impending retirement of Archbishop Matheson as Primate of Canada.

MYSTERY CLEARED BY RESCUE

Detroit, Aug. 24.—The mystery of a derelict speed boat found drifting in Lake Erie and towed to Detroit by a freighter was cleared up short ly after the arrival when word was received from Buffalo that the crew had been picked up by another freighter. Miss Clara Jones, 30 years old; her brother, Wm. J. Jones, 34 years old; and Frank Hall, all of Buffalo. The party set out Sunday afternoon in the boat for a picnic and expected to visit friends 30 miles away on the shore of the lake. They started back Sunday night by a different course. In mid-lake their gasoline supply was exhausted. They drifted until 9:30 p.m. Monday, a.m. Monday, when they sighted the freighter and hailed it. The crew of Chicago which took them aboard.

Hair brushes should be washed in cold water to which a little ammonia has been added.

RELIC VILLAGE IS WIPED OUT

Thirty Houses and Unused Church Are Destroyed

Sudbury, Aug. 26.—Cutler, deserted relic of the hey-day of lumbering in Northern Ontario, was the scene Tuesday of one of the fiercest fires that ever swept this district.

Starting about 3 o'clock prematurely as a result of a match or cigaret carelessly thrown in the long dry grass in a vacant lot beside the Roman Catholic Church, the blaze bore down on an abandoned row of frame houses, destroying about thirty of these, according to an estimate by W. C. Bell, President of the Spanish River Lumber Company. In addition, the church and the Canadian Pacific Railway abandoned some years ago, was destroyed.

All that remains of the 1911gg1 of Cutler is the west end, consisting of a few stores, a billiard parlor and a gasoline filling station. The inhabitants, about twenty-nine in all, gave an anxious afternoon trying to stem the flames, which at times threatened the entire village with extinction.

WARDS ARE PLANNED TO END DIFFERENCES

Agincourt, Aug. 26.—With the possibility of having the northern section of Scarboro' formed into a separate municipality completely blocked by an act which forbids the division of the township or annexation of any part of it to another municipality until 1935, and only then on a vote of the whole township, the committee recently appointed to consider the question will now likely recommend that the division of the township into wards be considered as a possible solution of the differences which have arisen between the northern or rural section, and the southern, or urban section.

In 1922 the municipal election was in part fought on this issue, which, however, showed the proposal at the time to be in favor. The Council in office in 1922 was elected entirely from the extreme southern portion of the township, and the rural section was totally unrepresented. In 1931, Reeve G. B. Little is the only representative living outside the water area in the southwest.

The most popular name for men in Canada is John.

OPENING OF R.R. EXTENSION IS HELD BACK

Temiskaming Line Will Not Be Opened Till Spring

LEE ANNOUNCES

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 26 (CP) — Because accommodation at Moose Factory is insufficient for the hundreds of people who have signified a desire to visit James Bay on completion of the extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Railway, the formal opening of the new line has been postponed until next spring, George W. Lee, chairman of the Railway, announced.

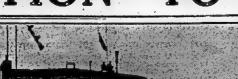
The railway could not hope to meet the demands of prospective tourists at Moose factory, the new terminus, until accommodation was increased, said Mr. Lee. Laying of steel to the projected terminus will be completed this year, he also said.

The Campfire Club of Cleveland, a sportsmen's organization will participate in the postponed opening, it is learned.

CONTINUOUS HOT WAVE HEATS WATER

Consumers of city water since the filter was put into operation have made or heard nothing about the warmth of the water. It has been reported that this is due to the summer heat and from Toronto where the same explanation. The following explanation for Toronto's purified water would explain the Belleville situation:

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The temperature of Toronto's drinking water has been higher for the first three weeks in August than for several years, and at 57 degrees at the tap is 8 degrees higher than for the same period last year, according to City Works Department records. For the same period last year the average temperature was 49.3 degrees. In 1928 the record was 53.4 and in 1929 it was 52.2. In 1930 it was three weeks in August.



The heat is made by the Works Department by running the water in the City Hall tap for ten minutes. This water comes from in lakes 100 feet and 56 feet below the surface, one intake being considerably shorter than the o'ber.

One Law for Poor, Rich Plea of Native Sons

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Suggestions which yesterday afternoon and last night were made before the Resolutions Committee of the National Convention of the Native Sons of Canada, now meeting at the Royal York, that forty cents a day today be framed and likely passed, will, if adopted, include a plea to the Federal Minister of Justice and the Attorneys-General of the Provinces that just and as state pun ishment be meted out to exploiters and those found guilty of corrupt practices in the financial field, and that no preferential treatment be accorded them.

There will also probably be presented a resolution attacking bank ers and financial institutions, on the ground that they are economically unsound, and asking that they be prohibited legally from issuing anything but Canadian people for ventures in specified lines of industry. It is likely that this resolution will go further, and ask that foreign born immigrants be forbidden to send money earned in Canada to their native lands.

The suggested resolution received by the Resolutions Committee of the Native Sons of Canada asked that those who are "found guilty of extorting money from widows and children should be treated like other criminals," and that they should be punished according to the terms of the law without any "red tape" being utilized for their benefit.

FIVE DROWNED NEAR CALGARY

One Boy Rescued as Motor Launch is Overwhelmed

Calgary, Alta., Aug. 26 (CP). Five lives were lost in boating and swimming tragedies at Lake Minnewanka in Banff National Park, near Cochrane, 21 miles west of Calgary yesterday.

Franklin, 18, and Norman, 15, sons of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Hawkins, Calgary, and Allan Rankletlor, 12, of Banff, were drowned in Lake Minnewanka as their boat upset during a squall. Edward Rosenvron, 18, of Calgary, was able to swim ashore.

The weight of the motor and water being blown into the boat overwhelmed it, it is said, after the motor launch Minnewanka was passing its last afternoon trip on the lake with tourists, Rosenvren was seen on the shore waving his hands. The launch picked him up and returned back to the pier. Search for the bodies so far has failed.

Mrs Jeffrey Bateman, 56, and her son, Harry Bateman, 25 were drowned while swimming in a widen lake near Bragg Creek, west from Cochrane. Mrs. Bateman slipped from a log into deep water and her sister swam to her rescue. Both were dragged down by the current. The bodies were recovered

SLAYING TO OBTAIN PELTS

Five Indians Accused of Brutal Crime in North

Fort Frances, Ont. Aug. 26.—Provincial Police believe they are about to clear up another murder mystery in the district. Four Indians are lodged in the Fort Frances jail and will be arraigned today for preliminary hearing in police court.

The crime of which they are accused is the murder of Duncan Cox way, a lone trapper of Turtle Lake about 180 miles north of the Canadian National Railways, whose body was found last spring concealed in a wood pile near his cabin. The alleged motive for the crime was the theft of furs which Cox way had in his cabin. Those accused are: Joe Cup, John Spence and Alfred Cuddy, all Indians. The latter two are father and son.

The police say that apparently there was a disagreement over the division of the alleged spoils and that this led to some extent to disclosures which preceded the arrests.

Alfred Cuddy, Deputy Commissioner of Game, Ontario Provincial Police, stated last night that investigations into the murder, who had been recently in the North country in connection with Red activities, reported on his return that the Northern District officers are in possession of information of developments in the Duncan Cox way murder which are highly suspected. The Deputy Commissioner stated that robbery was the alleged motive for the murder, which was a particularly cruel one.

(By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 26 (CP).—How Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Sir Hon. Philip Snowden, Right Hon. J. H. Thomas will stand with their constituents is a most arousing, wide interest. The three are the only members of the old Labor cabinet, with seats in the House of Commons, who remain with the new National government. The fourth is Lord Sankey, who is in the House of Lords.

L. H. GORHAM STILL MISSING

No Trace of Young Man Has Been Found by Police

Mystery still enshrouds the disappearance of Lionel Hirsch Gorham from his boarding house, 22 Earl St., early Monday morning. The city police have been making investigations but as yet, no trace can be found of the missing man. It is now thought that Lionel Hirsch Gorham has been for some little time talking about pains in his head and also of a visit to Toronto to consult a specialist.

The Gorham family lived in Belleville about ten years ago, the family moving to Toronto from Harris Bakery. The police have notified the Toronto police that a Fort Hope and the father will arrive in Toronto today. Incorrect description as to the clothing worn by Gorham was given to the police in the first report, and the police wish to have been wearing his working clothes however he is now dressed with short sleeves, no coat or hat, but with grey pants and shoes, the while gold ring on which is engraved the letters S.O.S.

Premier's Message to Labor

The text of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's personal message to Labor members of Parliament, explaining his position, is in part as follows:

"I regret that after a life-time of work in the labor movement some of my colleagues and myself have had to come to a decision in the interests of the country which may for the time being embarrass the party.

"For weeks past I have watched the situation, one of increasing difficulty. It has been a time of great strain and anxiety. As we all know questions of international finance are very complex and I have consulted every shade of opinion and have given the situation most careful thought of which I am capable.

"If our financial stability is endangered and a run is made on our financial resources the consequences would be terrible to be envisaged. This makes temporary retrenchment inevitable and imposes some amount of common sacrifice.

"A slowing down of programs which make large drafts upon the national resources, borrowing at a time when the money market is so much against us can no more be averted than a similar course of action can be avoided by any individual to whom his credit is suddenly diminished.

"The crisis was approaching with rapid strides. Latterly it had become a question of hours and shelter had to be found immediately. We hope that what was done Monday may prevent the crisis and that Parliament will pass the necessary legislation.

"I wish to assure you that this is no banker's 'ramp' and no hostility to the Labor Government as such can be proved. Nobody can reach a final decision without knowing the full facts and all the information it is possible for him to obtain. When Parliament meets the position will have to be explained.

"During the last week events moved so rapidly that widespread consultation was impossible and I hope you will suspend judgment until the situation has been made clear to you and the facts put in your possession.

"All this has caused us great pain. When it is over the party will be left untrammeled as to its policy and programmes and we beg that during these trying days both sides will express their views so that the very hard issues involved may be dispassionately considered."

York, Eng., Aug. 26 (Canadian Press Cable)—Carrying top weight of 131 pounds Sir Hirsch Harris' three-year-old Brown Jack won the Ebor Handicap here this afternoon.

Brown Jack finished two lengths in front of Sir Hirsch Harris' mount who carried 114 pounds. J. M. Gorham's Argosaut II, carrying 125 pounds, was third, another half a length back.

Nineteen horses travelled the distance of a mile and three quarters in the important handicap.

The winner, who is by Jackdaw out of Quarrydale, started as 10 to one against; Coaster at 100 to nine and Argosaut II at four to one.

Especial interest attached to the running at the majority of horses are entered in the Doncaster St. Leger which to be run later at Newmarket. The winner however is not a Cesarewitch candidate.

John S. Young of NBC. Given Police Protection

Threatened by Cranks or Gangsters on Tuesday

THE THREAT

Announcer at Anti-Gangsters Meeting in New York City

New York, N.Y., Aug. 26—Telephone threats against his life have led John S. Young, NBC announcer, on his guard.

Not only is he carrying a gun under an official permit in defiance of any possible activity against him, but two policemen were assigned today to give him a bodyguard.

The threats, believed to have been made either by gangsters or cranks followed Young's appearance as announcer at a meeting in the New York City anti-gangster rally on Monday night by WJZ of the National Broadcasting Company.

Shortly after noon yesterday he was called to the phone.

"You're a wise guy," said a voice sounding like that of a negro.

"Your life might be worth only two cents to you if you don't watch your step. We'll teach you wise guys to keep out of these gangster affairs," the speaker continued.

Gay Scenes in Playgrounds
Wild Scramble in Treasure Hunt

Children in great numbers thronged the East Belleville Play ground yesterday to take part in the closing exercises for this season. The scene presented by these active, happy, care-free girls and boys was indeed pleasant to view. All summer long they have responded and played, under the kind and capable supervision of Miss Florence Boyce; now they must soon return to school and there will be no more long afternoons to pass away in play and the season has closed has been the most successful in the history of the Play Ground Association.

Yesterday there were fully two hundred and fifty children present; in fact, the daily attendance throughout the season has been about this number. Many parents were present and they gave evidence of their interest in the work of the Play Ground Association.

The fun commenced with a treasure hunt; small envelopes of money had been hidden about the grounds and the wild scramble of the hunters was very amusing. Audrey Chapman was the first to win this competition and "Billy" Brown carried off second honors. Then came the masquerade—the main event of the afternoon. Many novel and pretty costumes were displayed in this competition as well as clever and original stunts. The prize was won the honors in this event and the characters they represented are as follows:

Fairy Prize, Boys—Marson Hitchon, as a tramp.

Fairy Prize, Boys—Douglas Woodcock, as "Aunt Jemima."

1st Prize, Girls—Margery Jenkins, as "a very old maid."

2nd Prize, Girls—Lois Gorman, as Indian Princess.

Special Prize, Girls—Betty Anderson, as a Gipsy.

Consolation Prizes—Ernest Young, Jean Bird, Mary Alexander.

The awarding of prizes for the best kept garden on the play grounds during the season came as a surprise to this part of the summer work were:

Best Sewing Girls—Ethel Parks

Best Raffia Worker—Lois Gorman

Belt Reed Basket—Artimese Cruft

Best Child That Never Absented—

Best Second—Doris Smith.

A pennies scramble brought a lot of fun for the children; they also enjoyed singing many of their favorite songs. During the afternoon little Dorcas Bird gave a clever and enjoyable exhibition of dancing.

The judges in all competitions were Mrs. Hay, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. J. A. McFee, Miss Hay and Harold Sanders.

Everyone enjoyed themselves—parents as well as the children—as was acknowledged to be, as some of the little boys expressed it, "the best ever."

Letters to the Editor

HAS THE CHURCH OR CHRISTIANITY FAILED?

Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,

Having a free Sunday, I enjoyed the privilege of attending an Anglican Service on Sunday morning last. The preacher, a esteemed friend of mine, has had a long and varied experience and he gave an interesting discourse. I am, however a little dubious about his conclusions, viz.—that Christianity, judging from the present condition of the world seems almost a failure. Allowing, as the speaker said, that probably one-third of the world's population is nominally Christian and that in every city, town and village and hamlet there are those not actually Christian, yet I am optimistic enough to believe that the faith of Jesus Christ will eventually prevail. I don't know what the impression was on other worshippers but I felt momentarily a feeling of pessimism in regard to the Church and its missionary activities, but why, sir, should this be? The speaker said truly, there is unrest and trouble in Russia, Mexico, Spain and Italy, yet may it not be, in some cases merely the "birth-pangs" of the nations in seeking a fuller, freer and truer democracy. Confessedly, I am rather pessimistic regarding Russia, why they are so prejudiced against the teaching of Christ and His Church, I really do not know. I claim that the religion of Jesus Christ, properly taught and expounded and lived, produces good citizens, a credit to any state—whether it is a Republic or a Monarchy—and I, for one, submit, that the Christian Churches in these and other Countries are not truly representing Christ and His Gospel? In other words are they like the Pharisees, who place far above Christ the traditions of men?" A Hindu Professor, Sunder Singh tells us, once came to him and said, "I'll tell you why your religion does not make greater headway in India. It is because you Christians are not like your Master." Can it be the same with us today? Is it because we do not in any way resemble our Master, that our Holy Religion does not make greater progress? It may seem a terrible indictment, but it is true. Is it again because Christ sets too high a standard of living (see Luke 9:23) So to end I must feel they cannot attain to it and thus get discouraged and give up trying? On the contrary, what kind of a world would we have if the standard of morality were reversed. I'm afraid Canada would then become as bad as parts of India, where women do not, and dare not go out for fear of molestation. Every only real solution and panacea for all our world problems lies in the true and proper application of "the principles of the doctrine of Christ." I believe in the religion of Jesus Christ, we have a complete and certain cure for all the ills of our national and industrial life. Why, then, do we not apply it? We often ask, "Crowns and Thrones May Perish, Kingdoms Rise and Wane, but the Church of Jesus, Constant Will Remain." I believe that to be perfectly true. I believe that the text that Isaiah looks forward to the day when the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of God, as the waters cover the sea and that he speaks of the ransomed of the Lord returning and coming to Zion, and everlasting joy shall be upon their heads. But he refers primarily to a returning exile from Babylon, he believed that Judah would be a praise nation in Jerusalem a praise on the earth. This idealistic picture of the Prophet has never really been fulfilled. He referred to the Church, and the Church is the only hope of the world. Well, sir, I have confessed the world. "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." Let us be prayer, Gamaliel, speaking of this new teaching, wise, for, supposing it being tried before their judges (or governing Christ and His Church) failed, Risen and Ascended) said, and these words are the words of the Son of men, it will come to naught, but if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it. Let us pray for the Church of the Christ to be Divinely inspired by God, and for the Holy Ghost that it cannot be overthrown. The Apostle Paul tells us that Christ failed to stamp out the Christian religion by beastly persecution, but it only succeed. Persecution and torture from other sources down through the ages has not succeeded. Christ says, "The gates of Hell, i.e., all the powers of evil, shall not prevail against it," and why? because it is of God. Verily, there must be some reason for writing) most of the Greek epistles concerning the false teachings of Christ." Now is not the Book of revelation written expressly to show the failure of persecuted Christians of Asia, to take heart, and to show the overthrow of the beast, the dragon, Babylon the Mother of Harlots, and Imperial Rome, "drunk with the blood of Saints" should not triumph, but should be overthrown. Rome, the Ancient World power, this Babylon the Great is not Christ's Church, to taught. We believe in a Risen Christ, His Resurrection proves sin, death and the grave; we believe that the kingdom of this world will become the Kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ and He shall reign for ever and ever. Christianity has not failed, though like the allied armies, it has suffered during its history many reverses. "The blood of the martyrs is the seed of Christ." In spite of the present condition of the world, I believe the Kingdom of our Lord will grow and prosper, only it is most essential that the Church and every member of it, be "Divinely inspired in the job," and be far more enthusiastic for Christ and His Gospel than about it. There can be no failure with Christ, His Church and Gospel will survive these crisis and revivals, and it is our responsibility and she will go on "conquering and to conquer."

Fish Still Bite In Quinte Waters

"How's the fishing in the bay? Don't hear much about it everyone seems to talk of good fishing in other parts, but not here," remarked a man on the street Wednesday morning. The person he addressed knew something about the situation and informed his questioner that fishing in the old bay of Quinte was not by any means a thing of the past. Last summer, he said, the sport has been pretty steady and that at this season of the year good catches of splendid bass are being made down the bay a little beyond Massassaga and Deseronto. Make up the bay some good fishing has been reported. "The majority of fishermen, however," he concluded, "seem to go down the bay."

Here is how the fish were biting thirty years ago today as told in news items of that time:

"The black bass fishing this season is good in our bay and transport boats, steamers and yachts are constantly passing and repassing. Many of the catches are attracted along the Bay of Quinte. We know of one party of fishermen who a week ago landed sixty-three bass in one afternoon, and on Saturday last of another party who brought ten bass over the vicinity of Massassaga during an hour's fishing. Many of the bass are said to be of large size and weight. "The fish are certainly biting well. Another party reports having had a good catch of bass and pike in Big Bay yesterday afternoon, some of the fish weighing nearly four pounds.

Another item of fishing news refers to a party of Belleville men who still reside in Belleville. The item is headed "A Large Bass" and reads: "Last evening Mr. J. B. Ferguson, Mr. Fred Pedersi and Mr. Fred Weese, all of Belleville, landed a large bass and which weighed three pounds, eleven ounces.

The evidence here submitted would appear to doubt that the fish were very friendly in the days of yore.

Fifty Golden Years of Marriage Marked

Fifty years of married life was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson of this city on Tuesday. To commemorate their golden anniversary, a dinner was given at their home at the corner of North Front and College Streets at noon. All of their relations and old friends were invited to the celebration and a gathering never to be forgotten sat down to the anniversary dinner. The dining-room was gaily decorated for the occasion and the tables were set in banquet style.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were married at Deseronto by the Rev. Mr. Young, and as Mr. Wilson stated, the day was one of the warmest days of that year. Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Wilson was Miss Eliza Ann Alfred. She was born in Tyendinaga, 77 years ago. Mr. Wilson is 72 years of age and is as hale and hearty as he was a few years ago when he retired from the active life of a farmer and came to Belleville to reside. Mr. Wilson was born in Glasgow, Scotland and came to this country as a mere lad. He speaks very highly of the land of his adoption and the fact that Mrs. Wilson state that they have had many changes in and about the Quinte area.

Mr. Wilson followed the call of the land and was engaged in agriculture until recently. He has three sons, John of San Francisco, Cal., and Maynard and Newton of Belleville. The two latter named are following the calling of their father and are farmers.

The anniversary dinner will always remain in the minds of the younger folks who had the privilege of being present. About fifty friend and relations sat down to the banquet table and thoroughly enjoyed the time spend. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were recipients of many beautiful gifts and flowers. An old friend of the family, Mr. Jas. Coulter, proposed the toast to the happy couple and both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson responded in a very capable manner. Rev. Mr. Smith was also there and what might be called the speaker of the day when he spoke for some time on the great accomplishment that both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson had attained in reaching their golden anniversary. Two old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson came from as far a few weeks in the persons of Mrs. Wm. Goodfellow and Mrs. Crewford. Both spoke in high terms of their old and distinguished friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

Among the many beautiful presents that Mr. and Mrs. Wilson received was a purse of gold from their family. The following is the address read from those present who helped them make the anniversary such a success:

Belleville, Ont., Aug. 25, 1931.

Dear Father and Mother,—

Your children, grandchildren, brothers, nephews, nieces, old neighbors and friends have gathered here to do honor to you on this auspicious occasion, Golden Wedding. It is fer who are spared to see this grand occasion which comes but once in a life time, and we thank our Heavenly Father for the blessing he has bestowed on you and all gathered here.

You are among some of the old pioneers come with the ozen and have shared the tractor in the vast land you have helped to build.

Fifty years ago you left Deseronio when you joined hands with Mother to love and cherish and also to honor and obey you did not then think of this grand day for that day was so full.

Your life has been a success as regards home and children. He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much, who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of little children, who has filled his niche and accomplished his task whether by an implored poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul, who has never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty, or failed to express it. Who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration and whose memory a benediction.

We ask you on behalf of us to accept this little gift of our love and sympathy.

That's just what it will be, paradoxically enough, pop and ma said. A bewtiful long weeks of not getting up in the morning till I feel good and reddy and then just puttering about like a retired millionaire with not a care in life and all the time in the werld, he sed.

But how about getting the beds made? ma sed, and pop sed, Do you mean you think I awt to make the beds? and ma sed, Certeny not, coz then what would they look like, but I meen Nora wont be able to get her werk done if you stay in bed asleep and wake the way you mention, and she'll get on the war path again, and do you meen you intend to practically be around the house practically the whole time?

Yes, I knew it would be a thril for you, pop sed, and ma sed, Yes, indeed.

Proberly meening it was more like a shock than a thrill.

Seven Posts Cracked Off When Tire "Blows Out"

F. Ewaxyk, of Sandwich, Ont., has been summoned to the Ontario Provincial Police to appear in court on September Second-ap answer to a charge of "driving in a manner dangerous to the public". This charge is the result of an investigation made by Provincial Traffic Officer Ryley. The police state that Ewaxyk, who is a young man about twenty-four years old, was driving about three o'clock Tuesday morning on highway No. two, about two miles west of Essex, when the front left tire of the car he was driving blew out. Ewaxyk claims that his left back tire "blew" and as a consequence the car was pulled to the left side of the road colliding with the anchor post in a guard rail. The car kept on going skidded about one hundred feet, striking, cracking and demolishing seven posts and did not stop before it had gone a further sixty-two feet. The driver escaped unscathed, it is said, but the car was considerably damaged.

BELLEVILLE FAIR

Next week Belleville and the district will hold the annual fall exhibition. Unless all signs fail, this year is to be banner year in the history of the society. All indications such as entry lists and interest are signposts pointing to greater participation than ever in the yearly exhibition drawing.

Directors have been very busy. Their prizelist is one of the great drawing cards. They have incorporated new features in the exhibition which have proven successful in other places and will prove successful here. Everything which has proven of use and benefit in past events of the kind has been preserved. The result ought to be the most satisfactory of programs and prizelists.

If prizelists fail to attract, then there is something radically wrong with a fair. But when they do not fail to draw entries and arouse interest, then is the big fair in the making. That is the situation here.

It would appear that the advent of these restless and struggling times is what turns attention to the events more close at home. Last autumn it was noticed that a number of the smaller fall fairs were much more prosperous in the depressing times, that the people were paying more attention to them even while some were predicting that the fall fair had come to the end of the tether and was about to give up forever. That wail of imminent death of the fall fair is not as much in evidence this season and the next few weeks will indicate that it was quite wrong. The small rural fair is not going to disappear from human experience because there has been for decades a trend to the great cities. In its own way the smaller fair is as true an index of the life of the community as any provincial fair can be. It would be evil day for the country if the farmers and the dwellers in the smaller cities and towns did not pay enough attention to the annual showing of the products of the field to exhibit and attend the smaller fair.

Belleville fair has its reputation upon which to draw and upon which to stand. But that reputation must be maintained. And all signs point to continued growth. Now this fair is no handicap to the rural fairs hereabouts it is in reality one of their best supporters. The more drawing large crowds does not detract from the smaller fair which is certain to attract its crowd. It should stimulate interest in fairs generally. It possesses an individuality which every small fair possesses. Only the movement of the other, though Belleville's crowds may be larger.

The fair in reality is the cheapest and best paying institution in the community. It is an asset which costs little labor as compared with the benefits which it promotes and advances. Who would let his pay go for the price of an admission of 25 cents or more? It is cheap at the price.

It has always been held from the ancient days. Fairs in the middle ages were interesting events, and they have come down unimpaired to the present day. That is the reason for the hope which is in the directors of rural and city fairs.

TELEVISION AND SUPER-TELESCOPE

Improvements in Television may give science the super-telescope of the future, exceeding in penetrating power anything yet attempted by astronomers.

Orestes H. Caldwell, editor of Radio Retailing, made this statement in a talk on "Radio, Electricity, and Astronomy," before the American Association of Variable Star Observers, at the Museum of Natural History, New York.

We quote the following from a press bulletin:

"Instead of expending the twelve million dollars estimated as necessary to complete and mount the projected great 200-inch telescope, it might pay to devote part of this sum to research along radical new lines of electrical amplification.

"No basic improvements have been place in telescopes since Galileo. Expressed in radio terms, our present great telescopes are merely huge metal receiving sets which collect and gather up impulses of very short (optical) wave-lengths, as crystal sets do very long antenna gathers up broadcasting impulses.

"But modern radio receivers do not gather their impulses. Instead they utilize amplifying systems, which pick up faint ether impulses and amplify them through series of radio tubes.

"When this principle of amplification can be applied to faint short-wave ether impulses (light-rays), it should be possible to avoid the huge, cumbersome 'siege-gun' mounting of the modern big glass, weighing many tons, and costing millions to build and house. Replacing this, only a small 'receptor of television eye' need then be provided, the impulses from which could be fed through multi-stage amplifiers to secure the desired magnification.

"The numerical possibilities of such a 'television super-telescope' are indicated by recalling that whereas our biggest present telescopes do not magnify much over 2,500 diameters, yet an ordinary home radio set magnifies its antenna impulses 500 million to one billion times.

TIME FOR DREAMING
By Aline Michaels

In my toil I never Let myself forget
That bright season waiting,
That time dearest yet;
Happy hour of dreaming
Visions golden-seeming.
When I snare bright, gleaming
Dreams in thought's sure net.

Work makes no life joyous
If no dreams it own,
Toil brings no heart blessings
After dreams have flown;
So to dreams I'm clinging,
Dreams that keep me singing,
Dreams forever bringing
Only bliss alone.

A PRAYER FOR THIS SUMMER-TIME

O, Thou, who art the creator and preserver of life, we thank Thee for the pleasure and the joy of this summer-time. Thou dost speak to us in many ways; we praise Thee and we bless Thee that Thou dost speak to us through the glories of this glad season of the year. We thank Thee for the beauties of earth and sea and sky, for mountain and moor, for river and lake, for meadow and garden, for forest and field. These all declare the glory of the Lord. As we gaze upon them, may our hearts be filled with worship, with gratification and with joy.

We thank Thee that many are privileged at this time to enjoy release from business and toil. May they be grateful to Thee, and may they not be unmoved as they behold Thy majesty and matchless glory in the world which Thou hast made. With minds free from the vexations and cares of life, may they find tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything. Recreate them in body and in spirit, and refresh them with a clearer vision of Thy goodness and Thy grace.

We remember those who are unable to enjoy rest and refreshment because of the hardness of the times and of the conditions which bound them. Look with favor upon the Good Shepherd, who art kind to us, the sheep of Thy pasture, remember those other sheep of Thine who are lean with us by the green pastures and by the waters of restfulness. Help us to be kindly disposed towards them, and knit closer them and us more closely with cords of interest and of love. And may they be conscious of the fact that, even now, when surrounded by adversity and baffled by defeat, Thou wert never nearer to them. In Thine own good way and in Thine own good time, lead them, O loving Father, into a larger place, the place of Thy presence and Thy power.

Bless the sick and sorrowing, the forlorn and the friendless, the lonely and the sad. To unto each and all of these, Thy children, what seemeth good unto Thee. Bless all sorts and conditions of men, in our own land and in other lands, and speed the day when happiness and glad content shall be the common lot of all mankind. Through Jesus Christ we pray. Amen.

He noticed a little animal on the road, stopped and made sure it was a porcupine. Beyond throwing up his armour of quills in case of attack it was made Porky did not seem perturbed by the automobile and man, and after a leisurely survey slowly ambled away in the side of the road. Now you tell one of the animals you have seen going home in the early hours.

"DONE IN" BY THE DOLE

It was on the dole that Ramsay MacDonald was shipwrecked.

The Socialist Prime Minister of British Isles came to office with the cry of "Work or Maintenance."

The Socialist administration balloted us a triumph over three hundred thousand recruits added to those already receiving the dole.

There is a bolshie in every spell. The well of the dole began to run dry. Contributions were not sufficient.

What could not be raised had to be borrowed. The money lenders, bankers and factors declared that until the Socialist budget was balanced there would be no more credit.

To balance the budget something had to be done about the dole.

The dole could have been cut by a direct reduction in the amounts paid and in the numbers receiving it.

But that would have alienated the workers, who were the prospective beneficiaries of the next election.

The Socialist Government had not the courage to do that, and had not strength to face that situation. Accordingly it left it to Ramsay Mac-Donald to put the taxpayer to pay Paul his dole, the MacDonald Government signs either leaving the Prime Minister to mop up the mess as best he can with a "National Government."—Toronto Telegram.

13,000 FEWER SIGNS

The movement to rid the highways of objectionable signs and billboards have slowed down of late. At all events, we have not noticed any of it in recent months. It is to be hoped that it will not cause it to lose its own inspiration, because there is much to be accomplished before the objective is reached.

A reminder of the signboard campaign is contained with a report from Maryland which has reached us. Maryland was one of the leaders in the placing of signboards along the highways and in 1927 there were 13,000 of them. In the first month of its operations the new commission has already seen reports the removal of 13,000 illegal signs.

The Maryland law is not too sweeping.—Ottawa Citizen.

SWEET THE PROVINCE

The Taschereau Government has been sustained by a more than substantial majority, and those who may have entertained any doubt as to the probable outcome of yesterday's polling will read easier in their sleep as the escape of the province—no matter even what—from a new election—from a possibility which must have appeared to them as somewhat sensible of the gravity of a threat which, apparently, was not only real, sound and fury, assumed proportions and the excess of its actual strength. Not only has the Opposition failed to make material inroads upon the Liberal majority in the Assembly, but it has lost some ground over the years ago. This is barely made up its losses and, as a result of the ballots pursued it will appear in the new House if not with dwindled ranks, at least with even the powerful phalanx which its lead ers predicted. The Opposition chief is himself without a seat. Offering himself as a candidate in two ridings, he offended many of his supporters in St. Mary by an implied disloyalty to them, and in seeking to ride two horses, he finds himself, temporarily at least, without a mount. Nor has he been more successful in his campaign as a whole. There were plain evidences during the course of the campaign that he had overplayed his hand, and that the voters of his province were reacting materially to his disadvantage.—Montreal Gazette.

THE DOLE

At last an ancient newspaper joke has come true. A lady has bitten a dog. A hound with a sunburned face it appears, "playfully" bit a dog's ear. The dog's owner, apparently, returned the "playful" compliment by hitting the hound with what pain is not stated. As a result, the dog was confined for a ten-day observation period, but as soon as the facts became known it was released from confinement.

There is a lesson in this little story. If people would only treat animals naturally, there would be considerably fewer rumours of alleged "mad" dogs in the summertime. The natural impulse of a man, if somebody tweaked his ear "playfully," would be to wreak summary physical vengeance upon the tweaker. A canine, presumably if the dog follows the example of his master.

Dogs do not appreciate being bitten by the ear, their tails being used for that purpose. No normal dog will bite any human being if it is left alone, and it is not necessary to strike any dog in order to frighten it away. When dogs start biting bite one another, they are nailed to court. When a dog bites a human being.—Montreal Star.

TEN PER CENT CUT ON DOLE IS REQUIRED

Social Service Cuts Will Not Affect Children's Allowances

LIVING COSTS DOWN

Premier Obeys Duty to Country Irrespective of Consequences

London, Aug. 26—A proposal for a ten per cent reduction in unemployment benefits was moved by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald last night, a few hours after King George had approved the new national cabinet of four Labor-ites, four Conservatives and two Liberals.

In the course of a radio speech, MacDonald confirmed that the Government will preserve the social service reductions. He appealed to the nation to support the emergency Government in its efforts to guide the country through a grave financial crisis.

Until the children's allowances (social service funds) will not be touched at all," the Prime Minister added, in reference to the dole fund, which spill the Labor party and caused the new Government's fall. "The cost of living has decreased ten per cent since 1929. The unemployment benefit is not a living wage and was never meant to be.

MacDonald, who was born in poverty in a room attached to a stable at Lossiemouth, began his third premiership by addressing "everyone, rich and poor alike, employed and unemployed, to face our difficulties with hearts determined to overcome them and to prepare for any sacrifices required to whatever call may be necessary."

Not Deserting Socialism

He struck back vigorously at critics in the Labor party who accused him of deserting socialism, and said he did not hold the credentials of Labor as head of the new Government.

"My credentials are those of a national duty as I conceive it; he said. "I will take the responsibility for the consequences."

It has been predicted that he will be overthrown and thrust into obscurity by the rebel Laborites.

He replied to reports that the Labor Government's fall was due to a "banker's conspiracy" to force dole reductions. "I give my most emphatic assurance that it is not true," he said.

MacDonald ascribed the causes of "the financial emergency" to worldwide depression, the "collapse of financial crisis and "foreign investors' failure to use their balances to their position. He also blamed propaganda.

Foreign Countries Not Blamed

"It is not true to suggest that financial difficulties have been trivial to harm us," he said. "Nothing like that has been within the call. They helped us greatly and are helping us now. What is of essential is that confidence of the world in our credit should be restored. Otherwise we will be unable to maintain the value of the pound sterling.

"Action, swift and decisive and effective, has been asked—that I propose to give."

The Premier in his present occasion was "unusual rather than sorrowful."

"I have given my life to building up a political party. I was present at his birth. I was in the nurse when it emerged from infancy and attained adult years.

"This moment has changed none of my belief; none of my ideals."

He added that the present Government is "not a coalition, but a government of individuals."

Women's Interests in the Home

Misunderstood at Home

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX
An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Three letters on my desk — all rivals in the last batch of mail, all on the same subject—prompt me to hand out the following warning: When a married man tells you he is "not understood at home" give him a wide berth as if he had smallpox. That old stencil, "my wife doesn't understand me" has been so worn for in the way of trouble than the apple. Eve persuaded Adam to eat, causing us to forfeit our Paradise inheritance.

This non-understanding wife is the married man's harpy, thrown up very likely about some attractive girl's wrecked life, the same place of business. He knows if he succeeds in arousing her pity, it's comparatively easy to count on her as an ally. "Pity is akin to love." The old playwright announced seven, three hundred years ago, and it was an old stuff even at that date. Every one knew by the time Shakespeare was discovered that, if the road to a man's heart was through his stomach, the road to a girl's was through pity.

Just as a man say he's lonely, misunderstood, unappreciated, and up springs some sweet and silly girl who feels it her mission in life to console the gentleman not understood a bonbon.

There are only two things for these easy sympathizers to remember: first, that the gentleman who is capable of mopping up such vast quantities of pity, is thinking more of himself than of the girl friend. He hints vaguely about a different woman, but who bears his name and who is the mother of his children. But it's a good divorce he's talking about, nine times out of ten. That's the only point this diverse business. Real misunderstood men are seldom materializes.

The boss—or the demi-boss, or the hemi-semi-demi boss in the office—continues to be human, but if you happen to catch him unawares at the movies with the lady who is not his name, they seem to be on very good terms. Also your friend. If he's this will tell you—not knowing the slab the word inflict—that they get along quite as well as the average.

And you, who have been so sympathetic because the poor man is not understood at home, have a feeling that the ground under you feet has given away.

You ask yourself, perhaps why I am so unsympathetic about the married man "not understood at home"? It's because I've had hundreds of letters from girls who have come to grief because they listened to these tragic fairy tales.

When the show-down comes, the girls who tried to make things a little happier for the misunderstood martyr were greeted with identical rebuffs: "I was you, yes—but I have my family and position to consider."

The traduced and unsympathetic wife nearly always takes precedence over the girl who has broken her heart and soiled her reputation trying to make things happier for a man who is just looking for a thrill.

Of course, these girls who write me the old familiar story are just silly to have listened to one of the most ancient of fiction.

Better for them if they had acted like a certain red haired girl with three saucy freckles on her nose. The boss, or maybe it was the assistant boss, picked the old one about not being understood at home. She crinkled up her eyes and said: "Wah! Where have I heard that line before? Wasn't it Shem who told Japeth's wife and him all the time? Shem didn't understand him. I believe I'm as stupid as Shem's wife. I never seem to be able to understand married men either."

Fashionably Speaking
By Lucille

Dear Readers:

"Hands tell the story of your restlessness, your worries, your contentments, says a beauty expert.

"Hands—but the mouth can tell the world so much about you. Your eyes you can guard. But your hands have an unconscious, frank way of giving you away.

"And don't think they hold back on telling your age!

"Far from it. Some women spend much time creating wrinkles from their faces, smoothing crows' feet around the eyes and patting and molding in mouth-lines, and then do nothing for their hands. They, of course, retaliate in a meaner way by telling the truth.

"Hands that have passed 36 need definite daily care. They should be taken care of before 30. Prevention is always worth more than cure. But you can make your hands reach out to beauty, if you want to, and a few years afterward.

"Hands that are dry and wrinkled need oils, nourishing creams, massages, cooling youthifiers, just as the face needs them. Sometimes them have different ingredients from facial creams. But you do not need to buy a lot of extra things.

Begin with what you have. You can be sure that if it is made for your face it can't hurt your hands.

"Astringents should be used on oily hands. Dressy hands should be treated to one of the new antiperspiration lotions. They should be exercised to increase proper circulation. And when you go out, you should wrap up a little bit, with powder base and powdy shaded over them, and a little touch of perfumery. It gives them self-respect, sets them up!

"In addition to these creams, make up and astringents, you should massage your hands thoroughly exercise them, use a complexion brush on them and all in all put them through a fortnight's course as faithfully as you do what you can do for them.

"If you freckle terribly, don't be above wearing gloves in the sun. They are stylish this summer. And freckles are hard to get out. Better use some freckle preventive instead, if it isn't too late.

"Hands are sensitive. That is the only way you will be interested enough to do something to beautify them. Put your hands out for beauty!"

Fashionably yours,
LUCILLE.

Do You Worship Comfort?

BY LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.,
FAMOUS AUTHORITY ON HEALTH AND PSYCHOLOGY

Nowhere in the world are there so many conveniences and luxuries invented for man's saving of labor and enjoyment as in America. It leads all nations in the way they are housed, fed, clothed and cared for. They make of it a regular fetish to be worshipped with unflagging zeal.

Still, nothing states more quickly than such creature confoms. The day will inevitably arrive when having gotten all your heart's desires in the way of solid comfort, you will find yourself, at loose ends, disconsolate.

It is strange how quickly we become used to luxury and how quickly it ceases to please. We are slave to own an automobile, for instance, only to find that riding in one's car doesn't thrill us as much as we anticipated.

Some only to discover later that that boo only to discover later that that doesn't make us happy.

Possession, ownership, comfort, none of these make life complete.

Life demands more than that. Life must and should be pleasurable, to be sure, but in order to achieve supreme living, life must be something else besides.

Life must have in it the call of the spirit or whatever you may choose to call that intangible something that reaches and lowers and craves fulfilment. It is these unsatisfied cravings, stilled in our efforts to ignore it. Material blessings alone will not do!

Therefore, while preparing for creature comforts, prepare also for the subtler values.

Read good books. Develop a taste for poetry. Learn to enjoy music. Find the refreshment that lies in good rains. For inevitably the time will arrive when you will turn to these things in an attempt to satisfy your deeper, unfulfilled yearnings.

But the values must be prepared for early in life. We cannot afford to wait too long, else it may be exceedingly difficult for us to rouse the spiritual side of our natures. It may easily happen that when we do turn to the things that can gratify the spirit that we find them unresponsive.

The fault to be sure, would then be ours alone for we would not have cultivated the taste which would enable us to enjoy them.

Learn how to appreciate the beauties of books. Seek out the joys of color contrast and harmonies and of the esthetic values to be got from well designed lines. Consider the fields and woods and the sea. Allow yourself the time to drink in the beauty which they may have for you.

Also surround yourself at home with furnishings that not only reflect good taste but the spirit in addition. You need not spend a lot of money on it. It's the way you arrange things that count.

Cultivate a work of art, even if it be but a tiny statue, but one that will look at it with love. Art lifts us out of ourself. It is a good antidote for gross materialism.

Allow your emotions to be stimulated so that you will appreciate and develop better things. For, in the end, these constitute the most satisfying joys—not the new creature comforts to be derived from a primarily commercial world.

A LITTLE MAID

I say not sweetest of the sweet
Nor first of the rare,
For childhood is so often sweet
And is so often fair.

But lovely as a flower to me
Is that bewitching face,
Nor can I ever hope to see
A more unconscious grace.

Only to look at her is much;
But oh, the thrill she brings
With tender rush of her touch,
The little hand that clings.

It stirs me with a sudden flow
Of comforting surprise;
And life must still have joy while so
I find it in her eyes.

A GIFT FOR A SALESMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a married woman and my husband and I buy our furniture in a place on Black Avenue. We have a salesman and he is very nice in that. Every time we buy anything in that store—it makes no difference how much we spend—he always gives me something for my home for nothing, and the things he gives me are always worth between four and five dollars.

What I would like to know is, would it be proper for me to show my appreciation by giving him a box of cigars. But first of all, I would like to know if it is proper to give him anything?

What would you advise?

Thank you.

Your impose to make some gesture of appreciation to this kind salesman is a very generous one, and I should like to have you act on it. I like the idea of the box of cigars. And I suggest that you have your husband give them to him, in both your names. That would obviate all social difficulties, and be in the best of taste.

SURPRISE PARTY GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am confronted with a problem that is very hard for me to decide. Your column has been a great help to me and I have started a "scrap book" by cutting out the questions and answers and pasting them in a book, but the question which I am troubled about of not to be found.

I. I am invited to a surprise party and I would like to know if it is proper to give a gift, if so, please tell me what would be appropriate for a girl of seventeen.

2. I would like to know if a rayon voile dress would be correct for me to wear.

Welcome to the column, and thank you for these pleasant words of appreciation.

1. I don't see any real reason why you should take a gift, but you may find you would like to if when each guest is planning to do. And, if you do, of course you too should plan to take one. A box of flowers, if you wish, or a corsage, or a book. All of these are safe presents, especially appropriate if you don't know the girl very well. A lovely handkerchief, plain or monogrammed a dance handkerchief perhaps, which always look so glitty-y. Or a purse perfume. Or a compact—Or and of the esthetic values to be got from well designed lines. Consider the fields and woods and the sea. Allow yourself the time to drink in the beauty which they may have for you.

2. Yes.

A MATTER OF GRAMMAR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you be so kind as to tell me it at any time the phrase "aren't I" is correct? I have heard it used quite frequently and have often wondered if it was proper.

B. M. E.

This isn't grammatically correct. You can test it by seeing how wrong it sounds when you turn it around and say "Am I not?" Some are fond of using this form, but even with this justification, we'd back away, "Am I not?"

(Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman will be glad to answer question on etiquette submitted by readers.)

French cosmetic chemists have pretty names for the various colors of their complexion powders. White powder is beige, French for snow. Needless to say it goes beginning the natural color of the skin is never white, but ivory. A fairly yellow powder is named banane, a flesh tint is corail. Rose is the shade of wine made from pink grapes, not unlike a blend of dentine flies hand rachelle powders. Coq de Roche powder is the vivid pink of the rooster's crest, and Rose Ibis is a peculiar shade like the feathers of the unfastidious bird that eats young snakes for its breakfast.

Now and then there's a suspicion going round to the effect that the compadcour may return. Not the old one boosted up with rats and wads, but a slight lift. Wrinkles! Oil 'em and freeze 'em! At night apply a heavy emollient, clap the face briskly, hammer it with finger tips. Sponge on an astringent, skate over the celestial continents with a piece of ice. In the morning use more ice.

BELLEVILLE JUNIORS WIN EASTERN ONTARIO TITLE AFTER HECTIC THIRD GAME

OUTHIT BY PETES

Fielding One of Features of Deciding Match

Playing the third and deciding game at Port Hope on Tuesday, the local B.A.A.A. Juniors won the Eastern Ontario Junior title from the Peterboro Juniors by the score of 12 to 11 in one of the most hectic junior games that has ever been seen in this part of the country. The game was filled with sensational fielding and hitting on the part of both teams.

Although the "Petes" out-hit the locals to the tune of 14 to 13 in the game, the Association kids hit the ball when there were men on bases—something which wins ball games for any team. The local B.A.A.A. kids now meet the Columbus of Toronto in the Junior O.H.A.A. semi-finals. The first game will be played at the Island Stadium, in Toronto, on Saturday afternoon at 1.15 p.m. The Columbus are a fast team and have played excellent ball to win the T.A.B.A. title. When the return game will be played has not yet been decided on account of the Belleville Fair next week.

Tuesday's game was one of the fastest junior games that has been seen in Eastern Ontario in some years. The locals played bang-up ball from the first innings. The hitting of the kids and their sure-as-fate fielding were the causes of their win. The Association kids very nearly ran into a snags in the second innings when "Cy" Barrtage was knocked out by a thrown ball that hit him in the head, but after receiving first aid he returned to the game to play superb baseball. The fielding of Tobe, Carter, McGuire and Murray pulled the locals out of many a hole. "Stat" Wilkins was on the mound for the Association boys and pitched his usual masterful game except in the last innings when the boy weakened under the strain, but his teammates rose to the occasion and fielded brilliantly behind him.

"Jumbo" Graham was the big hitter of the day when he collected four hits out of five times at bat. But he was closely followed by Wilkins, who got two hits out of three times. "Dimmie" McGuire played one of the best games of his career and when he raced into the crowd to catch two foul flies he brought down rounds of applause, as did Carter and Tobe for their sensational catches. But it remained for Murray to supply the fielding sensation of the day when he ran to right-centre field to make the final put-out of the game.

The locals hit the offerings of "McIlwain and Denniison at a will, although Dennison did stop the rally of the locals in the sixth innings, but they gathered two runs in the eighth to clinch the game. Both teams played excellent base ball but at times Wilkins rose to the occasion and struck-out the first batsmen of the "Petes." The locals only "whiffed" the air four times which accounts for most of the runs that they got.

The B.A.A.A. Juniors are to be congratulated for the wonderful ball-game that they have made in the play-offs to date, and if they continue playing the brand of baseball that they have demonstrated in the past few games they should go far in the O.B.A.A. play-downs.

The loss of one of their pitchers, "Cliff" Bond, their other pitcher, "Bud" Wilkins, in rather a bad place in the box will have to pitch the remainder of their games in the O.B.A.A. play-offs. At any rate the kids have given quite a lot of credit for their showing to date and if they can make next round against Toronto "Columbias" they will be in the finals for the Ontario Junior championship.

On Thursday evening they play an exhibition game against the pick of the local City League. The proceeds of which are to go to defray the expenses of their pitcher, "Cliff" Smith's accident, who broke his arm while pitching for them in Peterboro last week. The sporting fans of Belleville are expected out to support this cause on Thursday evening at the Fair Grounds.

LEAGUERS PUT ON NEW STUNT —TRACK MEETS

Fans Now Look to Cinder Paths and Jumping Pits

CHAMPION'S WORK

(By Gayle Talbot)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Having pretty well settled the question of team supremacy in the two major leagues, the boys have hit upon a new scheme to whet the interest of the fans. They're putting on track meets and the pot sibilities are limitless.

When Babe Ruth, the Yankees' favorite spectator outfooted Carl Reynolds, the White Sox in a special match race before yesterday's tilt at Chicago, something unprecedented was started. From now on the customers may expect to see jumping pits and cinder paths as regular equipment in all well regulated parks.

Chapman, seeking more sprinters to conquer, already has issued a defy to any player in the American league to run in the 100-yard match race, and they're talking of pitting him against the National league record champion as a feature of the approaching world series. If they can get the mail out, and, say a shot-putting contest between Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, the fans will be assured some choice entertainment.

Athletic Win

After beating Reynolds by some 10 yards in their 100-yard dash, Chapman utilized his speed in the baseball game that followed to steal his fiftieth and fifty-first bases of the year. The only American league player equal that mark was George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns in 1922, but still, however, in 1920 Ty Cobb's 1915 record of 96 thefts.

Chapman's two steals, incidentally, 8 to 0, behind Herb Pennock's six hit pitching, gave the Red Sox undisputed credited to the McCarthymen this season.

Athletic Win

Eddie Rommel pitched the longgone Athletics to a 4 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Browns, allowing only six hits, one of them a home run by Lew Fonseca with two on board. The Washington Senators, so far back now it scarcely matters, thumped the Detroit Tigers 5 to 1. Lloyd Brown limited the Bengals to four hits in eight innings, one of them a double by Roy Johnson, which prevented the scheduled host heaving Cleveland and the Red Sox.

Their sails all set for second place in the National league, the Giants helped matters along by trimming the Chicago Cubs twice, 2 to 2 and 7 to 1. Fred Fitzsimmons lead over the Hornsby clan to five innings in the opener before pre-hit pitching and Mel Ott's home run with two on featured the first. Jim Chaplin stopped the visitors cold in the second game, Adam Hemsley's homer depriving him of a shutout.

The Pirates, likewise nursing second place ambitions, divided a pair with the Pittsburgh Pirates. A four-run splurge off of Watson Clark in the eighth inning gave the Pirates the opener 8 to 7. Fred Heimach squared matters by holding them to three hits and winning the nightcap 3 to 0. Babe Herman's home run with two on in the first supplied the winning runs.

Whitewashing By Terse

Cincinnati and Philadelphia took turns applying the whitewash, the Reds winning the first 8 to 0, behind Red Lucas' brilliant pitching and the Phils taking the second 4 to 0, as Jim Elliott bested Young Bill Johnson in a tight duel. Lucas yielded only five hits and Elliott six in their respective victories. Successive hits by McCurdy, Whitney and Mahn gave the Phils their winning run in the nightcap.

Old Dots Scheibeck held the Cardinals scoreless for eight innings, but they nicked him for one to tie the score in the ninth and then collected three more in the tenth to defeat the Boston Braves.

TONY TO BATTLE

Bayonne, N.Y., Aug. 26. — Tony Canzoneri, holder of the world's lightweight and junior welterweight championships, is to put his crown junior welterweight on the block tonight when he meets Henry Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., in a ten-round bout at the Bayonne Stadium.

FAIR PLAY
Bouts and Fair Criticism

All roads lead to Kingston today when the Eastern "Nats" and the Kingston "Ponies" meet for the Central League title. They now stand one game apiece and the crucial game is being played (weather permitting this afternoon. It is more than likely "Sammy" Polster and "Tammie" Jamieson will again face each other on the mound. In the first game Jamieson got the verdict over the youthful Polster and a very ragtic game on the part of the "Nats" who committed no less than six errors of commission and is anything of the errors of omission. But the locals came back in Kingston to even the series and all is forgiven.

If the Nats play average ball behind Polster or Gibson they should have little or no difficulty in turning back the "Ponies." In his last two starts against the Kingstonians he has allowed but six hits, two and four respectively. Any pitcher doing a game like Polster has here a week ago sure had a slick control, but he "Ponies" be only gritted his teeth and asked for another chance to turn back the Pirates. The locals should win the pennant today if they get "in there" and play ball behind either Polster or Gibson. No matter which team wins may they go far and win the senior O.B.A.A. title. (To say nothing of that trip to the Olympic games.)

The Athletes had an opportunity to see Tommy Ferder, Belleville's entry in the C.N.E. marathon swim, at Toronto, next week, in action this afternoon. The boy is quite confident that he is in the best condition possible and all that he needs is a little money to defray his expenses to Toronto. He is asking the citizens to advance him the money that will be necessary to keep him while in Toronto promising in return that he will uphold the good name of Belleville as a sporting city. (Remember folks George Young went away to Catalina Island unknown.)

Entries are coming in in fine style for the Athletic meet at the Belleville Fair next week. Secretary Pearson has almost too many entries from the outside but he would like a few more girls entered in the district events.

Coach Ralph Morden has the local athletes up at the Fair Grounds every night this week. All the equipment is at the disposal of any athlete in this district, if he or she wishes to take advantage of the opportunity. Mr. Morden has four local girls under his tuition at present, but he would like to see a few more girls from this district out to practise. Mr. Morden will be at the Fair Grounds over night at 7 p.m. He is always ready to give a helping hand to those who are willing to try.

The following are a few of the Toronto track stars that have indicated their intention of coming to Belleville Fair meet:

W. Christie, Ontario 220 yard champion. This boy can make the turf fly with any sprinter in the country. He is expected to be on the Canadian Olympic team.

Tom Ritchie, former 220 and 100 yard champion of Eastern Canada. Also E. Percy, Toronto's star half miler. These two boys are considered about the best in their class in Ontario.

Harold Gallop (and can he gallop) the smart 880 yard and one mile king of Toronto's track crop. Also there will be Doug Brown, the smart 440 yard dasher.

Cleo Fee, Canadian finalist, in the 100 and 220 yard sprints says that he will be here for the meet. A. W. Scott, the "half-mile" and "one-half miler is also coming.'

All of these boys are the pick of Toronto athletes and will no doubt be on the Canadian Olympic team next year. It is a wonderful chance for the local citizens to see some of Canada's best athletes in action.

Gallop, Lovell, Percy and Christie won the United States medley relay race two years ago. They also won the Canadian medley race that year.

These figures only go to show that Belleville is to be visited by some of the best track men in the Dominion. So this is the chance of a lifetime for the local track and field aspirants to try their ability against the best in the country.

It is no disgrace to be beaten by men like the above named. But if some of the locals can head those boys in a wonderful achievements. It is to be hoped that more local boys will enter.

In the girls' events there are at least five real smart lookers athletics coming down from Toronto, Margaret Cole, Margaret Lee, Claude Coleton, Peggy Matheson and Grace Matney have all signified their intention of coming to Belleville Fair.

Of course there will be plenty of other notable talent but we just mentioned those to show the sporting public that the fair should be a huge success from any angle.

It is expected that contestants will be entered from Kingston and Ottawa in the east to as far west as Hamilton and perhaps Windsor. All in all it looks like one big day of sport for Belleville.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 15 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

In the higher land that the tribe frequented was a little lake. Here it was that Tarzan first saw his face in the clear, still waters of its bosom. He was appalled! He turned red with shame as he compared his face and naked body with his more fortunate brother's.

So intent was he upon this personal appraisement of his features that he did not hear the parting of the tall grass behind him as a great body pushed itself stealthily through the jungle. Not thirty paces behind the two she crouched —Sabor, the huge lioness—lashing her tail.

Cautiously she moved a great padded paw forward, noiselessly placing it before she lifted the next. Thus she advanced—a great cat preparing to spring upon its prey. An instant she paused. Then with an awful scream—voiced to freeze her victims in a paralysis of terror—she sprang!

The little ape crouched trembling-ly. Not so Tarzan, the man-child. Before him lay the deep waters of the little lake—behind him certain death! Tarzan had always hated water. He could not swim. But before the great beast had covered half her leap, Tarzan felt the chill waters close above him.

Rapidly he moved his hands and feet. Soon his nose was above water. Sabor was intently watching. Tarzan raised his voice in the tribal call of distress. Presently fifty great apes swung rapidly toward the scene. Then Sabor disappeared quickly into the bush and Tarzan swam happily to dry land.

Uphill Fight For Pennant in International League

(By the Associated Press)

The Baltimore Red Wings are first in the International League again after a great battle with the Newark Bears and appear to have the edge over their closest rivals for the pennant but it has been an uphill battle for the Baltimore club, and a perusal of the season's records shows that they lost two more games than the Red Wings, which gives the latter more to provide the difference in the percentages.

For seven innings yesterday the game was close as Baltimore and Toronto battled even with Ray Moss and Bob Pruett fighting it out on the mound. But in the eighth Pruett cracked and Rochester put over five runs to win although Moss had an 8-6 edge in the hits. Three hits and a wild pitch by Moss made the winning rally and Pruett gave way to Al Hartje, who could drove out a double with the bases filled.

After consolidating their hold on fourth place with a victory, Montreal went straight from Reading, the Toronto Maple Leafs' escapade for a final check of the series by an 8 to 0 count as Chick Howard's fine curving ball baffled the Indians. He gave only six hits and allowed only one Toronto player to reach third. He gave only two hits after the fourth inning when Ken Myers concentrated most of their 13 hits off Harrison Smith, his relief pitcher, scoring six runs in the last three innings.

A day of idleness cost Baltimore and Newark a chance to move respectively in the standing, a chance to overtake their rivals.

PAST ONE ON THE REFEREE

Bert Large, the sensational goaltender of the Toronto Maple Leafs last season, was literally "pulled" a fast one on referee Bill Powers in a recent league game. Bert, usually shy and unpretentious, went down in a mêlée near his goal with opposing players piled all around him, during which the boy Bert was holding his jaw and making faces as though he were suffering excruciating pain. The referee fell over and asked Bert what was hurt, and Bert replied that a certain player had knocked his teeth out, and thereupon proceeded to remove it. He held it up as an exhibit of what the player had done, but unfortunately the referee was not fooled in the least by the trick, for the referee spotted the little scene out of the side of his eye and it for a false tooth. When he called Bert's bluff, the latter merely shrugged his shoulders and put the tooth back in its place, but it is suspected that he was blushing from ear to ear. Bert's a shy cuss.

CIACO GIRLS DEFEAT NATS.

Consistent Hitting By Corbyville Wins Game

Pounding two pitchers at will the Ciaco Girls won the first game of the Bay of Quinte Girl's softball league last evening by the score of 11 to 4 over the once invincible Nats of Middle.

Consistent hitting on the part of the Corbyville team was the real reason for their victory last evening. They collected no less than sixteen safeties off the offerings of both Molly Gray and Thelma Gilbert while Merl Greene and Dolly Canning split the hitting honors with four safeties apiece.

To Bessie Doolittle, the Ciaco hurler goes the lion's share of the victory. Pitching the best game of her career allowing the Maids but five safeties, she was only in the last innings did the Maids manage to get two hits in any one inning. Her control also kept her hits scattered.

The Corbyville team superior to their rivals, the National Maids, in the field as well as at the bat. They only committed three errors in the nine innings while the Maids made no less than seven slips during the game. Last year's champions, the Ciaco team, now have the edge on the league either win last night as the entire league is divided by the team winning the first two games.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Fanchon went to her room. She was deathly tired. Everything was over. The next hour or two would see the end. She dismissed Emma who was waiting. "Please get me out of this costume, Emma," she asked, "and then you can go to bed. I'll take care of Mrs. Carstairs. I know you're tired," she said.

She got off the costume and slipped on a negligee. When the elderly maid had departed, murmuring her thanks, Fanchon took off the little wrap of satin and lace and put on a plain tweed dress, changing her shoes and stockings as well. Over the dress she slipped on a heavy satin robe, tailored, and buttoned. It clung to her throat. She went back into the living room, switched on the lights, went over to the pantry and presently arranged a coffee table in the living room with demitasse, highball glasses and Scotch whiskey. She put milk on the electric stove in the pantry to heat. Then she sat down and waited. There was no sound from Tony.

She had not long to wait before Collin and Mrs. Carstairs came in. Fanchon heard the elevator stop and opened the door herself.

"My dear," exclaimed Jennie softly, "Why aren't you in bed?"

"My headache's better," said Fanchon. "Come, Aunt Jennie, let me take your wrap." She laid it, a priceless affair of chinchilla, over a chair. "I let Jameson and Emma go to bed," she went on, "they were half dead. I couldn't sleep so found a book and waited. I'm going to help you out of your magnificence," she went on, "and I've mixed a drink for Collin and a very tiny one for me and heated your milk for you. I thought—we might have a party," she begged.

Through Collin's mind and that of his mother, the same thought flashed.....She doesn't want to have anything said.....tonight.

Mrs. Carstairs went into her room and Fanchon helped her take off the lovely costume and the jewelry. She put the jewels into a drawer, for safety until morning, and laid with hands that shook a little, the rope of pearls, the emerald and diamonds, stripped from neck, and wrist, from hands and ears, into the big jewel case and shut the drawer upon them. From the terrace outside the living room there had come no sound.....

When Mrs. Carstairs lifted the tiara from her head with a sigh of relief—"Barbaric thing, it weighs a ton," she said, and handing it to Fanchon, put on a lounging robe, after which the two women went into the living room and joined Collin, who, still in his flamboyant costume, was walking about restlessly.

"They had their 'nightcaps'....." Fanchon her very small drink, Collin his man-sized one.... Mrs. Carstairs her milk. If they were watched from the terrace none knew it. They relaxed—with a sigh. And the powders that Tony had given her lay, still in their papers, in the pocket of her robe.

Collin said nothing at Fanchon.

"Mother, I want to talk to you for a moment, if I may. Evelyn suffers what I have to say."

"Why, Collin," Fanchon, "please, not tonight. Collin! Aunt Jennie's so tired and so am I. Tomorrow."

"Very well," he said, stubbornly, as he saw his mother's gesture of dismissal. "Tomorrow then. But no later than tomorrow."

He went to his room presently. Fanchon went with Mrs. Carstairs to hers, helped her undress, saw her safely into bed and leaned over to kiss her. Her lips shook so that she could hardly control them. She said "Good night, darling—" and her hand on Mrs. Carstairs' was ice cold.

"You are really ill, Evelyn," said Mrs. Carstairs in quick concern, "never mind me. Go to your room at once and try to get some sleep. We will have the doctor in the morning if you're no better."

Fanchon said, tightly, "I'll be all right. Too many good times, I guess," and went to her room. There she lay down on the bed without disturbing the covers, and waited. Twenty minutes. Half an hour. An hour and a half. When, she thought despairingly, as the minutes dragged by, when would Tony like?

He had tired, out on the terrace, hidden securely, looking now and then at the radium dial of his watch. In an hour at the most Fanchon was to make the arranged signal and they were to make their escape together with the jewels. He had not trusted her to do it alone that was why he had waited to see that nothing would go wrong, or that she would change her mind.

He would wait no longer. He would see for himself. She had given Collin and the older woman the drugged drinks. They would be sleeping soundly. Why had she not come? She had put the jewels loosely in a drawer and left it a little ajar so she could get them easily, if she had followed his instructions.

He came in from the terrace, through the door he had left unlocked, and went up the gallery stairs as lightly as a cat. As lightly he turned the knob of Mrs. Carstairs' door and went in.

Mrs. Carstairs did not hear. She was sleeping very soundly, worn out by the evening and her troubled speculations.

Tony went straight to the dresser. He knew where every piece of furniture was in the room, had seen to it on his "tour" of inspection. A drawer was, as he saw, a little open. He thrust in his hand. Damn! to hell the jewels had been put in a case! Slowly, cat-right he began to draw the case out. Still the woman was drugged and heavily, he need have no particular fear.

Fanchon, alert, terribly wide-awake, had heard his careful movements. She was crouched against the door dividing her room from that of Mrs. Carstairs.

"Who's that?" called Mrs. Carstairs waking suddenly, and sitting up in bed.

Fanchon threw the door open.

"It is—Mr. Cull—" she said, quite clearly..... "he has come back for something he forgot." She held out her hand. In it glittered the revolver she had taken from Collin's study like lightning. "Ring the bell that leads to Collin's room," she said to Jennie, "and keep your hands above your head, Mr. Cesare Cull—or rather, Mr. Antonio Francesconi," cried Fanchon.

WARNING

by J. sp r B. Sinclair

The "Lilah" hobbled lazily at anchor between the jutting points of a glassy-surfaced lagoon. A westering sun tipped the waters of the gulf with reddish bronze, and glinted against Rangoon's distant towers and minarets. Slightly to the south old Moulmein pagoda reared its gaunt head above the hills and teak forests of the Siamese shoreline.

Dirk Van Cleve walked slowly across the deck of the "Lilah" forward a girl seated in a deck chair under a shading spread of canvas. A young girl she was, slim of form, with frank blue eyes and brownish hair—strangely like the bronzed reflection of the setting sun.

Dirk smiled as he neared the girl. It, was after her he had named his yacht. A token of affection which Lilah Whitelaw had not been slow to appreciate.

"Dirk, I do wish you'd get rid of that heathen of yours," she said quietly, looking up at him as he stopped before her. "He gives me the shivers every time I look at him!"

"Oh, nonsense, Lilah," remonstrated Dirk laughingly. "Let-lei wouldn't harm a soul, least of all you, my dear!"

"All the same, Dirk, he gives me the creeps," said Lilah shrugged her trim shoulders at his calm assurance.

Dirk laughed again. Others had objected, from time to time, to his "heathen" as they termed the tall, lithe young Burmese who lay outstretched now on the forward deck of the "Lilah."

Some had exhibited wild surprise at the inclusion of the Burmese on their holiday cruise but the fact that Dirk Van Cleve was their host, and they were indebted to him for the cruise, restrained them from more volubale protests regarding the presence of the brown skinned native.

All that is, except Lilah Whitelaw. She had been freely outspoken in her distaste, amazing Dirk by the seriousness of her plaints. There were certain circumstances, thought Dirk, that none of them, not even Lilah, could understand. He could still remember, quite vividly, that night down on the docks of Rangoon. It had been dark when he had gone for a stroll alone through that section of the Burma seaport where furtive figures slink among dark shadows, and where the flash of steel may mark the end of an venture.

Rounding the corner of a waterfront he had come suddenly upon a scuffling, fighting group of Burmese and Hindoos. He had glimpsed flashing creese and dirks, and underneath the pummeling men, one who lay outstretched on the dock beneath their feet.

Without a thought of the consequences he had headed into that milling group, swinging a pair of hard American fist with telling effect. The outcome might have been in doubt but for the timely arrival of a detachment of Burman police headed by a swearing sergeant.

That was five years ago. Since then, Let-lei, the young Burmese whose life had probably been spared by Dirk's intervention, had become his devoted companion and follower. Wherever Dirk went, Let-lei was his constant bodyguard, worshipfully attendant upon all his wants and desires.

"Heathen he may be," said Dirk, reverting again to the present, "but he's loyal—more so than some white men I could mention!"

"Yes," Lilah retorted, "like a terrier forever dogging your steps!"

Dirk shrugged but offered no further comment. At least he had no intention of permitting the subject of his native servant to interpose between Lilah and him.

"I think—Well, no matter! I think I'll take a dip before dinner," Dirk finished.

"Another of your silly ideas," returned Lilah. "You know these waters are infested with sharks and—"

But Dirk was no longer listening. In a far from amiable frame of mind he went below, changed into his bathing suit and dived over the deck a few minutes later.

While he stood poised on the deck, preparing to dive, he heard Let-lei rose nimbly to his feet and came alongside.

"These waters are not safe, master," he urged quietly. "And the tiger sharks are dangerous."

That's enough of that, Let-lei! Dirk spoke more sharply than he had ever done to the Burmese. That was the second time in a day brief space he had been reminded of the startling, at times weird, Let-lei's uncanny intuitions. Neither Lilah nor a Burma native could interfere with his desire for a dip in the inviting waters of the lagoon.

He waved to Lilah with one free arm, then let go the shrouds with which he had probably been grimly to himself.

At that moment he wondered were the Burmese was, realizing that he, too, might be in danger from those in the shark's stomach. He was acutely aware then, of a new motion in the water, not unlike that of warning, but more of triumph. His fingers gripped the swinging Jacob's ladder and he had pulled himself out of the water. A quick, backward look and he saw—the finish of the shark's body as it struck, a single, low voiced Burmese cry and a crimson splotch dyeing the bunished waters of the lagoon.

WALL STREET DULL

New York, N.Y., Aug. 26.—The financial markets remained dull today, and a few bullish efforts in stocks made early in the session were soon abandoned.

Wall Street's attention was focussed on the developments in England, which, on the whole, were regarded as distinctly reassuring and on a directors meeting of the United States Steel Corp. late in the day, although there was no indication from the steel offices that there would be anything to announce later of the meeting.

WILL NOT BE BLINDED

Chatham, Ont., Aug. 25—Although still suffering great pain from the acid burns on his face, hospital attendants intimated early this afternoon that John Pewtrell who was attacked by two bandits this morning, will not be permanently blinded.

Pewtrell an agent for the Prudential Life Insurance Company, was attacked by two bandits as he entered the corridor of the building in which the firm's offices are located.

MULTIPLY YOUR "SALES TALK"

By

IF it were possible for you to deliver a five minutes "sales talk" personally, to each of 6,500 prospective customers..... it would take more than TEN WEEKS of continuous talking, at the rate of eight hours a day and six days a week You could SELL a whale of a lot of merchandise under those circumstances, couldn't you?

Such a talk fest is, of course, impossible, but you can easily reach the homes of every one of those 6,500 prospective BUYERS with your sales message — Not once in ten weeks but EVERY DAY.....and remember those homes are occupied not by ONE customer but by an average of three and one half, which brings the actual number of prospective buyers of YOUR merchandise to more than 25,000.

The daily circulation of The Daily Ontario Intelligencer for the month of May, 1931, was approximately 6,500 copies. Do you honestly believe you can afford to overlook the sales possibilities of so vast an audience?

Who's Who in New British Government

(By The Associated Press)

Prime Minister Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, twice head of the Labor government.

President of the Council— Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party twice Prime Minister.

Chancellor of the Exchequer — Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Labor government, associated with Mr. MacDonald for years in pacifism and social efforts.

Secretary of State for Home Affairs—Sir Herbert Samuel, rank-ing Liberal leader next to Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, former high commissioner to Palestine.

Lord Chancellor—Lord Sankey, Labor'te credited with much of the success of the Indian round table conference last year.

Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs—Lord Reading, former special envoy of the United States, former Viceroy of India.

Secretary of State for the Dominion—Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, ong a Labor leader, started life as an errand boy, is known as a "Jim" to all Great Britain.

Minister of Health—Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, younger brother of Sir Austen; chairman of the Conservative party.

President of the Board of Trade —Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, President of the Board of Trade twice previously.

President of the Board of Education—Sir Donald MacLean, veteran associate of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George in the Liberal party.

Minister of Labor—Sir Henry Betterton, member of the House of Commons since 1918, specialist on labor problems.

First Commissioner of Works — Lord Londonderry, who held the same post in the cabinet from October, 1923, to June, 1924.

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lan-caster—Lord Sankey, former secretary to Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George.

Secretary of State for Air—Lord Amulree, who held the same post in the Labor government just ended.

First Lord of the Admiralty — Sir Austen Chamberlain, holder of many previous cabinet posts.

Secretary of State for Scotland —Sir Archibald Sinclair, long active in the Conservative party and veteran of the South African war and of the Great War.

Secretary of State for India — Sir Samuel Hoare, fo rycars a Conservative leader, made distinguished war record.

Only ten of these are members of the Cabinet proper, the announcement said classifying as "appointments" to posts of Secretary of State for War, for Air, First Lord of the Admiralty, Secretary to Scotland, President of the Board of Education, the Ministers of Agriculture and Labor, the Commissioner of Works and the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

With ten members, it is the smallest British cabinet for many years.

There are four laborites, Mac-Donald, Snowden, Thomas and Lord Sankey; four Conservatives, Baldwin, Hoare, Chamberlain and Cunliffe-Lister and four Liberals, Samuel and Lord Reading.

Mr. Baldwin's portfolio as "Lord President" of the Council" entails also vice leadership in the House of Commons, it is believed.

Mr. Snowden stays in the post he held during more than two years of Labor government. Lord Sankey as Lord Chancellor is back on the job he held in the Labor cabinet, and J. H. Thomas, who also was a pillar of the Labor government, now has two portfolios, for Dominions and for Colonies.

Lord Lothian was Secretary to Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader, when the veteran statesman was Prime Minister.

Only one of the so-called "spend thrift" appointments in the cabinet list, that of Health entrusted to Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain.

This was 1822f as an indication that the National government really is going to focus its energies on economy. The exception in Mr. Chamberlain's case, it was said, was made because he is an outstanding figure in the Conservative party and in the past has shown himself to be a rigid economist.

SMUDGE FIRES HOME IN DISLODGING BEES

St. Thomas, Aug. 26—Smoking out bees that had swarmed inside a wall of the residence of Rev. J. V Colling, retired Baptist minister, two miles north of Melbourne Village, proved a costly undertaking. The house caught fire and was destroyed, notwithstanding the efforts of neighbors, who organized bucket brigades. The bees found their abode between the walls of frame house a couple of days ago. Their owner worked yesterday in vain efforts to dislodge them. This morning a smudge torch was employed. It is believed that a squirrel's nest inside the siding caught fire. The loss will be heavy and Mr Colling had spent much time and money in renovating and beautifying the house.

NO LIQUOR DRINKING IN HIGHWAY CAMPS

No liquor will be permitted in the Ontario Government highway cement camps along the projected route of the trans-Canada highway.

The Liquor Control Board, under the chairmanship of Sir Henry Dayton, is said to have investigated the question, and to be flatly of the opinion that the sale nor consumption of liquor should be countenanced.

At the present time no drinking is allowed by the board in hotel houses, on the ground that they do not constitute private residences within the meaning of the Liquor Control Act. The road camps which the Government intends establishing have, it is reported, been listed in the same category as lumbercamps, and Queen's Park has been so advised.

Mermaids Shiver Thinking of Cold

Toronto, Aug. 26 (CP)—Some mermaids anxiously scanned water reports as they rested somewhat nervously in training camps upon the shores of Lake Ontario today.

The women's 10-mile swimming championship, headline attraction at the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition here on Friday, finds the fair maids ready for the test but not ready for the chilling blasts which blew out of the west today.

Stars of Canadian and United States swimming circles these two score competitors have been training throughout the summer months in water which has been unusually warm for frigid Lake Ontario. While some declare that temperatures will be in their favor, the majority are hoping for a return of the hot rays of a waning summer sun.

AMUSEMENTS

LARGE CROWD FILLS CAPITOL THEATRE

The popularity of the Capitol Theatre is percolating to many out-of-town points, and Manager Holmes observed and welcomed quite a number of new guests last night. The public, feeling the first chilly evening, find the theatre much more attractive and interest in the Capitol's programmes, although very evident throughout the summer, now becomes much more intense. Last night an enormous crowd flocked to see "Extravagance" the featured attraction, and ladies formed a big part of the audience. R.P.N.S. Silverware Table Knives were handed to each lady on entering the theatre.

"Extravagance" offers much in the way of screen entertainment. A good acting-good story—beautiful dresses—sparkling background, in fact, a finished production.

June Collyer, with dimples and a gay time.

Phil Dorsay is his chosen companion for the hilarious escapades in which he proves to his sons that a man is never too old to enjoy himself and that age is merely a matter of how one feels. Lucien Littlefield, popular character actor, is also featured in the cast which also includes Donald Dillaway, Terrance Ray, Rosalie Roy, Lucille Browne, Brandon Hurst, C. Henry Gordon, to name but a few of the players.

Frank Borzage who directed Rogers and Miss Dorsay in their first talking screen triumph, "They Had to See Paris", also directed "Young As You Feel", which was adapted from George Ade's stage play, "Father and the Boys".

Screen Snapshots showing your favorite stars at work and play, Marjorie Beebe in a clever Melody comedy, the popular Capitol Newsreel, and Bobby Jones, America's Ace Golfer, demonstrates milling dirk eyes, was captivating as Alice, the discontented wife, whose husband, played by the clever Sunning Lloyd Hughes, refusing to bow to her every extravagant whim, broke her an easy load for the winner, admirably portrayed by Jameson Thompson. Vernon Wolfe of "The Hate Ship"). The dissatisfied wife was one slave of her troubles. Her girl-friend, (Dorothy Christy) was equally affected with a dizzy husband, (Owen Moore), and had already been the recipient of many clothes from the wily one, including a sable coat. The dissatisfied wife offers a new plaything to the wily one, and he donates a sable coat, to the utter disgust of the dissatisfied one's husband. Then the band begins to play, and the audience at the Capitol Theatre last night no doubt thought it played quite nicely, if not as loud and long as it might have done had they been in the place of the husband. The little mint!

However, all's well that ends well and the fable of the sable ended really delightfully for all concerned and the audience at the theatre was satisfied, and the people voted the picture as "ably Good!"

This attraction will be shown for the last time tonight and is supported by a comedy, a travelogue and a vaudellian.

WILL AND FIFI SPARKLE IN "YOUNG AS YOU FEEL"

Picture Will Rogers in a natilly tailored suit, a gardenia in his buttonhole and his famous bangs slick ed back immaculately with pomade. Impossible, you say?

Not at all. Believe it or not, that is exactly what he wears in his latest Fox starring comedy, "Young As You Feel" which is the feature attraction at the Belle today and Thursday. Matinee daily.

And that's more, this is but one of the five different costumes he wears.

The picture is an ultra-modern an tomorrow's news, and is in many ways the best thing the famous wit and philosopher has ever done for the screen. He appears perfectly at ease as a well groomed man and brings his wonderful perception of human nature to his characteriza-tion of a modern big business man out to show his tons how to have "The Brassie" in lesson Number Eight of his popular "How I Play Golf" series.

"BEST SELLER" AT CAPITOL THURSDAY

"The Lion and the Lamb," one of the year's best selling mystery stories, is being transferred to the screen and is scheduled to run at the Capitol Theatre for two days beginning Thursday. This tale of mystery and adventure written by E. Phillips Oppenheim, foremost writer of mystery stories—an international known author. "The Lion and the Lamb" ran in Collier's Magazine in serial form and was avidly read by millions of readers.

In arranging it to the screen, Colosmith has assembled a cast of cinematic fame. Walter Byron, suave and cultured Englishman, has the main lead. Supporting him are Carmel Myers, noted screen siren, who plays a typical vamp role. Raymond Hatton, character comedian, famous as co-star in the Beery-Hatton comedies, Montagu Love, sinister villain of the films who plays a wicked master crook in this picture, and Bert Roach, Bergar, lovely English leading lady, who has the feminine role opposite Byron.

George B. Seitz, associated with successful melodramas and mystery films, handled the direction of this "best seller." He has been so successful with films of this type, that he is considered a specialist in the field.

"The Lion and the Lamb" and a delightful assortment of "shorts" will find favour with the ladies at the Silverware Gift Night on Thursday, at those who have read this story will know. The usual summer picture is in a totally different street.

2 cheer Job at Bank Done" so ys Stamp, Expecting Return of Confidence

National Government of Britain Will Rise to the Emergency

BALANCE BUDGET

Good Beginning has Been Made Says Famous Banker

London, Aug. 27.—After seeing the King off for Scotland last night at Euston Station, Sir Josiah Stamp, Chairman of the London, Midland and Scottish Railroad and a director of the Bank of England, told friends, "I have done my job at the Bank and may return now to my holidays."

What the job was he did not reveal, but there is a widespread belief in London that when he returned Friday night from his holidays in Ireland it was because of the pressing emergency at the Bank of which, in the absence of Governor Montagu Norman, he is one of the outstanding officers.

It was recalled that he visited the Prime Minister's residence—Friday night, and in many quarters his visit is connected with Daily Herald story Tuesday that United Kingdom was had lumped Gold exchange as a condition for new or extended credits to the Bank of England.

While there have been official denials that "such conditions" were imposed, the Herald stood by its story and some of the resigned Labor ministers are reported to have affirmed its principal facts.

U. S. Bankers' Advice

The same sufficient sources which issued the denials intimated that some representatives had been made by private United States bankers who would be willing to be interested in any new credit in the Bank of England, and that it was entirely within the province of such bankers to prescribe economy on the part of the borrower as prerequisite to a loan.

Sir Josiah expressed confidence that the National Government would rise to the emergency.

"We feel that the steps taken are likely to have the required effect in foreign centres with regard to confidence in sterling and that if they are followed up by the promised action we have no reason to fear provided that confidence is maintained," he said.

"We are able to show without hesitation and backing ourselves ourselves that we intend to balance our budget and maintain our balance of trade on satisfactory lines.

"Balancing the budget is of course the big and most vitally telling element in restoring confidence. There are other important economic and industrial factors which we have to secure. This is still the beginning."

Hall Caine is Ill Condition Serious

London, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Sir Hall Caine, British novelist and dramatist, is reported to be seriously ill at his home on the Isle of Man. He is 78 years old.

Lady Caine and other members of his family are said to have been summoned to his bedside in Greba Castle, so serious is his condition. He has been engaged on plays and books for nearly fifty years and was once described as the wealthiest novelist in the world.

Twenty Killed in Revolt at Lisbon

Lisbon, Aug. 27.—A revolutionary movement which cost the lives of 20 people, and in which upward of 120 persons were injured, broke out in Lisbon Wednesday, but was quickly suppressed by troops loyal to the administration of President Oscar Carmona.

Lisbon tonight was heavily guarded by troops in field uniform and tanks and armored cars rumbled through the streets.

More than 500 persons were arrested, including a number of former members of Parliament and former officers of the army. The military commander tonight issued an ordinance ordering all persons indoors after midnight and warned that any persons carrying arms would be shot ct sight.

LABOR ISSUES MANIFESTO ON MONEY CRISIS

Takes Outspoken Stand Against U. S. Bankers

"CRISIS" BEGINS

Organized Labor is Opposed to National Government

London, Aug. 27 (AP)—Organized Labor in Great Britain definitely repudiated Premier Ramsay MacDonald's new national government today in a joint manifesto by the Trades Union Congress and the Parliament Labor party charging that "private banking interests" had precipitated the present financial crisis and change of government.

"A new coalition government for which the Labor movement repudiates all responsibility has been formed," the manifesto said. "Such a government of persons acting without authority has no claim."

"It is determined to attack the standard of living of the workers to meet the situation caused by policies pursued by private banking interests in control of which the public had no part."

London, Aug. 27 (AP)—A. J. Cook, leader of the Miners' Federation—"Spokesman of the General strike days—read a joint manifesto by two important Labor organization condemning the new national government today and said:

"This means war. In my opinion the whole thing is a plot to down Labor."

It is predicted that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald will retire from politics when the present parliament is dissolved.

Armed Men Hold Up Winnipeg Bank Branch

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—Two six-foot robbers, armed with guns, stuck into a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada here yesterday afternoon and within a few minutes had disappeared in motor car with between $8,000 and $9,000 of the bank's funds. In the interim they had locked four members of the bank staff and a lone customer in the vault and trapped up all the money in sight.

The whole were fired during the progress of the carefully planned holdup. Unmasked and quiet, the bandits entered the bank at the noon hour. At the point of guns, the staff and the single customer were ordered into the vault, and while two stood guard over them the time the chamber had been opened, the bandits did vanished.

Manager J. Thorarson of the bank branch is situated in a well and residential sector, stated the robbers were both "about 6 feet of age" and of slight build. One had a heavy growth of beard. Police immediately opened a hunt for the gunmen, though without details as to the direction in which they fled. No trace of them had been found tonight.

LINES SEVERED

Twister Moves From Estevan to Arcola Rapidly

Estevan, Sask., Aug. 27—Sweeping down from the west early last night, a tornado took the life of one man injured two others, and inflicted much damage on property in and adjoining Estevan.

Robert Mitchell Henderson, of Calgary, partner in the bridge contracting firm of Henderson and Henderson of that city lost his life in a construction camp two miles west here. He was standing workmates to pin down the office tent against the fury of the gale when a flying timber struck him on the head, fracturing the skull and killing him instantly.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police investigated the accident within an hour in company with Dr. J. V. Milroy, who after hearing the story thought an inquest unnecessary. Henderson, who was a well known and family in Calgary, came here four days ago. He was a third degree Mason.

Box Cars Wrecked

Louis Conroy, of Estevan, and Dalton Miller, of Bienfait, both laborers on the construction gang, suffered shock and bruises by flying timbers. They were brought to Estevan Hospital for treatment.

Extensive damage was done at the strip-mining plant of the Truax-Sear coal company where the tornado started box cars rolling along the line for a mile and each then smashing into the prairies and burning as fuel in the district were blown down.

Bridge Fallsdown

Splintered the matchwood, the half-mile trestle bridge on the Nepawa branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, five miles from town, was demolished by the storm and most of the large D. L. Irvine residence on Second Street was torn off and flying timbers from an uprooted garage pounded a hole in the home of Manager Bannatyne.

Standing in the kitchen of her home well-of town, Mrs. Bannatyne L. McLeod, wife of Provincial Member of Assembly for Estevan, was cut in the left arm by flying glass, which was driven by the storm.

Shingle Passed Through House

Shingle passed through the house on Third Street, E. Wilkinson, saw a shingle dart through a window on one side of the house and out the other pane on the other with the force of a bullet.

Countless trees, fences, chimneys, barns and poles were mowed down by the gale. Houses were torn from their foundations in store fronts were blown out. Sign boards were scattered over the town.

The tornado lasted about 20 minutes.

A Soo Line train "that passed through the district was badly battered by hail half the size of a hen's egg. Many of the windows were broken on the train.

Arcola Hailstorm

Arcola, Sask., Aug. 27—Arcola last night presented a bedraggled appearance after a hailstorm of "terrific" size, the town, tearing down doors and windows, flooding in hundreds of windows in private houses, stripping plate glass windows in the business streets, and uprooting trees by the hundreds. Thousands of dollars worth of damage was done in private homes when windows were blown in and rain streamed in the rooms. Gardens were beaten flat and crops in which fell in great quantities and vegetables were left lying on the ground.

Telephone communication with adjacent villages and towns was cut off.

The little chap was playing and in running from a playmate, he accidentally collided with a lady carrying a large pitcher of hot coffee. The coffee spilled over the little fellow's scalding him very severely. He was taken at once to the General Hospital where he received medical attention. Today he is resting fairly well.

Revision in Book of Common Praise Favored

A recommendation that the Hymn- and Comminee proceed with a revision of the Book of Common Praise, which will be presented during the forthcoming session of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, is also suggested in that a collection of easy anthems be published annually, is made in the report.

After consultation with Church musicians and after examining the many hymns that have appeared in the last quarter of a century, it seems to us clear that it is advisable and even necessary to include in our hymnal some of the great new hymns and tunes that have been written, and the many that have been made," reads the committee's report. "Provision for the necessary arrangements should be provided, and other enrichments made."

The attention of Synod will be drawn to a number of hymns which are not now included in the hymnal and to hymns and tunes that were not available for the hymnal twenty-five years ago, including "Holy Holy Holy," "He Who Would Valiant Be," "O Valiant Hearts," "The Watches of the Night Are Met," "Lo! the North, Rejoice," "O Canada," "Lord of the Lands, Beneath Thy Footstool Sitest," "For All the Saints," "And Did Those Feet in Ancient Times," "Was in the Moon of Wintertime."

To make room for more than one hundred replacements there would have to be some hymns and tunes left out, the report suggests. A collection of hymns for little children is also recommended, which might be printed in a words edition and be available for special occasions and festivals in the Church.

FIREMEN TEAR DOWN KITCHEN TO SAVE HOUSE

Tourists Carry Out Furniture From Front Room Home

HOUSE IS SAVED

Two Well Pumped Dry by Helping Neighbors

Threatening the whole house a fire that broke out in the kitchen at the back of Mr. Clayton Tuckey's home on the Trenton road early Wednesday evening, did considerable damage before it was checked. The origin of the blaze is unknown as yet but after it was discovered the Belleville fire department were called on for help. Chief Lynch had to turn out with him and they fought to the best of their ability in the face of little or no facilities to work with, the blaze being beyond their control. At this stage of the fire Chief Lynch suggested tearing down the kitchen so as to save the residence itself. The request met with open hands in the project and before, many minutes they had demolished the back kitchen thus saving the larger building.

So dangerous did the fire look all the furniture and private belong ing was removed from the dwelling. At one time during the height of the blaze the people present thought they would have to abandon all hope of the whole structure. A bucket brigade was formed which worked boundlessly toward saving the home. Neighbors and firemen passing worked their way through their united efforts saved the better part of the building.

Again at about three a.m. this morning fire broke out under the flooring but after cutting away the woodwork they soon extinguished the blaze.

The building was insured but the amount could not be ascertained as Mr. Tucker had just recently moved into the residence.

This promises to be a red hot encounter as the typos are determined to take this game or know the reason why. In the game at Cannifton last evening Doyle pitched a fine game for the Printers while Webb did likewise for the villagers. Stewart umpired behind the bat with Rollins on bases. Batteries were, Printers, Hardwick and Doyle, Cannifton, Smallborn and Webb.

ST. MICHAEL'S ON PICNIC

Very Successful Revival of Summer Outing is Staged

Ideal weather and a large attendance blessed the picnic held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of St. Michael's Church. The event took place in the fine grounds owned by the church and located on the boundary between the western limits of the city and the town ship of Thurlow. The park is also adjacent to the city that is better adapted for picnicking than this grove being in close proximity to the city, no one has far to leave the city. Not only were many from the country over to be seen, Monsignor J. F. Nicholson, rector of the church here, was in command of the affair and was ably assisted by an energetic committee. No pains were spared to make all enjoyable for the patrons. An excellent programme of sports was provided and these were heartily participated in not only by the Younger generation, but those older people had a chance to enjoy a pleasant afternoon and evening and one long to be remembered by all.

Sports Event

In the early part of the evening a chicken supper was served in the commodious building upon the grounds and the tables were piled with the good things provided by the ladies of the congregation.

Miss Anna Hurley was the general superintendent and she was admirably assisted by ladies from the various wards of the city. The supper was all that could have been desired and it was faultlessly served. Tables had the best of attendance before all who desired could be accommodated. Following the tasking of the supper C. Govery Bon Ton Orchestra rendered some lusty selections.

About the grounds was a refreshment booth where soft drinks, ice cream and candies were served and it was liberally patronized. The booth was in charge of officers and committees of the Children of Mary as was also the grab-bag or fish pond booth. There was also the game of Bingo and these games proved a thriving attraction. All in all, it was a tired but happy crowd.

After all had been served the supper the tables were cleared and removed for dancing which was indulged in by many. Suitable music was provided by Reg. Brockburn's Orchestra. This part of the days programme was continued until a late hour.

AMUSEMENTS

BIG RACE AT AQUA CALIENTE IS SHOT FOR "SWEEPSTAKES"

Followers of the turf, or anyone interested in the thrilling sport of the horses, will enjoy "Sweepstakes," a thrilling comedy-drama of the racetrack and polities, romance, comedy, thrills and pathos, and starring Eddie Quillan, which opens at the Belle tomorrow, a most entertaining picture. The story concerns the exploits of a rodeo jockey who sacrificed his career because of loyalty to a former employer and friend. The story is fresh, thrilling and is a refreshing return to the well-established honest drama, with a brand new twist.

The last Agua Caliente Handicap, a pillop for gold recognized as the richest and most spectacular stake race in the realm of racetrack, provides one of the most exciting events in this picture. Night scenes in Tia Juana, the Mexican Border resort, and additional racing events at the Tanforan Race Track near San Francisco were also filmed by Director Sidney Lanfield in their authentic locales. Eddie Quillan will be seen as a jockey in "Sweepstakes," while his talented leading lady, Marion Nixon, is said to offer a pleasing interpretation of a charming girl with a mind of her own. Other important players in the cast are James Gleason, Lew Cody, Frederic Burton and Paul Hurst.

"YOUNG AS YOU FEEL" IS WILL ROGERS FUNNIEST

"Ma, an actor? They're kiddin' you," once remarked Will Rogers, "If they can find a role that's sorta like me and then let me be natural." Which is the understanding Rogers has of himself.

And this is the best reason to be found for the appeal and delight fulness of his new Fox production, "Young As You Feel," which opened yesterday before a large audience at the Belle Theatre. Rogers is Rogers, and as such he has no equal on the screen today. His character of Lemuel Morehouse fits the himself perfectly. It affords him his best opportunity to be just what he is, plain everyday, American father and citizen.

Admirers of Rogers will be thoroughly delighted with his donning of "dress" clothes in this hilarious comedy drama, which was adapted from George Ade's well known stage play "Father And I." Will Rogers appears all dressed up in stiff collars, formal dress, spats and cane. And after one recovers from the original shock, the effect is quite pleasing since Rogers adapts himself to his latest figure sets off admirably the latest Bond Street models.

In the chief feminine role, Pitt Dorsey, repeats her initial success with Rogers in their first talking picture. They have also the fair Fox Sterling allure and French vivacity possible for such mirth and genuine entertainment.

Again we are indebted to that masterful director, Frank Borzage, whose skilful and artistic hand is noticeable throughout the entire picture.

An excellent supporting cast surrounds Rogers, headed by that splendid comedian, Richard Tuttle-field. Donald Dillaway, Terrance Ray, Rosalie Roy and Leslie Brown are the four young people whose heart affairs blend a nice note of romance through the laughable escapades of Rogers and Pitt.

Four varied and highly entertaining short subjects complete the exhibition of the feature attraction. The entire program will be repeated again tonight, for the last time and is well worth seeing.

"LION AND LAMB" IN FINISH FIGHT AT THE CAPITOL

The literary genius arising from various countries throughout the world has not found a better producer than E. Phillips Oppenheim, writer of mystery stories which stand in a class of their own. There is nothing harsh or uncouth about the little figure sets off admirably the latest Bond Street models.

The examination of large numbers of persons leaves no doubt of the superb need of a service such as ours. Close to half the total population of any community need help in seeing. That fact should make many suspicious of the service their eyes are giving. It follows that possibly YOU, the reader, are not seeing with the comfort you should.

WEDDINGS

FAUX—GUAY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at eight o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Michael's Church when Veronica Mary Guay, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guay, Corbyville, became the bride of Kenneth Joseph Faux, son of Mrs. H. Clarke and the late Joseph Faux, Bellville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Baker.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father looked lovely in a gown of powder blue georgette trimmed with radium lace and lea, the bride travelling in an en ensemble of blue, shoes of the same shade.

Miss Agnes Foley of Marmora, cousin of the bride was becoming ly attired in a pale green silk frock with hat to match.

Mr. Stephen Taylor of this city acted as groomsman.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, Mrs. Guay received with the young couple in a gown of black silk and Mrs. Faux in white crepe de chine.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Faux left by motor on a trip to eastern cities, the bride travelling in an en

DISTILLERIES TO BE MERGED?

Conference Now Taking Place in England, Report Says

Important conferences are taking place in England, Financial Counsel learns, between representatives of the three leading distillers of Canada, and it is expected by those in close touch with this situation that a merger may be effected within the next ten days. It seems to be the general impression, also that the present negotiations will either be effective within a very short time, or that this will mark the end of an attempt to bring together these three groups for a considerable time to come.

That some reason or other it was considered advisable by one or two of the units of G carry on the negotiations in England and Scotland. Edinburgh is the headquarters, of course, of the controlling factor in Distillers Corporation - Seagram. Distillers Corp. Ltd. The following are the representatives of the three groups now in conference in the Old Country: Distillers Corporation-Seagram's, Messrs. Harry and Allan Bronfman; Ehram Walker-Gooderham and Worts, H. C. Hatch, chairman of the board; W. J. Hume, president and general manager, and Duncan Macleod, a director; the Canadian Industrial Alcohol is represented by one of the directors.

Distillers Corporation - Seagrams goes into the negotiations that are exciting to find some common basis for bringing all three together, with the distinct advantage of having by far the largest domestic sales, and also exceeding very considerably the combined export business of the other two. Walker's on its side, is strongly entrenched in the export trade as a result of a sale of stock, the proceeds of which have not yet been utilized for any special purpose. The three companies have been combining for some months past under a pooling agreement in connection with the export sale of their products. It is generally recognized that with conditions has favorable now than they were a year or two ago for the industry, it would be to the advantage of all to bring together the three largest organizations in Canada under one management. Of the three, Distillers-Seagrams is paying 8l a share on its stock, with Walker paying 50c and Canadian Industrial Alcohol not making any dividend disbursement. Distillers Corporation - Distillers-Seagrams' stock has ranged from a high of 12 7-8 to a low of 6 with the current price around 9; Walker has had a high of 8 1-4 and a low of 4 1-4, with the present range around 5 a share, while Canadian Industrial Alcohol has had a high for the year of 8 1-2 and a low of 1 1-4 with the present level around 2 to 2 1-4.

BENZOL USE PROHIBITED

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 27.—Use of benzol in Ontario factories is prohibited in an order issued by Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, Provincial Minister of Public Works and Labor.

"Thus use of benzol has been proven to the Department to be injurious to the health of individuals. That fact has been demonstrated on the evidence of chemists who have investigated, and the Labor Department has prohibited the use of benzol," said Dr. Monteith.

Appearing for public examination in bankruptcy at Northampton, a former sergeant major said one reason for his failure was that, being in the army for 22 years, he lost touch with civil life.

WANTED A LARGE ATTENDANCE

Everyone should plan to attend every day of the four days of Belleville fair next week. The program which will be offered will be one of which the directors are justly proud because they know it will please.

The fair has grown from last year as the requirement of additions in the way of sheds and other accommodations show.

The interest is more widespread throughout the district as indicated by greater entry lists.

Here is an instance of what to expect in one line. One cattle breeder is bringing twenty-four head of Ayrshires in two stock cars. Hector Wood is bringing one carload and another breeder is bringing a carload of the same breed. If one breed of cattle is so largely represented, what may not be expected in the other classes?

Confidence in what the directors and officers have arranged for the benefit of the people is what will make for a large attendance at the annual exhibition.

CRIME COSTS

One billion dollars, the estimated cost of crime per year in the United States, does not take account of those things which cannot be estimated in dollars and cents but which is counted in blood and suffering, in stunted and ruined lives, in disappointments of colossal magnitude, when the aim of life is lost in criminality. The throwing away of the real things of life for a handful of dust and ashes at the end is the sad experience of those who walk the thorny way to the everlasting bonfire.

One hundred million dollars in the estimate of the billion is made up of insurance premiums against theft or destruction. Three hundred million is the loss through non-production by criminals, prisoners and enforcement officers. All the cities of over 25,000 population cost five dollars a head to maintain order or a total of $250,000,000.

Commenting upon crime the New York Times says the cities of the United States are under-policed as compared with England's cities. Besides crime prevention is more difficult in a country where so many nationalities are mingled.

SHAW HEALTHY, WEALTHY AND WISE

Bernard Shaw is possessed of wealth because primarily of his genius for creating what is precious to mankind in the form of drama and because he knows how to save. Bernard believes in the steady trickle of fifteen cent royalties instead of the one big hit. His plays are household words throughout the civilized world —for it is a civilized world he deals with —and many small theatre groups are handling the Shaw plays for their sophistication and their keen comment upon contemporary life.

He is a wise man who can make money and a wiser man who can keep it from vampires, bandits, and all forms of tricksters. Had Shaw lived in Ontario in the past five years doubtless the mining brokers would not have got much out of him. Shaw knows too much of the world to put his trust in the flighty, and he believes in the gentle rain of money which falls into his purse and stays there to breed as fast as Shylock's.

Would all men were as wise as Shaw!

LIGHTS WITH A DUAL PURPOSE

The artificial lights of the future will kill two birds with one stone—they will not only furnish illumination but their radiation will be health-giving even as are the rays of the sun.

This hope is editorially extended to us by an editorial in Power Plant Engineering (Chicago). The result, we are told, is to be brought about by the use of ultra-violet rays.

Quartz mercury arc lamps, potent radiators of ultra-violet, have been used by physicians for many years, but only recently, lamps of a similar nature, safe for public use, have been generally available. The transformer, which is essential for its operation, is located in the base of the standard. Says the magazine named above:

"The latest efforts have been toward producing lamps that simulate sunlight. Lamps of this kind are already available, and, while they have been sold primarily for purposes of home treatment they are beginning to be considered as sources of general illumination.

"There can be no question that the illuminating-engineer of the future will design lighting installations with the view of not only enabling us to see but also of keeping us healthy. From such artificial sunlight, no less benefit is to be expected than from midsummer sunlight—much more, in fact, than is obtained from summer sunlight in smoky cities and from winter sunlight everywhere in middle and higher latitudes.

"Particularly in industry where workers are required to spend most of the daylight hours indoors and in offices where the biological effectiveness of natural light is practically lost, this type of lighting will prove of immense benefit."

LET IT FLOW ON
By Aline Michaelis

Let it flow on, the river to the sea;
Seek not with barriers to stem the tide
Still surging outward eager to be free
And moved by need that will not be denied.

Now creeping downward with a stealthy pace,
Now at full flood that batters at the shore,
Only intent to find the ocean's face,
To add its voice where winds and waters roar.

Let it flow on, the love you can not keep
Walled in one heart, pent in one throbbing brain,
The love that will not pause, that does not sleep,
Too strong for any threats of fear or pain.

Like the swift river running to the sea,
Make your love part of Love's immensity.

EXCURSIONS TO MOOSE HARBOR on James Bay may feature the vacation season next summer, and oh, boy! what a thrill! to stand on the shores of James Bay and look out over the expanse of waters toward Hudson Bay while memory brings back the childhood tales of adventures by ship and flood with the Gentlemen Adventurers of the Hudson Bay Company and the various rival companies which sought to divide the rich fur trade with the parent company, given a kingdom by a generous king. Steel will be laid into Moose Factory by September 4, according to George W. Lee, Chairman of the T. and N. O. Railway Commission, who has just returned from a visit to the seaport of the Ontario Government Railway (the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario R'y.) Mr. Lee states that the formal opening will likely be held in the spring because so many have expressed a desire to go in the fall that the congestion would be too great for the facilities available at present. Thus is the Great Lone Land being conquered and it will soon be as easy to visit Hudson Bay as it is now to visit Cobalt Silver Camp and the Porcupine Gold Camp. It is eminently fitting that the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway should be the first steel to reach Hudson Bay, a pioneer road constructed to aid settlement in Northern Ontario, and accidentally uncovering the buried millions of Cobalt and the treasure chest of Porcupine—much may result from the opening up of the northland of benefit to all Canada. Commissioner Lee is also a pioneer, a railway man of many years experience, and with the Ontario Government Railway from its inception. This people's railway opened up the great Clay Belt of Northern Ontario, also Cobalt, Porcupine and Kirkland Lake in the few hundred miles from North Bay to Cochrane. What treasure houses of wealth will be unlocked by the opening of the extension to Hudson Bay is yet in the lap of the gods, but sure it is that there will be no lack of adventurous souls ready to search out the hidden places and reveal the wealth of the farther northland in the years to come. In fact they are in there now, swallowed up in the bush making history with their bacon and beans and tranquil philosophy of life. Another glorious chapter in the history of Ontario and Canada is about to begin and the last will turn with the opening of the Ontario Government Railway to tidewater, with perhaps a repetition of Cobalt, of Porcupine, of Kirkland Lake. This century truly belongs to Canada, as Sir Wilfrid Laurier once said.

Other Papers' Opinions

All the reporters who haunted Downing Street and Buckingham Palace noted the deep depression amounting to chagrin and dejection, with which Mr. MacDonald met about his appointed task. His depression of spirit was more than frustrated personal ambition. He was not thinking of himself as an unsuccessful leader so much as of the harm done to the cause and the party with which his name had so long been significantly identified. It must have been a cruel blow to him when nearly half of the Labour members of the House of Commons refused to accept the policy of retrenchment which he had decided to be absolutely necessary. That half in the Labor party which in his Cabinet—forced him to advise the King that he could not carry on the Government. But so urgent did he believe the need of action along the lines favored by him that he was willing to accept the temporary position of head of a Government made up partly of his political opponents. This must have been a bitter cup presented to the lips of Ramsay MacDonald, but in a fine spirit of patriotic service he did not put it away from him. Some one must be given to the Conservative and Liberal leaders who were willing to subordinate themselves in the face of a national emergency.

Prime Minister MacDonald will have for no factors, more than deserves sympathy. In one way, he is a pitiable figure. On the other, he appears as a public servant proudly willing to sink himself in the common national effort. He can not be charged with selfishly clinging to office. This he could put aside, as he has done before, without a murmur or a regret. But if he laments the failure of the great socialistic experiment in Great Britain under his leadership, he must be buoyed up by knowing that he still has the respect of his fellow-countrymen and the continued admiration of his many friends across the sea.—New York Times.

The Beauty Box

By Helen Follett

You can't make Mrs.-Chin-chin believe that beauty troubles are only in your eye. She has two definite ones on her face, the chin that belongs there and the chin that doesn't. She hates her pet aversions and justly. But she can roll into one if she will with diligence, persistency. She needs only to roll the flesh between finger and thumb, first anointing with a massage cream. After five minutes of rolling let her lay on a bit of gauze that has been dipped in witch hazel, after which she must do a little facial refrigerating with a piece of ice.

That's been a bit of hair-cutting again this summer. Elegant to run short of hair again, burrow fingers up the left of the head through a short crop. No pigtail material to slow away. However, nobody can say whether short or shoulder length is the proper caper because they're running neck and neck, one style being exactly as good as the other. Who take your choice. The veil at the back makes a young girl look older, but some young girls look like that, the sweet little smocked creatures.

Heavy massage will batten down heavy upper arms. The supplicant for something thin there can't always do the job herself. Must get strong armed operator who doesn't care how hard she works. Swinging Indian clubs will make fat disappear; dumbbell exercises are recommended, lathy movement that pulls on muscles dissolves fatty tissues.

Eau de cologne is a useful toilet accessory. Take a shot of the toilet water from too oily hair. Rub into the scalp and dry the hair strand by strand with an old absorbent towel. Used on the complexion after the morning and before the day creaming it acts as an astringent and disinfectant. Pick-me into the skin when goose flesh is present.

Black hairs on the legs can be bleached with peroxide of hydrogen, though this chemical will not destroy the growth. Add three drops of household ammonia to two table spoonfuls of peroxide and apply with cotton.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beckman

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

I have been corresponding for a newspaper for a year and recently I was criticized quite severely for a short item which appeared in print. A local lady was entertaining a sister from another State for a few days and I wrote Mrs. Dorothy Smith of Black City, Blank State is spending a few days with her sister Mrs. H. R. Jones. This lady whom I have mentioned by using her sister's name "Dorothy" and has informed me that hereafter I must use Mrs. John Smith entirely.

I feel that either way is proper but I am not certain. Will you please enlighten me on this subject as I want to keep the good will of my friends who have been so kind in furnishing me with "news."

Reader.

I am so glad that you wrote me about this, for I realize how especially important this is to you, not only from a social point of view, but from a professional point of view as well. Please always give me the privilege of talking over with you anything of this kind that is troubling you. Will you?

Dear friend I wish that I could agree with you, and comfort you that either way is proper. But this is not true. You should have written "Mrs. John Smith" for always in formal items of this kind, we should use the formal form of the name. Perhaps it would be valuable to you if you keep in mind that it is always best form not to use, in the formal name, the first name of a married woman, a woman who is now married or a woman who is divorced, or a widow. Formally (as on her visiting card, or in such an item as you wrote), a married woman is always Mrs. John Smith. This too is the form for a widow. The best form for a divorced woman is Mrs. Dorothy Jones being the surname of her maiden name. So you see, the point is always to avoid the use of the informal first name.

Fashionably Speaking

By Lucille

Dear Readers:

"My cupboard is over-run with shoes, and I don't like them jammed in bags. What will I do with them," sighed a perplexed friend the other day. Do you probably not alone in her dilemma for it is amazing how shoes multiply, particularly as they are dancing slippers, and summer shoes. These are sturdy shoes for rainy days and smart plain pumps for afternoon wear to be worn on Sunday and every day walking shoes. They get miserably out of shape if neglected, and make a disorderly corner, even when you try your best to keep them in a substantive row.

Various persons has solved the problem by keeping the boxes in which the shoes arrived and covering them with cretonne to match her curtains. She pastes the cretonne to the box and makes a fancy affair of it. She makes two tiers of the boxes and this gives the effect of a pretty little cabinet. First, however, before putting the shoes away she cleans them or polishes. Then she has them always ready to don, for it is horrid to get ready for an interesting engagement, only to find that you will not get the shoes back unexpectedly. After cleaning them she slips into them, shoe trees so that her footwear will retain its stylish lines. Shoes respond to a little care. If you make a practice of hastening them to the shoemaker to remedy the first sign of a run down heel, or thinning sole they will keep their smart air ever so much longer than if you waited until they very last minute of their lives before bothering with them.

Shoes in travel are sometimes a problem. They must be carefully wrapped so that their soles will not soil the rest of your attire. One way of keeping them in place is by making little bags in pretty colors. If you are taking more than one pair of shoes and don't want to have to unpack them all during the day you may wish to wear an certain occasion, have the bags of different shades so that you will know where your dancing pumps or your golf shoes are without having to unroll them all.

It is always a good practice, too, in the card of the shoes to have two pairs for every day wear. You should wear them alternately and they will gain the added service that will justify the extra expense. Good footwear is an important item in your costume not only from a style but from a health standpoint. It is far better to pay more and select good quality shoes than to fall back on cheap ones that will give you no support and will lose their smart look with disconcerting swiftness.

Fashionably yours,
LUCILLE.

Fashion Fancies

It is a virtue to achieve cool comfort without sacrificing neatness and smartness. For warm evening's what could be nicer than an embroidered organdie frock with a red suede belt and matching red slippers. Organdie roses nestle against the collarless neck.

Just an oyster colored frock of lace tweed, but how smart it is. Maybe it is because it is so simply made and has a jacket and hint of turquoise tweed.

Be brilliant on a brilliantly sunny day at the beach and wear a vivid outfit. Smart is a beach ensemble in white with stripes of green and blue. The white cape, lined with red is scalloped and the one-piece pyjamas have button trimming. The material is linen.

A cool delight is to be found in the combination of pale green with silver. Thus we have a lovely summer evening ensemble consisting of a frock of pale green chiffon with a tracery of silver thread outlining a diamond embroidered there is a long coat of silver and green lame with wide revers and huge cuffs of ermine.

An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

By Beatrice Fairfax

That young people must see each other in an honorable, open, and above board fashion has been taken into account by the Hon. George Lambury, First Commissioner of Works in Premier MacDonald's cabinet, who is regarded by many as its brightest star.

This British statesman has planned a great, fragrant winter garden where young people of restricted home life may court and smother. Girls who live in hall bedrooms, or share a room with two or three other girls—or worse—find their love affairs completely forgotten that once on a time they were young and liked to do a little hand holding and whisper sweet nothings—will have Uncle George as he is known in England.

Last year we the United States echo the fervent with that some of our own public men—now engaged in crying their fitness for public office—should be hailed as their "Uncle George's" good common sense into account and follow in his footsteps.

For while it is our proud boast that we have more white porcelain bath tubs, fountains, automobiles, telephones, and bright and shiny speakeasies—per capita, than any other nation on earth, we are decidedly in arrears in providing pia ces for young folks to meet. Restricted home lives can meet and do a little honest-to goodness love making.

The older day I had a letter from a girl who objects to petting in an automobile but who says there's no other alternative. She is engaged, her family has a little store, and the only place she can see her young man is in the dining room while her folks are busy and opens on a porch. But father is always reading the books and wandering back and forth between both rooms.

Sometimes she takes the boy friend into the kitchen while her folks and family and then father decides to give that a trial, too. I wish I could give this girl letter in full, but there isn't space to do so. And it wouldn't interest me if she lost the young man who is getting pretty well fed up with the lack of courting facilities his fiancee's house and family afford.

It's just such conditions as this in hundreds of families in England that make spinsters, and has caused this 72-year-old cabinet member to undertake a spring garden. For 84 years he has lived in the East End of London, which is the city's poorest quarter.

Of this effect of growing up and living among the poor, he said in a recent speech in Liverpool: "I have learned to know the infinite courage and kindness of the poor. It is they and their selfish, nameless helpers of all creeds who have taught me that beyond all threatenings the key to the world's happiness is the existence of little children love one another." And the revision of the present cheerless service to your fellow men and women?

In addition to the winter garden, where boys and girls will find comfortable seats under romantic palm trees, Uncle George has made of London a happier place for the unemployed. For the first time in history he has allowed both men and women to bathe in the serpentine, London's beautiful paddling place. And he has provided public playgrounds, tennis courts, skating rinks and band concerts—"Uncle George" is a bachelor, but he sees to it that the children have their beer in public parks.

LEAGUE TITLE IS WON BY PONIES; DEFEAT NATS. 3 TO 2 IN WELL FOUGHT MATCH

(By C. D. T.)

The schedule is over.

But the stench will linger on.

Kingston Ponies are champions, today of the Central Ontario Baseball League but their thanks with many gratis shoots be sent to Alex Kay of Peterboro' treated Officially.

The Ponies defeated Belleville Nationals in the third and deciding game at the Fair Grounds in Kingston on Wednesday by a score of 3-2 but the ending was so unsatisfactory, that it left such a taint in the mouths of the many who witnessed the pastime, it will take a long time to clear.

The congratulations of the Belleville team and fans are extended to the Ponies for their winning of the championship and the win may be a good thing for baseball in Central Ontario. It is the hope of Belleville fandom, that the league will be one in name only for the future play-offs for the Provincial title but probably the most disappointed sportsmen of the Kingston team feel there is a certain taint in the winning of the gonfalon not due to the misplay of the members of the team playing but the alleged almost deliberate attempt to take away from the Belleville team what was rightfully theirs.

Weird Calling

It is a long time since such weird umpiring has been seen in any play-off as that exhibited by Alex Kay on Wednesday last. The Belleville team is not trying to allot for the defeat by the Belleville Nationals could always take a defeat and give one and the best of feeling prevail but after the contest was over but the umpiring that was exhibited, particularly in the last innings, is the kind that ruins baseball leagues and drives the baseball fans from ball parks. Two decisions were given against the Belleville team in the game, one in the fifth frame on Bob Scott at first base and the other on Jimmy Arniel in the ninth at first base. To understand the plays referred to those who were present will forever if an explanation as to how the situations arose is given to those not privileged to attend.

How It Happened

In the first instance, the fifth innings, "Hoot" Gibson was given free transportation and Bob Scott followed with a scratch hit down the third base line. Both runners were taking a long lead, when Jimmy Arniel called for a pitchout in an attempt to cut off Scott at the base. The play was made but Scott made the bag in safety but not with the ball. Kay walked the runner out although Stone, the first baseman made the second stab at him. As Scott was called at first, was leaving the bag "what a break." The fans knew about that one and but the best call of the day was to follow. Scott was on the second base in the ninth, when his single took the ball boy from Arniel's throw in left field. Jamieson popped to Mills. Vince Scrutton followed with a hit. Gibson was apparently out of a bad ball, but Mills and Scott did not see down to "Sunny" Green. Here is where "Curly" Arniar made a blunder along with his partner, Mr. Kay. McQuade went up the base line and stopped to watch Coach Green, who had to move back to take the ball on account of there not being room for the play. McQuade should have been called out for interference but apparently, Mr. Kather was a little scared as the screening in front of the grandstand was not to his liking. After all the interference, Green fielded the ball and threw to Cretney. The first sacker took the ball up on the baseline and tagged Arniel so hard he rolled over and over but he got yet Mr. Kay in his wisdom, called the runner safe, claiming he had touched first base yet. McQuade, however, crossed the plate and scored on the play and the ball game was on.

A Real Game

Let us get back to the ball game. With the weird decisions, at al, the game was an interesting one of the pastime and the customers were given many anxious moments. There was some fielding plays, smart hurling and inside baseball, that would have done credit to any ball club. Walter Grove elected to start Tommy Pointer after his good game in Belleville although defeated, but he was not the southpaw's day. The left hander was set in a tough spot for he was with only one rear's experience in big time ball and unfortunately overcame him. He was taken out in the fourth and Gibson seconded the hurling peak and although he hurled good ball was charged with loss. The manager of the Nationals let the toss for choice of innings and all was set to win the ball game but the old superstition did not work out. Pitted against his namesake Staff of the National's was "Tammy" Jamieson, who had the pleasure of beating the Nats twice during the series. He did not have as much in the way of stuff but the Nats helped him on the way by hitting the first ball instead of waiting him out. He used a straight ball with good control and a slight hook, that puzzled the Nats especially in the pinches. Belleville hit the ball harder in the game, than the Ponies, but they could not get into nor over the runners were on the paths. He allowed eight hits and walked two but his support was excellent. The same can be said of the support given both Gibson and Pointer.

Filled Bases Twice

Twice Tommy Pointer before he was relieved filled the bases with no one out and only one run resulted. Two runs were scored off the offerings of Gibson and he allowed six hits against two by Pointer in three innings. Pointer was wild walking three, while Gibson sent two down in the first four batters of the walks resulting in Kingston's first run, the walk being issued by Pointer.

The two teams clicked off three double plays, two of them being manufactured by Belleville. The two made by the Nats were sensational, Alex Weir making a perfect peg to home catching a runner at the plate after disposing of the batter on the fly ball. The other was engineered by Cretney alone, when he snatched a line drive and stepped on first to complete the double. Scrutton in left field made a spectacular catch on Murray Green, while Tommy Boyd at short for Kingston made two perfect pickups and threw the runners out. Quinn completed Kingston's doubles when he scooped up a tough grounder, tagged the runner going to second and threw to get the batter to first.

The ball season is practically closed now in Belleville, the Juniors letting the only team in the running, but it has been a good season and the fans have been treated to fair baseball. The best team is not representing the Central Ontario League in the playoffs but probably it will be a happy thought for Mr. Kay in the years that are to come, as he looks back over his noble exploits in the interest of better baseball for Central Ontario.

xKingston will carry the Central League banner into the O.B.A.A. playoffs this year. It was a bitter pill to swallow for the locals especially the way the game ended. Umpire Kay at one time could have been Lord mayor of the City of Belleville, but "these days am gone forever."

We do not question the decisions of umpires as a rule, but even the Kingston fans admitted after the game that "his alibi" beat the Nats by his calling "Jimmie" Arniel safe in the final innings at first base. Arniel was the only player there after the game. But we know that he has yet to touch first base.

"Tammie" Jamieson covered himself well after when he again turned back the local Nats yesterday. (May he continue his good pitching in the play-offs) The Kingston team fought back and played the best game of the year. While the Nats had plenty of chances to score if they had have hit with the bases populated. Again in the fifth inning umpire Kay called "Hoot" Scott out at first base and later admitted to coach "Cy" Young that he had missed the play. (Great stuff for an experienced umpire.)

The "Ponies" now meet the Beachers of Toronto in the final round of the senior O.B.A.A. play-downs. The Beachers must be good to win from Belleville's old rivals, Bell Telephone. But if the Ponies battle back like they have in the Central League play-offs they will take a lot of beating before they drop the series to the Toronto Beaches.

Win, lose or draw the Kingston fans will find that the Belleville supporters are behind them. (It was ever thus.)

All we have in Belleville now is the B.A.A.A. juniors to cheer for. These kids are playing a benefit game for their pitcher "Cliff" Smith tonight. Smith broke his arm pitching for the Associated kids in Peterboro and thus the game. (The cause is good.)

On Saturday the B.A.A.A. kids go to Toronto to meet the winners of the Junior T.A.B.A. at the Island Stadium. The game is the first half of a double header and is called at 1.15 p.m. The Columbus Terrace's junior winners, are a smart team and the local kids will have to put their backs to the wall to win the series.

On the shoulders of "Shiv" Wilkins falls the brunt of the pitching duty. "Webb" Carter, Ma. M.A.A.A. middleweight will get a chance in the pitcher's box before the season has ended.

By the way it might be well to mention the hitting of Cretney and Arniel yesterday. They had the Ponies worried all evening. (We welcome Jack Daly back into the league again.) Joe managed the Ponies last night (?)

The CIACO girls won the first game of the softball finals. Although the National Maids led the league all season they fell behind the heavy hitting Corbyville lassies in the first game. (Hits win ball games.)

Those who went down to Victoria Park to laugh at Tommy Pedder swimming the river remained to cheer the boy along.

The boy took on all comers and finished four miles a winner as a daisy. Perhaps he is better than the citizens of Belleville thought he was.

In a Belleville and District Softball League game last night at Canniffton the Printers came home on the short end of a 7 to 1 score. The Printers seemed able to do nothing but make errors and Canniffton made good use of them. The Printers play Picton tonight in Picton and a good game is expected.

PEDDER SHOWS HIS STAMINA

Belleville's entry into the C.N.E. marathon swim made a name locally for himself yesterday afternoon when he gave an exhibition in front of Victoria Park. Tommy Pedder the boy in question gave a demonstration of his ability in swimming and many of those who went to scoff remained to cheer the lad. He took on some of the local swimmers in short sprints when they felt inclined to jump into the water and try their powers against him.

Yesterday morning he swam five miles in the Moira River and followed this feat by swimming four more yesterday afternoon. The kid finished his exhibition in fine condition and proved to those present that he was in wonderful condition and ready to enter the big swim in Toronto next week.

In yesterday afternoon's exhibition young Pedder swam from the park to the lighthouse and back many times and those who remained to cheer the lad along remained to laugh at the fans present that he could hold his own with some of the best swimmers in the country. Pedder's Belleville entry into the amateur five mile race in Toronto, got into the water with young Pedder for a short sprint but was quite willing to call it a day rather than hook up in a duel with the local "splasher."

Young Pedder has all the qualifications of a swimmer and although he may not win the big event in Toronto this year he will be one of the best swimmers that has ever been produced on the Quinte district.

After his showing in the Moira Lake swim Pedder has the admiration of all the big swimmers who were present and they stated that if the boy continues to show improvement he will be heard from in the near future. But after yesterday's exhibition Pedder made a host of friends in Belleville and will carry their good wishes to Toronto.

TARZAN OF THE APES — No. 16 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.)

Tarzan had early learned to form ropes by twisting and tying long grasses together. By constant experimenting, he learned to tie rude knots and make sliding nooses. Then, with painstaking practise, he learned the art of roping. He would catch some playfellow Usha, to the others apes' unlimited amusement. To Tarzan the closed and silent cabin was always a source of never ending mystery and pleasure. His own connection with the cabin had never been told him. Kala had explained vaguely that his father had been a strange white ape. He didn't know that Kala was not his own mother.

The apes avoided the deserted abode. Only too well they remembered its deadly thunder-stick! One day Tarzan found the door, spending hours examining it and fussing with the hinges, the knob, and latch. Finally he stumbled upon the right combination—the door swung creakingly open before his astonished eyes.

Tarzan slowly and cautiously entered. He saw three skeletons, giving but passing heed. The other contents riveted his attention! He opened chests, examining minutely strange tools, weapons, books, and clothing. Finding a sharp hunting knife, he immediately cut his finger. A curious illustrated alphabet interested him greatly, Dusk was approaching. Tarzan departed, taking the hunting knife to show his fellows. Suddenly a great form sprang out—it was Bolgani, the huge gorilla! Tarzan knew he must stand and fight for his life. He met the brute midway in its charge. They rolled upon the ground in the fierce frenzy of combat.

RACE OF IRON MEN DEVELOP

Pitchers in Seven-Innings Game Stage Fine Performances

(By the Associated Press)

The custom of playing only seven innings games in the majors in charge of double headers seems to be developing a whole race of "iron men" in the International League instead of the rare exception it is in other leagues where pitchers who have earned this title, Since Ray Starr of Rochester, who has won games from Jersey City but 19 times either pitchers of both games of double bills, the Star shot has become the real man of iron nerves in the weeks later that he again pitched two games, winning the second, Saturday, the opener.

Closest of Montreal, who also displayed strength by piloting a full game then serving as a relief hurler on the second, and Fred Goldsmith of Toronto also have done so two games on one day.

The list, in addition to the iron men list is Leslie Bell, veteran of Buffalo, who worked both games against the Montreal Royals, probably the most remarkable performance for such a feat, and got no even break at that. Baumhardt gave nine hits in the opener and was a bit off in the second, but held him up with 15 blows. In the second game he got only seven safeties but Johnny Pomorski prov ided a 10th inning homer and won his 19th victory of the season 3 to 2.

Starr, although pitching only one game this time, defeated Rochester 4 to 3, when Buffalo got first place from a single point to a half game. Although he has a record of 19-8 Starr's effective hurling enabled him to win the league's batting from Jersey City 4 to 3. Ira Smith did the trick of the second work, giving the starters only three hits in the second game for his 11 to 6 win.

Newark kept pace as far as possible, winning the first game from Buffalo by a 1 to 0 count in a close night encounter. Leo Mangan was the Bison Could fought it out on the mound, aided by brilliant defensive play on the part of his successive hits by Cohen, Boone and Jordan in the 10th inning caused the only run.

Baltimore dropped back a full game in the pennant race as 22 innings of baseball failed with Toronto produced only a single victory for the Leafs. Toronto took the first game, 9 to 4 when Frank Barnes pitched route ball and start.

The Orioles twice came from behind to tie in regular time, only squaring it up for the last time in the seventh. The Leafs had their chance to do the same thing in the twelfth when they scored after Baltimore had taken a 4-3 lead.

GOLFER MAKES HOLE-IN-ONE

T. G. Tilley Joins Elect Group of Golfing Enthusiasts

"The thrill of a lifetime," was the statement made by T. George Tilley, of the Manor of Belleville and after he had made a hole-in-one at the golf tournament held yesterday at Cobourg.

Accompanying his fellow members of the Bay of Quinte Golf Club to their match in Cobourg yesterday, George Tilly had the distinction of completing the ideal of every golfer when he made a hole-in-one on the second hole of the course. The drive is about 125 yards and through quite a bit of rough but Mr. Tilly timed his drive perfectly and the ball rolled onto the green and fell quietly into the cup. Mr. Tilly is today receiving many rounds of applause for his feat, that is the object and goal of every keen golfer.

The Belleville Club, which Dr. Faulkner of Bridge Street East, also made history for the Cobourg course when he "burned up" the course to play it one under par. Dr. Faulkner's score for Cobourg course is 72 while George turned in a score of 71 which is also considered a record of praise.

Even though the local golfers broke all records, they were unfortunately defeated by the match by the Cobourg golfers by the score of 10 to 26. The members of the Bay of Quinte Country Golf Club returned to Belleville last night singing praises of the hospitality of the Cobourg Golf Club. They report that they were received and treated royally and a delightful time had by all.

BRAMPTON CHAMPIONS

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Brampton Excelsiors are champions of Ontario again, and they did it the last night of the laurels. Last evening at Weston the Canadian Soccer League champion ed superiority over Toronto Native Sons and won the final by 10 to 5. Excelsiors were just too good for their opponents and after half-time the game developed into a rout, with the fans in full retreat.

Expecting a keen struggle, many fans journeyed to the Weston field but they were doomed to disappointment, the Torontonians never being in danger after the first 15 minutes of play. Sons could do nothing right. Excelsiors smothered them with speed and airtight check and the first goal soon came and they are, dominated the situation.

CHAPTER XXVII

Upon this tableau burst Collin, running from his room, a bathrobe over his pyjamas, his feet bare. He took in the surface situation at a glance. Pynchon, pale, ice cold with determination, the revolver in her steady hand. Mrs. Carstairs sitting upright in bed, the clothes tossed about her, her lips set, her eyes bright with outrage; "Collin" their late guest, still in the romantic costume, an overcoat partly concealing it, standing against the dresser, his hand held high, his lips curved to a sneer; and on the dresser, the open jewel case.

"Give me the gun, Evelyn," said Collin, quietly, "and telephone for the police."

There was no telephone extension in Jennie's bedroom. That much privacy she demanded. She had been regretting it for the last few minutes.

"Evelyn?" asked Tony, speaking for the first time. He laughed, "Hand still, Pynchon," he ordered sharply, "and make your explanations and then we'll see if Mrs. Carstairs will be so anxious to bring the police into this."

"What do you mean?" asked Jennie, as Collin's face darkened with angry blood, "by speaking to my niece in such a fashion?"

"She is not your niece," Tony said coolly. "She planned this coup with me. But it didn't quite come off." His eyes went to Pynchon in an unutterable expression of menace, mixed with a certain sardonic triumph, "she feared, possibly, to exchange the easy flesh pots for the uncertain existence of a gangster's girl," said Tony.

"What the hell is this all about?" demanded Collin.

Pynchon spoke then. She spoke with extreme quiet. She said:

"This situation is absurd. We aren't getting anywhere, Collin, take—take Tony into the library. Keep him covered. Tie him up, if necessary. And then, I'll tell you the truth. After that you can decide what to do with him—and with me."

"What truth?" asked Mrs. Carstairs quickly. She spoke, reaching for her robe and slippers. Her face had aged terribly but her voice was low and her expression had not changed. Pynchon's heart went out to her on a wave of sorrowful love and admiration. But she dared not look at Collin again as she answered.

"The truth about myself. He is quite right. I am not your niece. I am not Evelyn Howard. I am Pynchon Meredith."

"Hoo—Evelyn," gasped Collin.

Had she looked at him then she would have seen that a flash of most incredible joy swept over his face, blotting out the amazement. Then, the amazement returned. He darted a look at Tony who, hands still high, leaned against the dresser.

Tony smiled evilly. Nothing was apparent in Collin's face now but sheer male anger.

"I'm getting rather tired of this position," said Tony blandly.

"Wait a moment," Pynchon stepped forward. She put her hands on Tony. She loathed touching him—tonight. But she felt in his over-coat pocket, she took out a wicked looking gun, and kept it in her hand.

"Now," she said to Collin, "take him in the library."

Tony went first, prodded by Collin's revolver in his ribs. Pynchon followed closely, turning on the lights as she went. In the big book-lined room Collin indicated a straight chair. He said, briefly, look at Pynchon."

"Bring cord in the desk drawer. Get it for me, will you? And call Jameson."

"No," she said, "better not. If you'll do what is necessary—I'll—I'll keep him covered. I promise," she said bitterly as she saw the look of mingled distrust and question in Collin's eyes.

By the time Jennie joined them it had been done. Tony sat, as easily as possible, on the straight chair, his hands and arms tied behind him, his legs lashed to the chair. Collin sat in an easy chair opposite, the gun steady. Pynchon, in her plain tweed coat, stood against the desk. Her eyes were dark in a perfectly white face. Only her lips lived.

Jennie came in, and sat down by Collin. He gave her a reassuring glance.

"If you are not Evelyn Howard," asked Jennie, evenly, of Pynchon, "where is she?"

"I thought," said Pynchon, as evenly, "that she was dead. In the accident. But he,"—she indicated Tony—"says she is not. That she is with him. Mentally, a child."

"My God!" exclaimed Collin, low.

Jennie said, "Wait." Her lips stood. She turned to Pynchon. There was no anger in her eyes. Only a vast bewilderment. She said:

"I—we loved you very much. Somehow, we still do. Will you tell us everything—now?—as briefly as possible—as truthfully?"

Pynchon had an impulse to rest herself on her knees beside that still, waiting figure. She clenched her hands on the desk. The knuckles were white. She leaned against the desk. She said:

"Yes."

She told them, low, almost in a monotone. The entire story. Who she was. How and why she had left Hawaii for San Francisco, meeting Evelyn Howard enroute. How she had met Tony..... In the library, how she had gone on seeing him, caring for him romantically, as an inexperienced girl cares.... and how she had found out who he was and what was his means of livelihood.

A lethal business. How there had been a murder; and headlines in the papers. How she had been hunted by police and press and how Tony, learning of a vacancy in the chartered plane, had given her money, and had reserved her flight passage for her under the name of Miss Smith. And how here again she had encountered Evelyn.

She spoke of all Evelyn had told her; she spoke, in dry phrases of her own story and despair; of their likeness in coloring and height; of the photographs taken of them together on the boat. She spoke of telling Evelyn her own story, how stop overnight in the little hotel; and, briefly, of how Evelyn had refused help saying her aunt could not "afford" to help. "She was quite right, of course," said Pynchon at that point. She told of the second flight; of the accident. Her voice roughened and was dark with horror. She had not spoken of this before. Her listeners, Jennie Carstairs and her son, listened with her. And Jennie's eyes were soft with an understanding compassion.

Heroism Saves Town In Rockies' Foothills

Lethbridge, Alta., Aug. 26. (CP)—Fickle winds in the Rockies' foothills and stout hearts of Southeast British Columbia miners today won safety for the little town of Corbin from the threat of forest fires thundering down from the hills.

After two days of steady battle during which the town was evacuated, Corbin's miners were reported to have saved it. Settlement in Fires still flame on the mountain sides above the mining community, but women and children who had fled to Cold Spring and McGillivray nearby when the fire threat was at its height today commenced their return to the make-wrecked village. Rain clouds hung low in the dark skies, with a promise of a definite respite from the danger of the timber-blazes.

"That's be head up to Tow-and Clay as in his mind's eye pictured the cheerless countenance of the innocent slave of his rival of love. Not since Thomas J. Malcolm had opened a barber shop in Lonsdale had Ginger seemed to break right for either Green or Brandon. First Malcolm, by wheedling his acquaintance, had induced some of Green's former customers to have their roofing put on their friends. Then he had begun an energetic sniff for the hand of Mary Randall, who had long been considered Brandon's "girl." And now, what had he done?

"Well, Clayt, you know that we held a meetin' last night in the opera house."

"Yes, I intended to go, but I had a chance to go fishing over on the Ripple, so I went over there."

"Anyway, this pest of a "Thomas J. Malkus," as Sy spiker himself was elected President of the Town Board."

"Tis true! Why I thought that you would surely be elected—you've served on the Board so long."

"Well, it does seem that I deserved some consideration," avowed the carpenter; "I've done everything I could for this town. And what will Melton do? He's full of a lot of new-fangled ideas that'll be the ruination of the whole community if he tries 'em out here."

"True," murmured Clayt sympathetically.

"But, at least you can keep him from lakin' your girl," said Green, brightening. "That'll teach him that he ain't the whole show."

"I don't know about that," returned the young lover morosely. "He's got a line that Mary seems to like somehow."

"Here he comes now," whispered Green, his wrath rising in tempo with the rollicking air which the approaching Melton was whistling.

When abreast of the house, Mr. Melton ceased whistling.

"Howdy, Mr. Green. Hello, Clayt."

"Good morning, Tom."

Receiving no greeting from the carpenter, the newcomer asked, "Has the cat got your tongue, Mr. Green?"

Green pounded a nail viciously into the roof. "None of your smart-Alecky by one of Malton's city tone, young fellow!" he roared. "You're, trickly, all right. Runnin' all over town with your palaver and getting yourself elected President of the Board—well us members won't stand for any funny business."

At this outburst Thomas only smiled and said, "You're too good a carpenter to be mounting in politick. That's a nice piece of work you're done on the roof."

Now if there was anything of which Carpenter Green was proud, it was his skinny to shingle a roof in the finest style. Needless of Mr. Malcolm's sarcasm, and feeling only a glow of pride he replied, "You're quite right there, young man. I've never yet found a man who can shingle as well as I can."

Mr. Melton considered. "To tell you the truth, though," he said, "I believe I can show you a thing or two of shingling that I did myself over at Old Man Randall's. I rather like the pastime."

"So you've been 'puttin' in an usual and dohr' acmi work for Randall, eh! And you claim to as good as mine, Pardon me, I've got to laugh."

Green's boisterous laughter had subsided, Malton addressed him: "I'll tell you what I'll do, Mr. Green. I know you don't want me on the Town Board, and for me, I could do much better work without you, as it. Here's my offer: A position. We'll have some disinterested party act as Judge and decide whether your job of shingling is better than mine. If it is, I shall resign as President of the Board. If mine is the more likely appearing, you shall resign as a member. How does that suit you?"

The magnanimity of this offer surprised the carpenter. He was suspicious. "Who'll we have a Judge?" he asked.

"Why I reckon Clayt here will be all right."

Over suspicious Green was more than ever suspicious. Why should the Judge be that Brandon be to be his friend in here Clayt friend? or enemy and Green's this his writin'

LABOR FEARS DICTATORSHIP

Fascistic Control of Britain Feared by Cook

(By Frank H. King)

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald became in a manner of speaking, a British Dictator today as he presided over the first Cabinet meeting of the new non-Partisan Government which is preparing to cut $800,000,000 from the budget expenditures.

Charged by the King with forming the emergency Government, the Premier heads his post of power as an individual but not as the representative of organized labor which is now marshalling solid opposition to its former leader.

The left wing already has expressed its resentment at Mr. MacDonald's course and the powerful political machinery of the Trades Union Congress is swinging into action against him.

All over the country Labor is organizing not only to defeat the Emergency Cabinet, but to repudiate and to expel from the Labor Party Mr. MacDonald and his three associates, Mr. Snowden, Mr. Thomas and Lord Sankey, who have accepted office under the new arrangement.

Scathing criticism has been launched at them from many Labor quarters.

A. J. Cook, leader of the Miners' Union—the "Emperor Cook" of the general strike—went so far as to say:

"This is the end of Democratic Government in this country for a long time and the beginning of a Fascist dictatorship. I think the National Government will dig itself in for a long stay and there will be a sort of dictatorship."

LEGION URGED TO WAGE WAR ON COMMUNISM

Ontario Command Opens Annual Convention at Oshawa

MAYOR'S WELCOME

General Ross Urges United Support of Veterans

Oshawa, Ont., Aug. 26 (CP) — With a civic address of welcome by Mayor Marks, and the introduction of civil dignitaries and representatives citizens the fifth annual convention of the Ontario provincial convention of the Canadian Legion was officially opened today. The opening ceremonies were brief but impressive. The chair was occupied during the ceremonies by Lt.-Col. J. Keller MacKay, provincial president, who, after the traditional two minutes of silence and the invocation, pronounced by Captain the Rev. R. Hamilton, formally declared the convention open for business. M. McIntyre Hood, president of the Oshawa branch of the Legion, then took charge of the proceedings, and introduced Mayor Ernie Marks.

Struggle With Communism

In his official address of welcome, Mayor Marks laid special stress on the work of service clubs and the Canadian Legion, and pleaded with the delegates to give special consideration to the problem of combatting the "menace" of communism. He believed this was a task worthy of an organization like the Legion, which, he hoped, would take a strong stand on the question.

Frank M. Mason, President of the Chamber of Commerce, also sounded a note of warning to the delegates regarding the growth of Communism in this country.

Strength Required

Brig.-General Alex Ross of Saskatchewan, Dominion first Vice-President of the Legion, delivered a stirring message to the delegates. He urged upon them the necessity of building up their organization to its maximum strength. "You have made splendid progress in Ontario in the last year," he said, "both in membership and in the work which the Legion has to do, but Ontario is not yet the high est province in the convention in percentage of membership, and we believe there are greater opportunities for further development than in any other province in the Dominion of Canada."

General Ross referred in glowing terms to the work of Earl Haig on behalf of the service men of the Empire. A man, who at 72 years of age, after having served his country all his life, is still working night and day in the interests of his service, should be an example to all members of the Canadian Legion, said General Ross.

City Impressed Canon Chas. E. Read

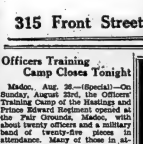
Rev. Canon Charles G. Reade, Rector of St. Stephen's Episcopalian Church, Winton Place, Cincinnati, Ohio, accompanied by Mrs. Reade, spent Monday evening and part of Tuesday in the city, a guest at the Hotel Quinte. The Canon was most favorably impressed with Belleville. "It is a lovely place," he said, "and I also greatly enjoyed the softball game which I had the pleasure of seeing Monday evening. It is fine sport and good for the young people." Upon his arrival here the Canon, in taking a stroll, saw St. Thomas' Church. The beauty of the architecture and the lovely location greatly attracted him and Mrs. Reade and they were not content until they had gained entrance to the church. This they were easily able to do and they were given information the beautiful stained glass memorials and the many memorial tablets and the glorious old regimental colors of the 15th Battalion Argyle Light Infantry.

Canon Reade is a Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral, Cincinnati, Ohio, in which Edward the Seventh attended service when he visited this country a great many years ago.

Canon Reade is an honorary member of the Kiwanis Club of Cincinnati and has taken an active part in the work of holding after under-privileged children. He revisited Canada it was necessary that he leave town by noon—otherwise he should have been delighted to declare himself to his brother Kiwanians at their regular weekly luncheon.

Canon and Mrs. Reade are very delightful people to meet. They have been on an extensive motor holiday with Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Dunn, of Toronto.

Inglorious End of British Mystery Ship



San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 26.—A ship without a country, the old steamer Calhaahan, was sailing from San Francisco Bay in tow of a tug boat today, bound for an inglorious end as a lana fishing barge off the coast of Mexico. It carried no flag.

During the Great War the vessel was one of Great Britain's mystery ships. Camouflaged as a lumber laden trading steamer, it was capable of speeds in excess of twenty-seven knots and carried hidden but long range guns concealed behind canvas screens.

Officers Training Camp Closes Tonight

Meaford, Aug. 26.—(Special)—On Sunday, August 23rd, the Officers' Training Camp of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment opened at the Fair Grounds, Meaford, with about twenty officers and a military band of twenty-five present in attendance. Many of these in attendance were on the grounds on Saturday. The Camp was officially opened by a parade on Sunday afternoon to the Soldiers' Memorial where a short service was held, conducted by the Regimental Chaplain, Rev. T. H. Hall, of Merrickville. The Scripture lesson was read by the Colonel and brief addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Hall and Rev. Pr. Meagher. A beautiful wreath of remembrance was placed on the Cenotaph in behalf of the Regiment and the service was concluded by singing, "O God, Our Help In Ages Past" and the National Anthem led by the band. Officers and band then marched to Lakeview cemetery where a short service was held and flowers were placed on the grave of the late Serreant-Major McKenzie, whose memory will long be revered by all those who were associated with him.

After the parade of the afternoon the officers entertained many of their friends at five o'clock tea, which was a very pleasant and merry function.

BELLEVILLE'S ANNUAL FAIR, 1931

Pres. C. E. Hanna Predicts Belleville's 1931 Fall Fair Will Be Greatest

President Charles E. Hanna, of the Belleville Agricultural Society, was just on the point of departure for the exhibition park today when a representative of The Ontario Intelligencer seized the opportunity to get a word from him as to the prospects for the four days' exhibition which opens next Tuesday, September 1st. "Always ready to serve" the busy president immediately warmed up to this subject which is so dear to his heart and gave the reporter so enthusiastic a forecast of next week's events that are, he feels, bound to be realized, that it was very clear to the newspaperman why Mr. Hanna is re-elected year after year to the post of president for he does a great deal of the work of organizing for the annual show.

To get to the president's message to the reporter and through him to the people of Belleville district! "We are going to have wonderful exhibits this year," he said. "The space in the buildings has been practically sold out now, so keen has been the rivalry for the booths. Men are at work going over the roofs of the buildings and everything is to be in spick and span condition for the grand opening.

A Clean Midway

"This year's midway is clean. I have that to say. This is something worth while for the people like attractions of this kind but they want them open and above board and such as will please them.

"About the horses—I must not forget them. They tell me that the outlook for the racing here is about the best that Eastern Ontario has ever had. Entries

Sixty Horses Will Race At Belleville Fair In Biggest Meet In East

With new entries coming in each day the speed events of the Belleville Fair, Sept. 1, 2, 3, and 4th, are expected to expand and say harness meet ever seen in Eastern Ontario. Secretary R. H. Ketcheson has received entries from every town and city in Ontario and parts of Quebec that sponsor harness racing. To date he has filled the largest field of horse entries that has ever graced a secretary's desk for any fair in Eastern Ontario.

To date there are about sixty horses entered in the six speeding events that are billed for the Belleville Fair, with more entries coming in each day from points distant. Two speed events will be run each day with an added Farmer's running race thrown in on opening day (Tuesday). In past years the farmer's running race was not such a huge success as wished, as there have not been enough entries to make the race interesting. Secretary Ketcheson has six entries to date and expects at least two more before the race starts. This race not only creates considerable interest among the farmers of the district, but it also adds quite a bit of colour to the fair as far as the urban populace goes.

Standard Time Followed

As to the speed events themselves all races, in fact the whole fair, will be run on Standard Time. The first day starting at 2 p.m. the horses of the 2.30 class, trot or pace, with a purse of $200.00, will be off. Following this will be the 2.14 class, trot or pace, carrying a $250.00 purse to be run, also the farmer's running race will take place. The third day sees the 2.25 trot or pace and the 2.18 trot or pace, both of these events carrying purses of $250.00 each, and last day of the Fair sees the 2.22 trot or pace with a $250.00 purse, and the big race of the meet will also be run this day, namely the Free-for-All with a purse of $300.00. This race should draw the very best horses that are entered for the speed events of the week.

Mile Heats

All races are to be mile heats with the best three in five heats to decide the winner. No heats are to be run after the fifth heat. There must be five enter each race and four must start. The Association reserves the right to reject any entry, also to call any race for the good of the meet. Two or more horses may start from any one stable if they so desire, and trotters are allowed 2 seconds. This rule will be strictly enforced. All winners may receive their winnings from the Treasurer each night after the races if they so desire. But they must produce their entry cards.

Taking everything into consideration this year's speeding events for the Belleville Fair look to be about the best that ever were seen in the city of Belleville, or, perhaps, in Eastern Ontario. Many of the incoming horsemen are at present in Belleville working out their horses at the Agricultural Park track.

Track Built in 1925

The track, which was built in 1925 by the Belleville Parks Board, was never in better condition than it is at the present moment. All trackmen state that Belleville's track is one of the best in Canada and undoubtedly the best in Eastern Ontario. With a good track and some of the fastest horses in the country, it remains to be seen if any hot many records will be broken at Belleville's Bigger and Better Fair September 1, 2, 3, and 4th.

GLIMPSES OF FAIR AS IN THE OLD DAYS

(By One Who Remembers)

Many of the older residents of the city and vicinity who will attend the Belleville Fair next week at the commodious and well-appointed grounds located in the western part of the city have but to glance eastward and behold the old fair grounds. The latter are now the property of Albert College and are utilized for recreation purposes. For a number of years fairs were held there and as a rule were of a successful nature. How many will remember the circular building located upon the eastern side of the grounds and named the "Crystal Palace"? The writer well remembers upon one occasion when visitors were thronging to the structure to view the various exhibits there, and there was some excitement caused by a report that the wide stairway was liable to collapse. "Fortunately there was no cause for alarm. The palace later fell a prey to the devouring element and it was certainly some blaze. During the progress of a fair the building was utilized for various displays, namely, fruit and vegetables, grain, fine arts, etc.

The New

After the destruction of the building, there was no fair held for a year or two, but it was subsequently revived and for the past few years it has made wonderful strides, until it became necessary to provide more spacious grounds and buildings. In 1925 the City Council provided the necessary means whereby the present site of the fair was secured and has since been under the control of the Parks Board. This energetic organization has done

Courage And Zeal Of Fair Board Commended By Chamber of Commerce

Belleville, August 28, 1931.

There has been a great change in the tastes of the public for entertainment and diversion during the past twenty-five years, and unfortunately the continued existence of many splendid institutions has been threatened by the foolish craze for speed and more or less hectic enjoyment. It is the more gratifying, therefore, to observe that so sound, interesting and valuable a function as the holding of the Belleville Fair should not have been allowed to lapse, but on the contrary should have been developed to a point of great excellence in spite of the tendencies referred to. Year by year the painstaking and canable Directors have provided the public with an exhibit of splendid farm products—grain, fruit, vegetables, live stock and domestic arts—and our own merchants and manufacturers have also been able to show their wares under favorable conditions.

For this reason one is delighted to compliment the President and Directors of the Belleville Fair on their courage and persistence and to beseak for them and for the great body of exhibitors such an outpouring of public interest and commendation that this fine institution, which so closely binds city and farm together may be assured of growth and prosperity for years to come. It should be a matter of sufficient pride and interest to the citizens of Belleville to make this year's attendance the greatest that the Fair has ever enjoyed.

E. V. ILLSLEY,
President Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Fair Keeps Abreast of Influences, Movements, Is Public Enterprise

Never in the history of the Belleville Fair have the officers and directors been in such fine shape to give the public instruction, entertainment and wholesome amusement. The grounds never looked better, the entries are large and every space in the large buildings has been taken up by those wishing to display their agricultural, industrial and commercial achievements.

The Fair is a public enterprise, a place where people may meet and exchange views, study improved methods, meet old friends and make new acquaintances. Its purpose is to keep fast with advanced agriculture and the trades.

That our com will be able to take front

Story Of Beginnings Of Belleville Fall Exhibition Is Tale of Steady Growth

It seems a long time since the old grounds to the south of the present grounds were discarded and Belleville decided after a year's lapse of the fair to set its exhibition house in order and revive the glories of the old time show and bring it up to modern methods and conditions. Large grounds, owned by the municipality or board, were advised by J. Lockie Wilson, superintendent of fall fairs and exhibitions of the Department of Agriculture of Ontario, as the basis of a permanent and modern fair which would be a reflex of the life of the community particularly of the farming portion on the success of which Belleville in no small measure depends. On this he advised the superstructure of buildings.

His was the vision and the support of the citizens backed up the movement. Grounds were bought and the buildings came and so did the crowds to the fair for it was now known that Belleville had something to offer worth while to the spectator. No longer was the city fair executive striving to carry on with inadequate grounds and worse buildings. It had the place to house a fair. Improvement of the prissiest followed and the ascent has been steady from that day to this.

What of the Present?

Now it waits to see what the present year will bring forth. Will it be bumper crowds? Indications point that way.

The vision of J. Lockie Wilson and the Belleville men who backed the movement was not limited to what has yet been achieved. It was a living organism they say—something that would grow and expand—something that would be not only the show-window of the district, but as well the arrow pointing to further growth. As the story of agriculture can never be written to the last word (for it never dies) so should the fair grow, keeping pace with the movements in the agricultural and the urban affairs. It must be the glass in which the district sees itself as others see it—one of the most progressive in Ontario—and it must be the magic glass which reveals the future.

Flexibility is the mark of the living fall fair. This permits the accession of new ideas and method —all, of course, in keeping with the spirit of agricultural and urban enterprise.

FOUR DAYS OF FINE PROGRAM SEPT. 1-4

The next event of importance in this city and community is the annual fair, held under the auspices of the Belleville Agricultural Society scheduled to open on Tuesday next and continuing until Friday night. There is no reason why with the cooperation of citizens of the city and surrounding country, the fair this year should not be a banner one.

The fall fair, while primarily organized to assist farmers and to give inspiration and encouragement to them in their business, is in reality a community undertaking. Its success is equally shared by city and country alike. The directorate is chosen from the rural and urban members and all are endeavouring to uphold the fine reputation which this fair has. Indications point to a splendid exhibition this year.

To the farmers, especially must the society look for the greater part of the exhibits. The livestock, grain and roots constitute a large portion of the show and the entries-in these classes are numerous as are also entries in various other classes. Every effort is being made to interest exhibitors in all classes. The prize list is liberal whilst there are a considerable number of special prizes.

In the merchants' building many merchants of the city are vieing with each other in making a creditable display of their merchandise, and the same can be said of the manufacturers' building.

The third commodious building located just north of the manufacturers' building will be devoted to the display of dairy products, grains and seeds, roots and

Finest Galaxy of Stars In Athletic Firmament To Compete At Belleville Fair

Athletic Day at the Belleville Fair this year will be confined to the second day (Wednesday, Sept. 2nd.) of fair week. Harry W. Pearson, chairman of the Athletic Committee, has arranged, under the Ontario Board Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and of the Ontario Branch of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada, to bring some of the best athletes in the province to the meet. Entries have been received from almost every town and city in Ontario, so in order that there may be some local events for local athletes some of the events have been closed to competitors from the Bay of Quinte district. When referring to the Quinte district, Mr. Pearson stated that it included, Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox, Addington, and Northumberland counties.

35 Events

On the athletic programme there are 35 events for competitors, nine (open) and five (district) in the senior class; five (district) for the intermediate class and four for the junior class. In the girls' events there are four (open) and four (district). There are also four special events that will be of local interest to the followers of the track and field sports, namely: Collegiate ½ mile relay, Public and Separate school relay (440 yards), Collegiate girls' relay of 300 yards and boys under 12 years of age bicycle race.

The Athletic Committee has soared little or no time in order that the best possible events may be competed for in the interest of track and field sports at the Belleville Fair. The prizes offered are the best trophies that could be procured for an athletic meet, some of which may be seen in Walker's Hardware window at present. There are more silver cups to be donated at a later date.

The Athletic Day is the feature day of the Fair in 1931, and the lovers of athletics will have an opportunity of seeing some of Canada's premier athletes in action on the second day of Belleville's fair.

A VERY GREAT DAY

To The Ontario Intelligencer Mr. Harry Pearson, the congenial chairman of the Athletic meet, said: "There is no doubt that the Athletic Day will be far superior to that of last year. The athletes of the Bay of Quinte district are much more enthusiastic than ever before, which fact only goes to show the keen interest that is being taken by the younger generation in athletics."

"The programme has been made in view to encourage the athletes of the Quinte district, so that the time will come when the area will be well represented in both the Ontario and the Dominion championship meets," stated Mr. Pearson.

Outstanding Athletes Coming

He also went on to say: "Entries for the open events have brought forward the most outstanding men and girl athletes in the province of Ontario."

"These athletes are at present training at the Ontario Athletic Commission camp situated at Longford, Ontario," said Mr. Pearson. "I believe that the program for Wednesday, September 2nd, as arranged by the Belleville Fair Board, will be long remembered by the public that attend the coming Athletic meet," said Mr. Pearson, in closing.

Mr. Pearson has spent many long hours at the training camp at Longford and has induced such men as "Nick" Bawlf and other leading track and field men to attend the meet here. He also has the entries of many of the athletes training there and also has the word of a few more in Western Ontario that they will be here for the finest athletic meet" ever held in this district.

Twice as many outstanding athletes are to be here for Athletic Day program as were here last year and probably one hundred to one hundred and fifty of the outstanding stars of Canada will take part.

The program is an extensive one, namely:

BENEFITS OF LOCAL FAIR TO CITY, COUNTRY

How Rural and Urban Communities Profit By Exhibitors

FAIR IS MIRROR

Who gains by the fair?

Is it the city or the country? Or does each get its much of benefit like the child which is given its till sweetmeats that it does not look to see what is in the other children's hands?

Both gains and each gain ample. Belleville would not like the thought of giving up the three or four glorious days towards the close of summer which morm a sort of carnival of plenty and a demonstration against the coming winter. The farming element likewise finds it a means of showing the state of agriculture and of assimilating ideas. It is a means of improving the status of farming. It is a social event in which citizens and farmer derive no end of benefit.

Nothing Like It

Take the amusements and gaieties that a city holds or events which mark the days of the calendar in the summer. There is nothing in them like a fair, distinct, with its notes, its appeals to sight, its attractions of all sort of breeding in the animal kingdom; its fast speeding races and its motley and mixed crowds. It is the grand festival of the late times and summ. It is the grand carnival which brings city to suburban and the rural dweller to see the same thing of interest.

Joke Even Town Folk

Even the town folk envy the farmer at the fair. Here goes the farmer with the many nonsens that he has gotten to bring these fine animals and valuable and grand exhibits to the fair, he is seen as the producer who knows the artful art of wooing nature successfully. The smallest boy in the country and attends the fair with the will an enthusiast for emulation of the great man his father the farmer so that some day Johnny may be an exhibitor of no mean note at exhibitions to be held in the years of the nineteen forties and fifties.

Mysterious Charm

How farming has a sort of mysterious charm for the city boy and man. Here they see life watched and guided with the careful hand of the farmer. How they linger admiringly at the stalls and the horse stables or the sheep pens and the product of the first type of worker for they are in the presence of the product of the first typeof worker of world have—the agriculturist.

Of course the city boy and the city man have their establishments of their own but do they get as close to the heart of things as their country cousins? Anyway their fellowfriends can show them matters of interest.

Midway And The Exhibition

Where do both the—young and old go at a fair? The main centre of attraction is always the Midway. Everybody is excited, merry-go-round, ferris wheel, aerial swings, shoot-the-shoots and games of chance all go to make up the Midway.

The Belleville Fair this year have engaged the Greater Canadian Shows for their midway. These combined shows under the management of Mr. Harry Lotridge have gained considerable prestige. These are of the best and cleanest midways that ever played in Belleville. Mr. Lotridges always had the name of carrying a clean show and would be wise into an amalgamation with two other shows. Consequently spring, they continued to keep up the reputation of the old Lotridges Shows. The directors of the Belleville Fair are very pleased to announce that they again will have this year's midway under the watchful eye of Mr. Lotridges.

Getting back to the show itself many items of interest could be said in connection with a midway. There is the feeling in the air around a midway that one should do a little nonchallant or care-free bit then at times they do. The "come-on rube" goes out it means business and everyone is out for a good time for action. Then again there is the ever crafty "faker" and no matter how clever he is, "spiel" there are always "sucker" who come back for another "flash" of his wad. Then there are those people who are never around a midway and who are "getting something for nothing" (they think).

Then again there is the ever popular "bingo game", perhaps this game is the most popular of the many ranged game of any midway. The wheels of fortune are not as popular today as they were some years ago. The reason for this is that the public want something new each year. But as the midway always has on hand up the greatest thing in a fair. The MIDWAY, the only attraction that both the young and the old enjoy.

THE FAIR IN HISTORY

Exhibition Fairs have always existed. The producer and the owner all through the ages have been glad to show their products and property. The fair is the finest development of this motive of human existence. But the fair is not a show-off, it is the choicest fruit from which has been shown, the best in their way. The fair stimulates and rewards. It is an agency of progress.

FLOWERS AND VEGETABLES

A whole building will be given to the vegetable and flower show this year. This is always one of the most attractive of the departments of the Belleville exhibition and thous ands annually pay more than passing notice to the floral and vegetable growth of this district that manifested in the exhibits. The 1931 show ought not to disappoint.

FATHER, SON ARE DROWNED

Seaflea's Upset in Mud Lake, Takes Two Lives

Orillia, Aug. 27.—Joseph Greenwood, 61 years old, and his son, Alvin, aged 22, both of Toronto, spending the summer at Avery's Point, Mud Lake, were drowned Wednesday afternoon when they overturned throwing them into the water. Joseph was last seen by his younger son of Greenwood senior James, aged 18, saved his own life. According to persons near by, Alvin Greenwood, who was an expert with life in a brave but vain effort to rescue his father, who was not a strong swimmer had trouble and other ill health, and consequently was unable to cling to the boat as successfully as the two younger men. The The younger son was dragged ashore by summer residents who chanced to be close to the scene of the tragedy.

CARLOADS OF CATTLE TO BE SHOWN

Cattle breeders of this section are making preparations for the best showing of animals ever made at the local fair next week. Carloads upon carloads of the best stock which this district has to offer is being shipped to this city for the cattle ring and parts of the province. The last year's show was a marvel in livestock and this year's bids fair to be even much exhibitors.

POULTRY EXHIBITION

The poultry show is one of the most attractive spots in the fair at Belleville. Breeders and showmen from all parts have planned their birds for this exhibition which opens on Tuesday, September 1st.

Grounds Real Scenes of Beauty, Buildings Much Improved In Past Year

Hitherto it has been felt by the Belleville Parks Board and the Fair Board that when time permitted there would b improvement of the grounds on which the annual exhibition is held. The undertakings were very heavy for the limi ted few years with the construction of buildings and sheds, so that all the attention desired could not be devoted towards beautification of the grounds.

But those who attend the fair next week will at once realize that a great step forward has been made. The grounds which have been adorned with flower plots have been further enhanced in their beauty by the levelling of the easterly portion of the grounds and today the ground is one of the green est in Belleville in this time of supreme drought. Acres of real cool grass meets the eye with its soothing effect upon the beholder. This added to the charms of the fountain and the flower beds together with the general layout of the grounds increases the attraction of the park.

Trees Retained

The sheds have been whitened, and the fine old elms like the edge of a clean folded city. Stretched for over half a mile are the sheds in which will be housed the exhibit- declined.

have been pouring in and horsemen are exceedingly keen.

"We have gone over the grounds this year and those who come to see our exhibition next week will see something worth while. The roadways are all clearly marked out with whitened stones; the grass has been watered and levelling work has been carried on and everywhere they will see that we have not been idle since last September.

"We have given the horse and cattle buildings a coating and by the way we have been compelled to add to the accommodation for livestock. You know we have been trying to build up in our fair one of the finest of livestock exhibitions and I think you realize what this means. In our livestock exhibition we had last year visitors from a second to many more large herds of cattle and there were many of the finest horses that one could see in the province. Sheep and swine also played a small part in the successful exhibition a year ago. If last year was a success this year will, I feel, from what I have heard from the officials and directors and from the leading exhibitors, surpass it in the livestock branch. That is a real achievement and surely this part of the province owes it to itself to put visibly before the people the actual facts in the form of animals to show what the community is doing in the livestock industry.

Athletic Day

"Our city boys and girls with those from all Ontario are going to take part in a fine athletic contest. This was a novelty a year ago. Today Athletic Day is one of the cards on which we count for an appeal to the people. Mr. Harry Pearson, who has had this work in hand tells me he has every reason to be proud of the outlook.

"Do not forget to tell your readers that we are very democratic, we ask only twenty-five cents admission to the grounds. We are going to keep the price down and we feel that everyone can spare that much—the entrance fee will not be a bar to anyone.

As the president slipped his car to go to the park to add some last touches to the program and plans, he again forecast a successful fall fair for 1931.

GOD SAVE THE KING!

It is imagine that you are back in the year 1881 — even though you could not at that time, having been born in 1880, just imagine that you are on your way to the grounds at the opening of the big fair — so prominently announced above. That imagine that we go together. So now we're on our way — we cross the old bridge and up the hill, its sidewalks are not concrete but the cinder paved, the fare still a sheep and you wonder if they will ever cut it down and have sidewalks — the walls with flowers and shrubs flourishing along the side. You wonder if they will ever pave the dusty and at times muddy roads. All these thoughts pass through your mind. You don't know why, but then why worry about such things. You are on your way, on your way in imagination to the fair, the fair of 1881 as handed down to us through the local press of the day.

The attendance on the opening day, the records tell us, was fairly good in spite of the cold raw wind the "rain" in the main building did not actually open until the evening but this did not much matter as the crowd was more interested in the fine horses which were judged that day. Some fine specimens of horseflesh were exhibited, the display of pacing horses was said to be better than that shown at the Provincial Exhibition, where, the president, however, hardly came up to average. Some very fine specimens of competition were Charles Chesnorwyth, Grand Trunk Road, and Foster, Y.S.

Misses were will be noticed in the list of donors of prizes and winners which we will known and there are horns today with credit and distinction by their descendants.

Following are some of the events competed for and the awards:

Best three year old stallion colt or gelding, $5.00 prize, won by George Caldwell, second section of Thurlow; best saddle horse, prize $5.00, won by R. G. Clarke; best driving Circle; best two year old colt, prize $3.00, donated by Levi Massey, won by Samuel Hall, first concession of Thurlow; best colt from blooded horse with pedigree, $2.00 prize, donated by Mr. Chisholm, won by Jas. Gibb. In this class entries were also made by J. M. Effrey, R. B. Ross and J. C. Bowell; best saddle horse, prize $5.00, won by R. G. Clarke

Instruction, Amusement Demands Are Fully Met In Program For 1931 Fair

Comedians, Singers, Dancers, Choruses, Novelties and everything that goes to help make a fair successful is being provided by the Great Lake Booking Company of Buffalo, N.Y., for the Bigger, Better and Grander than ever, Belleville Fair. On top of a perfect programme of entertainment, the girl's orchestra, six in all, will give two free acts each afternoon and evening in conjunction with Weeky's revue making seven 21 people in all.

The Fair Board have spent considerable time in getting the best grand stand entertainment money could procure for the Fair. Another f[illegible] of the programme is the grand stand act by [illegible] Louis Van. This is [illegible] kind that has ever been [illegible] to the fair goers of this district. They perform stunts in the air that actually have the public in suspense as to how they accomplish such feats of daring while alert.

Grand Stand Performances

The Girl's orchestra will play up to date dance numbers for the grand stand patrons both in the afternoon and evening. Each evening's programme will be opened by Miss Esther Marsh's dancing class. These dainty little dancers, and some of them are mere kiddies, can perform like "prima donnas" and it is worth going miles to see the older pupils at the gavot, soft shoe tap and other modern and ancient dances. These classical dances are being received by the public more and more each year and they are as graceful and pretty to watch as a swan.

For the kiddies there are the comedians and clowns, and what child does not gaze in awe and wonder when the funny clowns display his capers. Also the adults enjoy a good clown act as they have a chance to laugh and be merry while watching the tumbling clown with his funny cracks and capers. After all there is no place like a fair to to enjoy the carefree feeling that one is really part of the many that go to make the affair a huge success by one's presence there. Meet your friends and neighbours at the Belleville Fair, September 1, 2, 3, and 4th, and enjoy one big outing.

Band Music

What is a fair without out a good band? One of the feature attractions of the Belleville Fair this year is the fact that the Belleville Citizens Band will play at full strength during the whole four days.

Under the careful guidance of Bandmaster Reg. Hinchey the local band have been practising faithfully all summer in preparation for the big annual event, the Belleville Fair.

The people of Belleville have a citizen's band that they should be proud of. There is no city the size of Belleville that can boast of the fine band that is in this city and the Fair Board were very pleased when they signed the contract to play at the coming Belleville Fair.

The band will play an hour before each grandstand performance in front of the stand and then they will play concerts in the main band stand each afternoon and evening. Lots of music is provided for [illegible] ...ers by the band during [illegible] four days of the Fair.

Special Music

Bandmaster Hinchey has arranged a programme of special music for each day's performance. There music will be changed every day the same as the grandstand performance will be changed every day. The same performance will be played afternoon and evening in front of the grandstand with a change every day.

Everyone has been spared in the filing of entertainment by the members of the Fair Board. They feel assured that they have the best line of entertainment that was ever offered in Eastern Ontario. So when the big gates of the Fair open on Tuesday September 1st, the bands will blare out and the biggest exhibition that has ever been seen in Belleville will commence! Four big days and four huge nights is the slogan of the Fair Directors, who feel, that their efforts during the past year have not been wasted.

GLIMPSES OF FAIR AS IN THE OLD DAYS

much towards building up the fair to its present reputation, by the erection of suitable buildings for the display of exhibits. These buildings are in every way adapted for the various displays made. Other buildings are necessary, namely for the showing of automobiles, a horse stable and more cattle sheds. These no doubt will be erected in the near future, and when completed the fair ground and its surroundings will be one of the best appointed in the eastern section of the province. Whilst officers of the agricultural society in years gone by laid the foundation for successful exhibitions, those of later years have not been remiss in their duties in making Belleville Fair bigger and better in every respect.

Following Rumors Catches Few Fish

IN no realm of outdoor recreation is there so much rumor and misinformation as in the sport of angling.

Proverbially, the man who says big fish may be caught at a particular lake or stream is regarded with skepticism—if not worse.

It was in an endeavor, as far as possible, to remove speculation and idle gossip from fishing that the Shell Road Scout set out this season to gather information from guides and native fishermen. This information, as correct as any fishing information can be, has been passed on to thousands of fishermen through the bulletins furnished to all Shell Stations and Dealers in Ontario.

Organized applied to fishing information eliminates a good deal of waste motion. Ask the Shell man where to go—now, while the speckled trout are coming in again. There is no obligation.

vegetables, fruit, plants and flowers, fine arts, domestic science, public and high school exhibits, and lastly, but by no means the least, ladies' work. The exhibits here will no doubt prove to be the attraction of many and especially the fair sex.

With everything so favorable this year there is no reason why there should be any misgivings as to the success of the Belleville Fair. All that is now necessary is for all to work in harmony and unitedly to accomplish the desired object. In connection with the fair the evening performance should prove an attraction to many. The day's programme will wind up with a display of fireworks.

Characteristics Of Some Ancient Day Fairs

Livestock and poultry markets had an impetus towards their creation in the fairs of the middle ages. There are horse fairs such as have been held at Horncastle in Lincolnshire for generations. In December Exeter has been in the habit of holding its horse and cattle fairs. There is a lamb fair at Ipswich in August and Nottingham has a goose fair in October.

Fairs in European countries were often marked by wrestling, exhibitions of morris dancers, stick-play and all sorts of antics. These of course have left their relic[illegible] in the present day attractions one sees at a midway though the modern

According to press reports from the Motherland the three prominent Laborites who have thrown in their lot with the Emergency Cabinet against the wishes of the British Labor Party have committed political suicide, particularly Ramsay MacDonald, head of the Socialists and "Jim" Thomas, so-called friend of the Railwaymen's Union. Above are the three Right Honorable gentlemen who were more concerned about Britain's honor than party politics. Left: Ramsay MacDonald, who has accepted the Premiership of the Emergency Cabinet; Right: top and bottom—Philip Snowden, who retains the important post of Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, who takes over the Dominions and Colonies portfolios.

MAJOR CLAIMS ARE INCREASED

680 Veteran Appeals as Against 234 Last Year

Oshawa, Ont., Aug. 27 (By The Canadian Press)—A sharp increase in major claims handled by the officers of the service bureau has been revealed at the Provincial convention of the Canadian Legion. Major claims successfully handled totalled 680 an increase of 234 over last year, the report of the bureau showed. The amount secured in retroactive pensions was more than $220,000. The bureau now has over 2,000 cases on hand it was reported.

Following opening ceremonies, the Canadian Legion settled down to business sessions which lasted all day. The financial report, presented by Lt. Col. B. O. Hooper of Toronto showed a considerable improvement in the position of the Legion during the past year.

Nomination of officers for the provincial command started yesterday's sessions. Lt.-Col. F. J. Pickering of St. Thomas and H. A. Wallace of Windsor were nominated for President. The same number were entered in the field for all the other offices, with the sole exception of Honorary Treasurer, to that office Lt.-Col. Hooper was elected by acclamation, for the sixth year in succession.

An official welcome by the whole convention to Earl Jellicoe will take place this morning. The British Admiral arrives by train from Ottawa, Ont., and will participate in the convention.

Appointment of a special employments committee was a matter for considerable discussion. It was finally decided that McIntyre Hood of Oshawa be chairman, and that each zone to the province have one representative.

Nominations to various offices showed W. J. Saqui of Ottawa in the running for second vice-president, and also J. J. Perry of Sudbury and J. J. Gimby of Sault Ste. Marie. Thomas Waring and W. J. Grant of Ottawa are contesting representation of Zone 17.

Two Toronto men, M. Meighen and G. D. Allen, are in the running for the office of first vice-president along with M. McIntyre Hood of Oshawa. J. S. Grafton and Archdeacon McIntosh of Dundas are nominated for second vice-president, and also Rev. R. D. Mess of London. C. S. Archibald of Seaforth and E. Harold of Paris. J. Gow and Rev. R. D. Mess of London are contesting the office of chairman against N. Bray and H. Meighen of Toronto. Rev. R. D. Mess of London is also nominated for vice-chairman, as contributed to that office are H. Davidson and W. T. McMullin of Toronto.

M.P. Favors Canadian For Rideau Hall

Toronto, Aug. 27—The appointment of a native-born Canadian as Governor-General of Canada and the institution of a national flag are necessary if Canada is to increase her prestige as a self-reliant nation among the countries of the world, is the opinion of J. Cesar Bolduc, K.C., and Liberal M.P. for Bellechasse, who last night responded to the toast to "Canada," which was proposed by Major Stewart at the banquet tendered by the city in the King Edward Hotel to the delegates to the tenth annual convention of the Native Sons of Canada.

"The necessity for a national flag is recognized by every good Canadian," M. Boulanger declared. "The Nationalists of Canada will probably soon sponsor a recommendation for one.

"Having a Canadian as Governor-General of Canada will increase the prestige of Canada among the nations," he went on. "We have no objection to the gentlemen who have to date been sent to us from England; they were gentlemen, and, to use a colloquialism, they did their job well. But, to be a self-reliant nation, we should have a native-born citizen to rule us."

Averring that there is no occasion for the fears of the timid that the appointment of a native-born Canadian would cause jealousy between the Provinces, M. Boulanger said: "We must not confuse the principle with its application." He recalled that "our ancestors got together, found common ground, and in 1867 formed the present form of government."

Gasoline in Sewers Menaces Workmen

Brantford, Aug. 27—A hazardous practice on the part of housewives and possibly some business houses has been discovered by the City Engineer, P. P. Adams, who has found that gasoline, in considerable quantities, has been thrown into the sewers creating a strong gas in the mains, and a menace to the lives of workmen, through the possibility of explosion. He said today: "The situation here has been much worse than usual recently. In fact, for two days this week workmen were unable to go down the manholes for fear of being overcome by the gas. It is not sewer gas, but a vapor caused by gasoline in the mains. I appeal to all citizens to take precautions against disposing of gasoline by throwing it down sinks and drains."

The lives of those little ones who mean so much to you are in danger.

New York, N.Y., Aug. 27.—Police Commissioner Mulrooney ordered every available police automobile to be placed in cruising service today in Brooklyn and the Bronx as a result of four hold-ups of delivery trucks within an hour yesterday.

A round-up of suspects continued today.

Mulrooney said eight men carrying pistols had been picked up. Although most of the men arrested were released, detectives found the round-up gave them a chance to collect data about the type of men frequenting disreputable places.

Policemen took the pigeons into the air and released them from a plane for the purpose of pursuing them and thus, perhaps, finding the kidnappers. Two Parties Endorse Leaders' Action in Joining National Gov't

MacDonald Returns to Scotland for Brief Holiday

GENERAL VIEW

Henderson Elected Leader Party Succeeding MacDonald

London, Aug. 28 (AP).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, resting at Lossiemouth from the strain of the past few weeks, stretched a figurative arm down from Scotland today to keep his finger on the pulse of British politics.

Early this morning, soon after the night train from London had reached his home town, he had the Downing Street office on the telephone describing reports that he already had decided not to be a candidate for parliament in the forthcoming election.

He let it be understood that he will make no decision regarding his political future until the Labor Party in Seaham Harbor, which he represents in the House, has announced its attitude at a meeting tonight toward his position in the new National Government.

Course is Clear.

Meantime, despite opposition of the Cabinet by the Labor Parliamentary Party and the influential trades union congress he will follow the course charted for the emergency regime and the nation's leading financial authorities straightened out.

The Liberals and Conservatives, in party session, voted endorsement of the part their leaders are taking in the reorganized Cabinet and Lord Reading, Liberal foreign Secretary, announced at his party's session that Sir Hon. David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader, has been informed at each step and has concurred in all the Liberal decisions taken thus far. His statement verified another rumor that Mr. Lloyd George would take the field against the new regime as soon as he recovers his health.

Still another report has it that Sir Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, resigning from the Cabinet, but the veteran statesman stuck to his post with a statement that he will hold on to the end, retiring upon politics after this national emergency.

London, Aug. 28 (AP).—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Labor Foreign Secretary, was elected leader of the British Labor Party today and succeed Premier Ramsay MacDonald.

Mr. Henderson will lead the Labor Opposition in the coming special session of parliament against Premier Ramsay MacDonald's National Government.

Restaurant, Lumber Yard, Gas Station and Houses Lost

Montreal, Que., Aug. 28 (By The Canadian Press)—Fire breaking out early this Friday morning in the suburban village of Beaconsfield, ten miles from Montreal, destroyed the Canadian National Railways station, a small hotel and cafe, a restaurant, a lumber yard, gasoline filling station and four residences. Fire fighting apparatus was rushed from Montreal and from the adjacent communities, and the Canadian Pacific Railways sent a firefighting locomotive from Montreal.

Several explosions featured the blaze, one heard before the fire had been discovered in the lumber yard, and others while the conflagration was in progress, residents were reported.

There was no water pressure available in the village and fresh supplies were rushed to but the firemen were for the most part helpless to save their salvage goods and work to prevent the flames from spreading. At five o'clock the fire was under control.

Many poles and telephone poles were put out of commission and the C. N. R. station, modern standards and melted wires from the steel towers, interrupting lines of electric light and telephone services.

The buggy, which is a light run-about, was damaged considerably but Mr. Brickman was able to slowly make town. The two motorists whose cars are reported Toronto to Montreal and eastern points stopped over Mr. Brickman's information regarding themselves and agreed to step at Belleville on their return trip and adjust the cost of damage. The accident was reported to the city police, who turned the investigating of it over to Provincial Constable Ellis of the Ontario Provincial Police, within whose jurisdiction it occurs. The cars carried Canadian license plates.

At the time of the accident a rear light was burning on Mr. Brickman's buggy.

OUR PLACE IN TRADE DUE TO BRITISH NAVY

Earl Jellicoe Opening C. N.E. Today Speaks of Canada

WORK IS NEEDED

Must Work a Little Better Than Other People

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 28 (By The Canadian Press)—Citing the achievements of Canada since 1867 as a challenge to future progress, Earl Jellicoe, Admiral-of-the-fleet, today opened the 52rd Annual Canadian National Exhibition with him he brought the following message, signed by "Edward F."

"I am glad to be in Canada on August 28, you are to open the Canadian National Exhibition today and I am Honorary Patron. I sincerely trust that, although the task I am called trough which Canada, in common with most of the world, is passing, this year's exhibition will prove a great success."

The Earl was also hesitant to add his own confidence to that of the Prime of Minister, "There is no doubt in my mind," he said, "that the splendid courage and determination which the people of Canada have displayed in the anxious years 1914-18 will see her through the present economic crisis and she will emerge from the difficulties confident in her own ability to withstand all shocks and hopeful of the future.

Over a period of 52 years, declared Lord Jellicoe, the population has the head of the Canadian Empire increased by 7,000,000, the revenue of the government from $22,000,000 to $400,000,000, and the value of her trade from $189,000,000 to $2,600,000,000.

This remarkable record, said Earl Jellicoe, encouraged a feeling of confidence in the future.

The fact that Canada came into the Empire's war-era-years was recited by the Admiral-of-the-Fleets as the reason why naval officers have a peculiar interest in the overseas Dominions. "We all realized what was the protection afforded by the Mother country, Canada could not have become the great trading nation of the world.

"Sea power—protection alone," he continued, "cannot ensure success. Success is not an accident. It comes to those who 'do their work—actionally and thoroughly—better' than the other fellow. And it is that virtue spirit of your young manhood we so much admire in England."

MacDonald Ousted by Labor Party as Leader Henderson is Successor

Only 6 out of 280 Members of Labor Party Vote for MacDonald

BITTER FEELING

Position of MacDonald in Government Is Unchanged

(By Frank H. King)

London, Aug. 28 (AP).—Ramsay MacDonald, three times Prime Minister of Great Britain, today was ousted as leader of the Labor party and R. T. Hon. Arthur Henderson elected his successor.

"Uncle Arthur" as he is known in the House, now will lead the Opposition against the man whom he served as Foreign Secretary in the recent Labor Government. Only 6 of the 280 members of the Labor parliamentary party voted to retain Mr. MacDonald at today's meeting.

The others lined up solidly behind the alternative proposals which organized labor is advancing as substitutes for the programme of the non-partisan national government. The heart of this latter scheme is adamant opposition to the unemployment dole.

Replacement of Mr. MacDonald as the party chief was inevitable in the face of the bitter resentment of labor to his organization of the National cabinet. His position in the government remains unchanged although he is without a mandate from the Labor party he still is the head of the government's emergency regime formed to balance the budget.

The erstwhile Opposition, both Conservative and Liberal has endorsed the participation of those party leaders in the present arrangement.

A crowd estimated at from 100,000 to 200,000 milled around the water front as the swim got under way from a clock with the starters. Some of the swimmers did not like the cold water. Bathing in Lake Ontario was 65 degrees.

The course was changed almost at the last minute. The first lap was to be a straight course inside the breakwater, then along a little more than a mile. The original plan was to have a triangular course, one stretching out into the lake. The water was smoother inside the breakwater and the heavy swell.

Wrong Animal Caught

Considerable excitement was caused in east Belleville yesterday afternoon when a little pet dog was caught in a trap set for foxes. The cost of the story seems to be in the fact that little Joe Caldwell of Bridge street got the dog in his pale set a mustard trap. Mr. Caldwell lives on the corner of Front Ave. and Bridge street. The trap was set in the rear of the house and the skunk that was supposed to be in the surrounding bush.

But how was a little dog to know that the trap was not a polecat as the case may be? Anyway the little animal was caught in the waiting trap and there he was found until the boys returned to find their pet. The excitement continued. There was considerable talk about the affair also by the excited kiddies before the animal was released by a friend.

Court after getting the assistance of some of the neighbors they succeeded in releasing the pup. The boys returned home much sadder but wiser boys

Mayor and Aldermanic Party Given Assurance by Gov't.

CITY'S PLAN

"Though no definite amount may be stated at the present time, we can assure the citizens of Belleville that this city will get its share of the unemployment funds for the relief of the idle bona fide citizens of Belleville," said Mayor Reid today, speaking of the result of a visit to Toronto on Tuesday of Aldermen Woodley, MacAllister and Wotten in the course of which they visited the relief office and the office of Messrs. New York, N.Y., Aug. 28 — Police headquarters announced that Charles H. Rosenthal, 22, according to his story, was kidnapped by kidnappers for a $100,000 ransom, and thrown from a motorcar at 136th street and Walton Avenue, but that he landed uninjured and immediately hastened to report it to police.

Police of the 42nd precinct in the Bronx where Rosenthal walked to report the case also said that preceding the arrival of high police officials.

Refusal of Dollar Week Raise Leads to Millions

Tailors Shocked at His Bowler Hat and Tail Coat

London, Aug. 28 (CP Cable)—It is a hard world for a bowler hat and tail coat. London was amused over a photograph of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, British Premier President of the Council in the National Government, entering the back door of No. 10 Downing Street with a spare suit over his arm, three pipes and a bowler hat.

Now it is Prime Minister MacDonald's turn. The "Tailor and Cutter" turns its expert criticism on Mr. MacDonald's bowler hat. "Mr. MacDonald wore on the morning coat but in a bowler instead of the traditional silk hat," says the Tailor's organ. "We are accustomed to seeing statesmen in strange gear and have become used to the many of their vagaries. Yet this is the unkindest cut of all—a bowler hat with a morning coat.

"When the premier went to see His Majesty on the fateful Sunday it was thought there would be an emergency government. The best excuse we can make for the hat is that it was an emergency hat. The unholy combination of a bowler hat and a tail coat is generally a works foreman instead of a Minister of the Crown."

High Heel on Street Shoes Debutante Slouch of Past Two Seasons Is Decidedly Out

(By Jane Eads)

New York, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Ever since Cinderella lost her little glass slipper and won a prince women have paid as much attention to the shoe as to the style of their fashion silhouette. No less this year, even with the new little hat trying to capture all imagination.

Fall and winter shoes are of better quality and more perfectly made than they have been for many seasons, Miss Isabelle Hammond, New York shoe analyst, said today.

Although the second empire and mid-Victorian influence is noted in the fashioning of new shoes, there is nothing radical in their creation. New modes merely point the way to a gradual change, she said.

Heels, for instance, are lower, the continental cuban heel hovering around two inches in height is recommended for street or daytime wear. Heels for afternoon wear range from two to three and one-half inches, and evening heels are not much higher.

Striking a correct posture is an important achievement to the wearer of the new costumes. The right heels solve this problem, Miss Raymond said.

"The debutante slouch of two seasons ago is decidedly out," she said. "Fashionable women no longer stand with lifts out and shoulders back. They stand poised and straight, and wearing the new shoes never press their heads coyly."

Tailored town shoes and open toed sandals are the two popular fashions.

The former is fashioned chiefly of calf-skin feminidely treated. Pumps and conventional oxfords are best. Toes are rounded and heels continentals in style are leather-covered maching either the leather trim or leather used for the body of the shoe.

By Buggy, Democrat, Omnibus, In Good Old Days of 1881

Back in 1881 people did not have occasion to worry about the new car—the make—the model and all the other details which worry us these days discussed for weeks by the whole family before the new car is finally parked at the front door. They did, however, give considerable consideration to the question of whether they would buy or would not buy a new buggy and which to go a "buggy riding". And can you think for a minute that this important question did not take some deciding? Perhaps you also think that the matter could be easily decided because a buggy is only a buggy and there was not much variety to choose from.

Just let us stroll into the Carriage Building at the Fair of 1881 and see how the display will surprise you. Here is a democrat with a top that may be given in the press at that time: "All metal bows. This cover are made before such an excellent extension top is in existence that deal. He had eight pieces displayed. Top phaeton with coil springs, done up in maroon leather which is a new fashion in the upholstering of carriages. A canopy top Brewster buggy with silver-plated trimmings, which attracted much attention. The pattern of the canopy was said to be something new and very stylish. One Dexter Queen buggy upholstered in crimson attracted much attention as did also an expensive Concord wagon, beautifully finished with silver-plated trimmings and crimson leather. This latter vehicle, Ald. St. Charles said was the first which he had ever turned out in his establishment. It was sold for $150 a very short time after it had been placed on display. The last item was a most scrumptious" family sleigh of a new style with two running gears. The front runners evidently made their first appearance at this time.

The display made by G. A. Brown was both varied and extensive. A Central Park phaeton was acknowledged to be very beautiful. It was upholstered in maroon leather —had canopy top and side lamps. Also the new spring cushion and back. A handsome canopy top Coupe phaeton with lamps looked to be a very easy and comfortable carriage for afternoon riding, suitable for ladies. The most attractive of Mr. Brown's display was a dog-cart aleigh. Mr. Brown was the designer of this sleigh and the only maker of it. He made four of the previous year and sold them as quickly as finished. This design was said to be very ingenious; the back seat being reversible so that the occupants of this rear seat could either face the front or the back.

This brief description does not by any means cover the full exhibition of carriages, but it serves to show that every one in 1881 —fifty years ago, they had some difficulty in deciding just the kind of conveyance they would "ride out" in.

At this period in Belleville's history some very fine horses and beautiful carriages were to be seen, especially on a Saturday. Very fine turnouts indeed, drawn by handsome horses and driven by coachmen in smart appearing livery was no uncommon sight. In the latter days of 1881 the latest fashion styles in aleighs, with beautiful fur robes, handsome high steppers and spirited-stepping horses were, indeed, a pleasing spectacle.

During the evening games were played, after which Miss McKee was presented on behalf of the choir with a handsome aviatrix travelling case and the following address read by Mrs. S. P. Hagerman:

Dear Laura:

Radio is Grafted Upon Piano Sets Musical World Agog Today

New York, N.Y. Aug. 28 — The radio has been grafted on the piano to set the music world agog. Melody lovers are awaiting the arrival in the United States of a new, five-fold instrument, an invention which has just been announced in Germany.

It looks like a grand piano, say its New York sponsors, but is in reality a piano, spinet, radio, harmonium and phonograph.

It is so small and light, they declare, that two men could easily carry it into Carnegie Hall, where its music would fill the edifice. Many concert pianos require eight men to move. Then they could take it home to a one-room apartment and enjoy piano, spinet or harmonium music, a radio programme or records as they desired.

Description of Instrument

Dr. Alexander Russell, merchant musician who is helping arrange its introduction into the United States, said today it's 4 feet, seven inches long and is played like a piano. It has no sounding board, however, and where the ordinary piano has three strings, it has only two, which are struck by exceptionally tiny hammers.

The strings spread out fanlike from the bridge in groups of five and at the point where each group crosses the bridge there is a small microphone. The sound enters the microphone, is amplified and leaves from a loud speaker.

When the foot is off the left pedal, Dr. Russell, the instrument emits a spinet or harpsichord sound. As the pedal is pressed, the sounds become those of a piano and can be amplified sufficiently for a concert in the open air, a touch on a lever releases dampers, with the result that the instrument sounds like a harmonium, or small reed organ.

ilarity you have often brought sunshine and joy to our hearts.

In the choir, you have always been ready and willing to lend a hand when opportunity presented itself and you will be greatly missed by all.

You are taking on a very noble work and with your sterling qualities and jovial disposition we make success easily.

We ask you to accept this gift as a slight indication of our esteem for you and wish you every happiness in your new work and all the blessings that heaven can bestow.

After the presentation, delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. McKee.

Miss McKee has for a number of years been a resident of this city, during which time she has made many friends among whom she will be greatly missed.

FICTON LOSES GAME

Playing a scoreless tie for the better part of the game the Belleville United defeated the Picton eleven 2-0 in the score of one to 0 yesterday afternoon. The game was fast throughout and to Harry Taylor goes the credit of scoring the only goal after some nice combination plays with his team mates. A large number of interested spectators were on hand to witness the game and the locals will meet the Cressie soccer team next Monday at Picton.

FAIR PLAY
Bouts and Fair Criticism

The baseball teams that are left in the O.R.A.A. race for Eastern Ontario are slowly being eliminated. At present there are but four teams each of Port Hope, Kingston and Napanee in the senior series, Belleville juniors, and Sulphide and Napanee in the intermediate "A" class.

In the junior series the B.A.A.A. kids play the first game of the junior semi-finals in Toronto tomorrow. While in the senior play-offs the winners meet the Benches of Toronto in Kingston next Wednesday, the return game to be played in Toronto on Labour Day. Sulphide and Cliftons of Toronto play the first game of the eastern Ontario intermediate finals on Saturday at the Eastern town. The return game to be played at Toronto on Wednesday. The series should be a real pitcher's battle when Cliff Bennett and Archie Campbell book up.

Campbell will find that he has to face a much better batting team than he has ever seen this year. While on the other hand the Gibbards will find that they are facing the best pitcher that they have met this season. To pick a winner would be out of the question as both teams have played wonderful baseball after a slow start in play offs. (May the best team represent this district in the finals.)

T. George Tilly of this city entered the "hall of fame" when he made a 131 yard drive for a hole-in-one on Wednesday at Cobourg. This is a feat that comes to a golfer about once in a lifetime. Congratulations age Mr. Tilly.

Tommy Fedder and his trainer Vic Morris, left Belleville this morning for Toronto. Young Fedder has trained hard for the big C.N.E. next week and feels that he can make a name for himself when his starter's gun is fired. Tommy has the good wishes of the City of Belleville in his bout.

Joe Miles, also of Belleville will enter the five mile amateur event that is being promoted by the C.N.E. next week. Miles has been coached by Fred Rose and feels that he is in about the best condition of his career.

The athletic meet, being sponsored by the Belleville Fair next Wednesday is drawing some of the best athletes in Ontario—in Belleville. A good athletic meet, of track and field events, is one of the finest classes of sports to watch. Local people can see their own friends and neighbors in action a few closed events have been added in the programme. When referring to a closed event we mean that the event is only open to contestants in the Bay of Quinte area. Those events will no doubt be the most interesting to the sporting public at this district.

It is interesting to know that the largest field of horses that ever graced a track in Eastern Ontario are entered for the harness races at the Belleville Fair. To date there are eighty horses entered at Secretary H. H. Mackenzie's office with many entries expected before the end of the week. This indicates not that this year's fair races will be the best in the history of the fair.

Last night's benefit game for "Cliff" Smith proved a much better contest than expected. The All Stars led the Association kids by the score of 3 to 1 when the umpires called the game in the fifth innings on account of darkness. The game deserved a better crowd than appeared.

The umps had to call last night's soft ball game on account of rain and darkness.

"I am delighted to receive your assurance and we need your assistance," said the Commissioner.

WOMAN LEFT UNCONSCIOUS

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 28.—A Province-wide check-up of damaged automobiles was instituted last night by Provincial Police in an effort to identify the hit-and-run driver who struck Mrs. George Baker of Stamford Centre and left her lying on the Thorold Stone Road, unconscious. Mrs. Baker's condition is reported as fair by hospital authorities, but she is still dazed and unable to give the police much assistance.

The police expect she will be able to remember the number of the car which struck her when she recovers from the shock.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Pandora was moving sluggishly, steadily. She was swaying a little. The solid wood and metal of the great modern desk was some support. She leaned against it gratefully. She looked at holding Evelyn's handbag to! of the drawer, and then, afterwards, she bowed her arm with Evelyn's handkerchief. Of her thoughts that Evelyn had died. Of her frantic escape inward help and freedom. Of the men who she met and her lapse into unconsciousness. Of the name on the handkerchief, the name by which the strangers called her, and of her dangerous resolve.

She told them of what the doctor had said; that Evelyn could not live; and how therefore, in her mad and desperate desire to bury the dead past, she had let them think Evelyn "Miss Smith." And of how, armed with Evelyn's name and credentials, she had come on to New York, meeting the reporters on the way and hearing her belief that the other girl was dead confirmed by them.

She told of how Tony had traced her. Forced her to accept his help. Forced her to accept some of his plans. Of how finally he had told her what he had planned to do, on the night of the Van Suydam Ball. Of how she had appeared on the stage and had herself made plans; had not put the drug in Collin's highball, or in Mrs. Carstairs' hot milk. But had waited, listening for Tony, knowing he would be caught. Of how she had taken the revolver from the desk study that afternoon and hidden it in her room. And put the jewels in the case so that the easiest means to make in removing them would be heard.

Collin said, suddenly:

"Why didn't you go through with it? There was little likelihood that we continued to believe you—Evelyn—we would have hunted you and your—companion, down."

She said, steadily:

"I'm not a thief. Oh I stole Evelyn's name, of course, and her position and her place in your affections. Yet, thinking her dead, I couldn't believe I had done her any real wrong. Nor did I feel I would wrong you very much either……I was willing to serve you on my knees," she said directly to Jennie Carstairs, "because of the kindness, the love you showed me. And…I…I loved you," said Pandora.

Jennie's eyes were wet, she indicated Tony, sitting there, impassive, his dark face shut as hard as a clenched fist, his eyes watchful.

Collin turned to the other man. His mother was crying softly, in a sort of dull shock of horror and pity.

"Where is Evelyn Hamilton?" Collin said.

"I—we must go to her at once. Tonight. Right now. There is every thing done that can be done for her. Everything."

Tony shrugged.

"I know the address," said Pandora carefully.

Tony spoke, smiling:

"You will not find her there. I hold her as hostage for my safe conduct. If you permit me to go I give you my word of honor— Collin laughed aloud. Tony looked at him gravely and remarked, "Even among thieves, there is honor… my word of honor, that tomorrow you receive a communication from me telling you her present whereabouts."

Collin called him a brutal name. Without apology to the listeners. Tony shrugged again. Collin rose. He went over to Pan with the gun.

"Tell me at once—or—"

"No," said Tony, mildly, "you over-reach yourself, my friend. If you kill me I cannot speak. And alive, I will not speak, not until I have had your word also that I may go."

"I'm afraid," cried Pandora suddenly, on a high hysterical note.

"Of what?" asked Collin. His voice was hard. Pandora's heart turned over in her breast. Was he sorry for her? She didn't want pity, "Or letting him go. It means that you will be saved! He may never tell us where Evelyn is! He may…don't you see, Collin. You must…" she said, "give him up to the police."

"If he does," Tony reminded her. "I will implicate you……and the lovely Miss Jennie. And perhaps, though you."

She turned a blanched face to Jennie.

"Oh," she said hopelessly, "what are we to do? For myself I don't mind. I almost welcome it. After three months of deceit and terror. Yes, I'm perfectly willing to pay," she said proudly, "but I can't bear to have you dragged through it. The publicities——"

Jennie did not answer. She asked Pandora a question instead:

"You say you did not see Evelyn at this address to which you went?"

"No."

"Did you ask to?"

"No. He asked me……if I wished to. I said, at first……no. Then I realized what a coward I was. She said, yes. But he had changed his mind. Later I asked him again. But he would not let me see her."

"You did not hear her, perhaps, when you went in the house?"

"No."

"And yet you were sure she was there? Perhaps she was not. Perhaps he had moved her. Perhaps he lied to begin at the beginning. You can recall the name of the doctor who cared for her—and your? And the town where you were?"

"Why, yes," Pandora replied, wondering.

Then she turn to me. We will, as I have said, begin at the beginning."

Pandora saw her life name and address. Tony's eyes were doubly watchful. Suddenly he wrenched wildly at his bonds. "Oh no you don't!" said Collin.

"My wrists hurt," said Tony sullenly.

Sanitary Risk

in carelessly-made substitutes for Kotex

SAFETY should be your first concern in sanitary protection. Health safety. The kind of safety you are certain of in Kotex, the pad that is used in leading hospitals.

But how about those nameless substitutes, of whose makers you know nothing? What assurance have you of their sanitary safety? Who made them? Where? How? Are you sure you'd use them, if you knew their origin?

There's one certain way of avoiding risk. Ask for Kotex. Genuine Kotex. It's immaculately cleanmade by wonderful, protected machines from start to finish, in surroundings of hospital cleanliness. Machine packed and hygienically sealed in dust-proof packages.

Kotex assures comfort

Kotex is splendidly comfortable. It may be worn with perfect safety on either side. Soft, filmy layers make adjustment easy. The gauze in Kotex goes through a special process to make it amazingly soft. Treated to deodorize. Readily disposable.

SOFT, NON-CHAFING . . .

1. Kotex is soft . . . not merely as compared with other pads but as compared with Kotex itself before it was improved.
2. Can be worn on either side, giving full protection.
3. Greater absorbency. It is the greatest material used in Kotex in Canada's leading hospitals.
4. Disposable. Instantly, completely.

STORES' STAFF ENJOY OUTING

Dominion Stores' Picnic at Presqu'ile a Success

Under ideal weather conditions the Dominion Stores Limited held their annual classic picnic at Presqu'ile Point yesterday afternoon. Where activities started there were about 250 employees and their friends on the grounds. They represented 18 stores from Oshawa to Napanee and from Picton to Peterboro. Everything was in readiness when the first car load arrived at the picnic grounds and from the time that the first carload arrived until the last carload left, there was never a dull moment.

After all had arrived on the grounds the first item on the programme was a softball game between the Dominion Stores and the Canada Transports. The game resulted in a win for the transport boys after a hectic three innings, the score of 6 to 5 indicates the closeness of the game. The ball game was only one of the running events of the day and many happy and exciting incidents happened in the competition that followed. All races were very closely contested and the outcome was always at stake until the final lines. There were running races of all kinds to be contested for, but the events between the Dominion Stores and the Canada Transports. At The Tables

About six p. m., the employees were called to the picnic tables and a regular banquet was put on, right under the sky, with a wonderful breeze and the music as a background. A number of the head office staff acted as the banquet and expressed their appreciation of being able to be present. Among some of the officials from Toronto were, Mr. Fleming, Mr. Hendricks and Mr. Stickney. Mr. Stickney read a telegram from the Chief Superintendent of the Company expressing his sincere regrets that he was unable to be present but wishing all a splendid outing. The officials of the company were well received by the employees of this district who voted them a hearty vote of thanks for their co-operation in helping them with the picnic.

After supper the ball games were competed for and these were followed by the swimming races after which dancing to the Presqu'ile Orchestra was enjoyed at the pavilion until the wee small hours. A tired but happy band left the picnic grounds to wend their weary way home early this morning.

The success of the picnic was due to the wonderful co-operation that existed between the employees and the officials. The district members of the store staffs were greatly indebted to Mr. Fleming for his untiring efforts as announcer for the events. Both Mr. Hendricks and Mr. Stickney rendered overtime to make the picnic the success it was.

The following companies contributed prizes to help make the picnic a success: McCormick, Weston and Christie Biscuit Companies, Belleville Fruit, Canada Transport, Cridland and Canadian Packers Meat Companies, Hallman Company, Peterboro Cereal, J. C. Turner, Kelly Motors, Canio Flour Mills, W. L. McKenzie, Belleville Ontario Intelligencer, Ernie's Doughnuts, Standard Brands, W. S. Funeral of Mrs. E. R. Vreeland at Montville

Amsterdam, N.Y., Aug. 28 — The body of Mrs Rina D. Vreeland, of Montville, N.J., formerly Miss Lou Shelter of Shannonville, who was killed recently when thrown from her car, which she was driving down DeGraff's hill, west of Tribes Hill, was taken to Montville from the funeral home of Cudebrik & Riley here. The funeral was held there.

Gordon Vivian 19 year old nephew of Mrs. Vreeland, who was in the car (with her was taken in the Amsterdam City Hospital, under the care of Dr. Crane of Tribes Hill. The young man shows signs of concussion of the brain, and stitches in the right arm and leg. He was in the hospital some days, but no permanent ill effects are feared. His father, Ernest Vivian of Montville, arrived in Amsterdam Saturday evening, and after visiting his son and making the necessary arrangements for the removal of the body of Mrs. Vreeland, returned Sunday.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Van Dusen of Osceola were the first persons to reach the side of young Gordon and also to ascertain that his aunt had been killed. He is pastor of the Atonement Lutheran Church in Oneonta, and also friends in Amsterdam. He and Mrs. Van Dusen were on their way from the Northfield conference to attend the Wells family reunion at Palatine Church.

They were hailed at the scene of the fatality by a man standing in the roadway and waving his arms. Mrs. Van Dusen hurried to the side of Vivian and administered such first aid assistance as she could and then went to Mrs. Vreeland to find that the latter was dead.

Vivian told Mrs. Van Dusen that his aunt had just taken the wheel before they reached the top of DeGraff's hill. He was considerably unnerved and asked Mrs. Van Dusen if she were to accompany him to the hospital here, which she did, and remained with him until the arrival

POPULAR WEEK-END PROGRAM AT THE CAPITOL

Saturday has always been a bright day among English speaking people. It is the day when the youngster feels entitled to a reward for a week's good behavior, the parent wants the toiler seek recreation and the day for a last fling before the sedate gravity of Sunday. Consistently it behoves the management of a theatre to see that Saturday's programme is of popular appeal. With this in mind, the programme at the Capitol Saturday and Monday just fills the bill to a nicety.

The feature, "Air Police" will be found particularly pleasing. The public is becoming more and more air minded each day, and air dramas are phenomenally increasing in demand.

Something entirely new in regression of crime and apprehension of criminals is the theme of "Air Police", as is suggested by the title. In the old days, lawmen on foot was the chief method adopted by the police in their worthy efforts to round up the bad men. Later automobile displaced "Shanks Pony". Now we have the fastest means of travel, the mechanical birds, and in "Air Police", birdmen of the air are fast and furious.

Kenneth Harlan, Josephine Dunn and Charles Delaney are co-featured, leading in a story which will satisfy the most critical.

On the same programme, Lloyd Hamilton will be to his usual standard in "Howdy Mates"; there will be a special cartoon titled "Help Wanted" plus the ever popular Pathe Sound News.

THEY'RE OFF FANNY AND EDDIE QUILLAN RIDES SURE WINNER

"They're off! Thirty thousand racing fans shout for their favorite, "Sleepy" Jones, hanging over the paddock rail, squints a knowing and serious eye. Up in the silkwood stands a feminine heart palpitates for the little 12 pound dynamo of grit and muscle who is attempting a racing comeback from the gutter. "Wally" Weber, who couldn't hide behind a newspaper, sneaks a few "bookie's" tickets that will mean a crooked quarter-grand.

Steel-muscled horse-legs take the first turn. Now they're coming to the eighth pole. Who's in front? Who's winning?.....

Calm yourselves, movie fans! That's "Buddy" Doyle riding, "Sleepy" Jones is Jimmy Gleason. Weber is Lew Cody. The title gal all a-flutter in the grandstand is Marion Nixon.

And the picture is "Sweepstakes," an exciting melodrama of the turf, which was given a private screening at the Bella this morning where it is the feature offering today and Saturday, matinee daily.

Yes, it's all in fun, but it's good fun, and the excitement (even in a rehearsal) is so real this aged heart actually beats a little faster than its usual sluggish pace. The actual background of three famous racetracks on the Coast and in Mexico —Agua Caliente, Tia Juana and Tanforan serve as the background for the race scenes. The story is fresh, thrilling, and the performance of Eddie Quillan as the gritty little jockey is the best thing he's done on the screen so far.

"Sweepstakes" is a refreshing return to the unsophisticated, honest drama, and Albert Rogell and Lew Lipton are to be commended for their good work in direction and story-writing, respectively.

"THE LION AND THE LAMB" FEATURES ALL STAR CAST

Underworld drama with a dash of humor is the fare at the Capitol Theatre where "The Lion and the Lamb," Columbia mystery thriller opened last night for two days' run. The story gets off at a fast pace and supplies more than the usual quota of thrills. Based on a serial by the renowned R. Phillips Oppenheim the country is of unusual excellence and it gains by its transference to the screen.

The central figure of the plot is Dave, a young Englishman of aristocratic birth, who has for some years led a wandering existence as an outlaw. Notified that through the death of an uncle he is now the legitimate heir to the title and estate of the Earl of Lemstershire, Dave returns to London. On his first night there he is forced into joining the Lambs, a society of crooks and gangsters whose code is "Death to all Deserters." Dave's efforts to extricate himself from the clutches of this organization, through whom he becomes involved in a murder, a house robbery and another thrilling exploits, supply thrilling material for this film. The climax is tremendously exciting.

Walter Byron, who enacts the role of Dave, is ideal in the role of the aristocratic young Englishman. Equally well plays is the part of Tottie, the master crook, who becomes one of the bands of Monte Love's polished and ruthless villain. Miriam Seegar and Carmel Myers are featured in feminine leads. Their enterpretations are well done. Others in the cast are Raymond Hatton, superb in a comedy role as Sergeant Gerrard and Will Stanton, George B. Seitz has directed with intelligence.

"SILVERWARE GIFT"

Silverware Gift night at the Capitol last night was a huge success evidenced by the large number of ladies who attended. Tea spoons were distributed. Next Tuesday's article of silverware will be especially acceptable.

Tyendinaga

TYENDINAGA—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marsele have a boy, come to reside with them.

The picnic at Enoch Fuller's grove was well patronized. The grove was beautiful, large trees shaded the booth and platform, swings were erected for the children and the older people enjoyed dancing till after midnight.

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 17

(Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.)

Tarzan in one hand, still clutched the knife he had found in his father's cabin. Accidentally he turned its point toward the hairy breast. As it sank into its body the gorilla shrieked in pain and rage. Then Tarzan plunged the blade repeatedly and to the hilt into Bolgani's breast.

The gorilla tore the flesh at the boy's throat and chest with its powerful jaws. More and more mighty leaps. More and more weakly the torn and bleeding arm struck home with the long, sharp blade. Then the little figure stiffened with a spasmodic jerk, and Tarzan, the young Lord Greystoke, rolled lifeless upon the ground.

Far off the tribe heard the fierce challenge of the gorilla. It was soon discovered that Tarzan was missing. Kerchak, the king-ape, was strongly opposed to sending assistance. He had no liking for the strange little waif. But Kala was of a different mind. She fairly flew through the matted branches assembly she came upon them under the brilliant moonlight—little Tarzan's torn and bloody form and beside it a great bull gorilla—stone dead. Rushing to Tarzan's side, Kala listened for a sign of life. Faintly she heard it. Tenderly she carried him through the inky jungle, back to the tribe.

Many days and nights Kala sat guard beside Tarzan, bringing food and water in her mouth. She licked his wounds, the keeping them clean. After what seemed an eternity to the little sufferer, he was able to walk once more. In another month he was as strong and active as ever.

THE FALL FAIR

Signs all point to the biggest exhibition the Belleville Agricultural Society has ever held. Interest shown by exhibitors who have deluged the secretary with their entries and the general opinion of the directors and officials agree upon this one fact—that the Belleville District Agricultural show has the best opportunity to satisfy the public that it ever possessed. The words of President Hanna of the society and of Parks Board Chairman Charles F. Symons, endorse this view. The addpices are the brightest and fairest any board could wish.

This is not mere publicity stuff—it is a fact which can be interpreted in their own way by those interested in the fair. The grounds, the buildings, are here; the sentiment has been created that the present fair executive are giving their best to build up the local fair for the good of the community, the entries will be there and all it requires will be fine weather. The crowds are assured.

One of the foundation stones of a successful exhibition is a good prizelist. A meagre reward for exhibiting is not conducive to success. Belleville directors have proven that the large prizelist is the list which amply rewards the society by the increase the total of entries. And so to win an award at the fair is a distinction of note for good prizelists do not go begging about the premises of poor stockmen or agriculturists. This generosity in the prizes is not confined to a few classes but extended throughout the list of classes. As a result well filled classes will be in the keenest competition.

Entertainment is no small part of the fair and it has been well provided for. The society is keeping step with the movements of the time in agriculture and industry as next week will show. It will reflect the status of agriculture and business and industry in this section and district.

The board has played square with the people of this district in the past. Its patrons may expect the same sincerity this year, the same generosity and the same desire to serve to the best of their powers.

Do not fail to attend the Belleville fair the first day, and then you will attend the succeeding days of the exhibition. The first day will give a foretaste of the fine entertainment and instruction which are in store for the visitors to the fair grounds.

PLAYGROUNDS

The East Belleville Play Grounds Association closed the most successful season in its history, Tuesday afternoon. This association has carried on a great work in the interests of children for years and many parents were present at the closing exercises to show their interest and to express their appreciation. The work was first commenced about twenty-four years ago by the Women's Institute associated with the Belleville High School. About 1914 a re-organization took place and the East Belleville Playgrounds Association came into existence. The funds necessary to carry on the work were for many months supplied by the members of the association personally and by giving teas and other forms of entertainment. The late Mr. Thomas Ritchie was greatly interested in the work and for many years donated generously towards the cost of proper supervision. This donation is still made in accordance with his will by his executors.

A few years ago new equipment was found to be necessary, and assistance was asked from the city council and the Board of Education. The help asked for was gladly given and for a number of years was continued. Mrs. J. A. McFee, the President of the association, has been actively connected with the work for at least eighteen years; Mrs Florence Boyes, Secretary-Treasurer and the present Supervisor, has been an energetic worker for fifteen years. Mrs. Chadwick has been of great assistance for many years as was also Mrs. D. V. Sinclair for years, prior to leaving Belleville. The present equipment on the playgrounds is said to be complete and in good order. All heavy amusement apparatus is set in concrete.

Mrs. Boyes, the capable Supervisor, is popular with the children and does everything possible to help and interest them in their work and play. Very often parents come to the grounds with their children bringing a lunch and remain all day. Fathers often join them later in the afternoon. Tourists going by are attracted to the grounds and on an average, two or three cars a day stop and remain for some time, while the children in the party enjoy themselves with the swings and other amusements. The average attendance of children during the season just closed is stated to have been fully two hundred and fifty. The playground is a boon to the kiddies—a boon to parents and those who give their ability and time to the work are worthy of much appreciation and encouragement.

GIFTS HE BROUGHT ME
By Aline Michaelis

What did he bring me,
You ask, to gain
Love's child to me
Love's old refrain?

As lovers ever
Down through the years
Feel joy will never Leave them to tears.

Did he bring rapture
Fresh as the dew,
How did he capture
My heart anew?

Weary and doubting
Went I for long,
All bright dreams flouting,
All faith, all song.

Then he came, giving
New strength and trust,
Brought joy in living,
Woke dreams from dust.

At last he brought me
Gladness again,
And so he taught me
Love's old refrain.

STEALING FROM A BLIND MAN is just about the limit in low meanness and cowardice. who has lost his sight and conducts a newspaper stand at the corner of Front and Bridge streets, reports that someone pilfered several newspapers from his stand on Wednesday in his absence. These papers were for regular customers and were left outside attached to the window. Mr. Lane is endeavoring to make a living for himself, his wife and child, and has a hard fight of it to make both ends meet. He states that these thefts are of frequent occurrence. Surely this must be the work of unthinking boys for all who know Billy Lane would rather help him than take anything from him.

MADOC ROAD is the subject of a complaint from a Sidelight reader who does quite a bit of motoring over the county roads. Says he: "Driving over the Madoc road is highly dangerous. The whole 27 miles is well covered with 1-inch crushed stone which gives an uncertain foundation for a car traveling over 30 miles an hour. The dust from passing cars comes up in clouds and makes it very difficult to see especially at night. It also covers the meadows, of course, and the residents on this road have a most unpleasant life. This road being the shortest way to so many wonderful summer resorts should be kept in better travelling condition and we respectfully suggest that the County Council another year give it a coating of oil before July 1. This highway is travelled by hundreds of American tourists and all campers use it."

BUFFALO BILL CODY is buried away up on a mountain peak in the west, and a huge boulder of rough stone marks the spot where the great warrior and hunter rests from his adventures. Like Cecil Rhodes, great African pioneer, whose final resting place is high up in Africa, a kopje with a great rugged stone as marker, Buffalo Bill, untrammelled in life by the petty conventions of civilization, did not want to be buried in a crowded cemetery or occupy a stately mausoleum. That he is not forgotten was evidenced this week in the meeting at Buffalo of forty relatives, who since his death in 1917, meet annually to pay tribute to his memory and to recall stories of the days when the famous plainsman rode the Western Range and fought the Indians. The history of the cowboy family is also being compiled and each year new stories of Buffalo Bill's exploits are brought to the gathering.

SUPPRESSION OF CRIME

When it stated that over six thousand of those arrested for criminal offences in Montreal in a single year were criminals from other countries, it is not surprising that there is agitation for the adoption of more adequate preventive measures, so that access to this country by criminals may not be so easy. In the past one reason why Montreal has proved such a mecca for the lawless has been the ease with which they have secured bail; by other means the law appeared to have very little terror for them. Fortunately, there has been a marked improvement in this connection, and a better order of things now prevails. It is a well established fact that nothing incites to crime like success, declares the Montreal Star.

AT END OF TETHER

It does not matter very much by what name the reform government is known or labelled. Well minded men will persist in calling it a coalition council, admittedly framed as a critical juncture, in view of special conditions, with a definite purpose in hand, it grips with an economic problem that breaks so many Great Britain has taken the course which has always been followed in gravity of the issue, have acted in the narrow party spirit, but have united their endeavors to defend the final interests of the nation and secure the economy of the household. In this they have amply fulfilled the counsels of prudence and have imitated the example of France and Germany, under similar crisis. Confessedly, the Labor Government was at the end of its tether. No other interpretation can be put upon the reiterated warnings of Chancellor Snowden and the urgent summons of Premier MacDonald to other political parties to come to the rescue.—Montreal Gazette.

SCHOOL VACATIONS

An idle child is no doubt loved just as much by his parents as a busy one, but many mothers are glad when the dawdling days of Summer are past and little Johnny and Mary are back in school. For three months the children have had practically definite to do. Time has not been inactive. The condition of their clothes and their hands and faces after a few hours of play testify to their animation. Try as she will, the mother cannot supervise all their games, keep their meal-time and bedtime as regular as in Winter—nor give their frisky minds and bodies the orderly direction they receive in school. If she thinks they have been somewhat demoralized by the time school reopens, she consoles herself by trusting that their health has been improved through free hours in the open air and sunshine. The task of reorganizing their lives she turns over thankfully to the teacher.—New York Times.

ECONOMIC PLANNING

The faith in haphazard economic methods has not withstood the challenge of such a crisis as the war, nor is it being sustained by the tragic consequences of the present depression. There are twenty million unemployed workers in the world today, according to the League. Brazil, cotton being destroyed in United States, wheat lying in Canadian elevators and manufactured products the world over cluttering the warehouses or failing to price far below costs of production. Under such circumstances, faith in the process of economic trial and error has been everywhere shaken and in many spheres shattered.

Negotiations Make Good Progress and Announcement Likely

New York, Aug. 28.—A private banking credit believed to be the largest in financial history is being marshalled in New York and Paris. Wall Street learned today, as an invincible bulwark for the British pound sterling.

Both New York and Paris bankers it was said in highest Wall Street banking circles, propose to extend the credits so large that there can be no further question as to the stability of the pound, which is so widely used as the common medium of international exchange.

While bankers were not prepared as yet to reveal the exact size of the fund, it is believed that it will be between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000 provided in equal portions by New York and Paris bankers. It is known that each portion is supposed to be larger than the $100,000,000 credit granted to the British Government in 1925 by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan and Company.

It was informally stated at the Morgan offices today that discussions are under way here and in Paris with reference to the credit and detailed progress has been made within the past 24 hours. The arrangements are such that if no unforseen developments occur, some official announcement may be made tomorrow.

Welder Regains Consciousness to Find Shop in Flames

A. F. Armstrong's garage and James P. Dingman's barber shop at Wytewatyn were reduced to ashes by a fire that broke out in the garage late yesterday and threatened other nearby buildings which were saved by the work of the volunteer fire brigade.

Armstrong said he had been using an oxy-acetylene torch in his garage, he must have fainted, he stated, for suddenly he regained consciousness and found the garage on fire.

The loss which was roughly estimated at $8,000 or $10,000 is partly covered by insurance.

WALKS INTO TRAIN KILLED

John Gould Almost Instantly Meets Death

Stepping in front of an on-coming train just east of the station at Stirling, John Gould was killed Thursday afternoon. Mr. Gould, it seems, was crossing the C.N.R. railroad tracks just east of the Stirling depot when he walked directly into the oncoming train. Although his hearing is somewhat affected it can not be understood how Mr. Gould missed seeing the train as he was facing it. The front of the engine hit Mr. Gould and threw him into the ditch at the side. Eye-witnesses rushed to the scene of the accident and it was found that Mr. Gould had had his skull punctured, one leg broken and serious internal injuries. Human aid was impossible and he died at the scene of the accident almost immediately.

Mr. Gould was a life long resident of Stirling and had conducted a dray business until a few years ago when he retired from active business life. He lives across the tracks from where the accident occurred and was just leaving home at the time of the fatal occurrence.

He leaves a wife and one son Edward, both living at home in Stirling. The tragedy was investigated by Dr. Agert, Coroner.

Plane Passengers Taken From Raft

Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 28.—One life was lost and the pilot's courage saved 12 others when an amphibian transport of the Pan-American Airways, bound from Halifax, N. S., to Boston, sank after a forced landing in fog and heavy seas eight miles off here yesterday afternoon.

Edward Barwell, 70, who boarded the plane at Halifax, was trapped in it and drowned. He probably would have been saved had he not tarried to assist a woman passenger to safety.

Nine passengers, including three women, and the crew of three were picked up by a fishing boat after clinging for 85 minutes to a collapsible rubber raft. Seven of the passengers, suffering from minor injuries and immersion, were taken to Addison Gilbert Hospital.

Freight Train Crew Notice Girl and Stop Train

Catherine Hagerman, sixteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hagerman, 3 Elm Street, was taken suddenly ill with a weak spell while walking along C.N.R. right of way near St. Charles St., Thursday afternoon. The crew of a freight train going east noticed her lying on ground between tracks and thought that she had been struck by the train. The train was brought to a stop and the crew kindly rendered assistance to the stricken girl.

In response to call, Constable Evans took the girl ambulance to the scene of the trouble and the girl was taken home.

The girl suffered cuts and bruises when she struggled to get off the tracks as she heard the train approaching.

Gandhi Clad in Loin Cloth Sails to England Takes Along Two Goats

Is Cheered as He Walks to Dock at City of Bombay

"BOYCOTT!" SHOUT

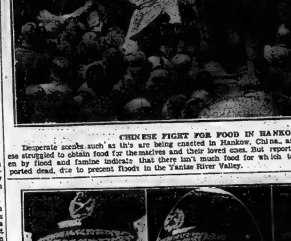
Some Casualties Near Waterfront as Gandhi is Denounced

(By James A. Mills, Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Bombay, India, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Mahatma M. K. Gandhi clad scantily in a loin cloth and shawl and accompanied by his two goats, sailed for England today, amid cheers from left & Goem members of the "Red Flag" Union who were demonstrating against him were seriously injured when they were attacked and their banners burned near the pier by Nationalists.

"I see nothing on the horizon to warrant hope," he said, as he stepped aboard the S.S. Rajputana for the trip to London where he will attend the Second Round Table Conference in India. "I was born an optimist and I am hoping against hope. My faith is in God and He never leaves me and I see no clear for me to go to London. Therefore I expect He will use me as His instrument for the service of humanity. For me the service of India is identical with the service of humanity."

Gandhi walked through masses of cheering people up the gangplank to his quarters on the second-class deck. His scarf was thrown loosely across his shoulder and a watch dangled from his waist. The goats were in charge of Miss Madeline Slade "Mirabai" Slade his British disciple who will remain here to look after his milk, nuts and fruit during the trip.



He was handed his spinning wheel, without which he is a barrister by an especially deputized officer. Affixing his signature, he laughed and remarked "debarred barrister." After studying law in London, he was admitted to the Bar in 1891 but was disbarred in 1922 after his caustic utterances in behalf of Indian independence.

Before he left his house his supporters held a giant farewell meeting. He told them from a balcony that he would pray worthy of all the enormous trust the people hadlaie yesterday.

CHINESE FIGHT FOR FOOD IN RANKOW

Desperate scenes such as this are being enacted in Hankow, China, as thousands of starving Chinese struggled to obtain food for the soldiers and refugees in their loved cases. But reports from every in China strikingly parted dead, due to present floods in the Yantze River Valley.

THREE GALLANT KNIGHTS

Left to right: Lieut.-Gen. Sir Richard Turner, V.C.; General Sir Arthur Currie, and Lieut.-Gen. Sir Percy Lake, K.C.M.G., whose cousi sat and ability is being enlisted in support of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, which opens at Niagara Falls, Ontario, next week.

EMPIRE FAIR IS ADVOCATED

Former Premier Ferguson Urges C.N.E. to Take Action

Toronto, Aug. 29.—A strongly urged proposal that the Canadian National Exhibition invite the nations of the Empire to use the facilities of the institution to stage a mammoth British Empire Exposition here in 1933 or 1934, was made before the opening directors' lunch hour on yesterday by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London.

Heard attentively by such notables as Earl Jellicoe, guest of honor at the luncheon, Premier Henry and Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner in Canada, Mr. Ferguson declared that he could give almost an assurance that nothing would please the British people more than to come here in such a venture."

"I did a little feeling out before I left England, he said, "and I know that such a proposal would be received sympathetically.

Sees Trade Advantages

The expanded exhibition could last three weeks or a month, Mr. Ferguson suggested in his enthusiastic outline of his plan, and would revolve around a pivotal display of the "wild products" of the Empire were glad to spend thousands of dollars to go to South America," argued Mr. Ferguson, "and much the more would they be glad to come here to see them in the exhibition a mecca in the development of closer relations within the Empire, and particularly between Canada and the Motherland. And if I am left as high commissioner I will take up the cause for you."

Mr. Ferguson fed up to his import ant suggestion by stressing the educational as well as the publicity value of the Exhibition and declar ing that trade was "a still greater opportunity for us in the Exhibition an opportunity for the development of economic, social and political re lations with the rest of the Empire." He earnestly urged the Exhibition directors to consider their proposal with the utmost seriousness.

Like Millionaire Short of Cash

Mr. W. E. Schuster in a letter to the Ontario Intelligencer from London, England, cashes the following from The News Chronicle which he says "leaves one with the true impression of England's financial status."

"Hon. Alexander Shaw, deputy chairman of the P. and O. Steam navigation Company and a director of the Bank of England, at the launch at Clasgow yesterday of the P. and O. Canadian Cathage (14 000 tons) said:

"Britain is like a millionaire temporarily left short of cash, and unable to pay the usual fare. Anybody will be glad to lend him his fare and the matters right with the local driver—unless it is notorious that he is a bad payer. A rate far beyond even his ample means.

Wherever business seemed to revive the eternal question of war debts cropped up again and down everything rolled to the bottom.

We have just wearily from Davos Plan to Young Plan, and from conference to conference. The politicians meet and hand the task over to financial experts. A most brilliant financial brains in Europe are set to tackle this hopeless tangle. You might as well seek surgical advice about an earthquake. At root the trouble is political and not financial.

"He could see no hope of relief from the present atmosphere of menace and no prospect of a permanent peace improvement except through the drastic scaling down or cancellation of reparations and war debts.

Confidence Men Rob Canadian Visitor

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 29.—(By The Canadian Press)—Robbed of his first money in four years, Irving Wagner of Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., was last night robbed by confidence men of all his money, amounting to $45.

Wagner was met by two men here who started matching pennies. One of them asked if he could change a $20 bill, and when Wagner produced his money, he was seized by the gamblers. A third man, posing as a police officer, appeared and walked off with the other two. After warning Wagner that gambling was illegal. Police are looking for the trio.

EXPULSION OF MACDONALD BY LABOR BRANCH

His "Soining Anti-Socialist Government" is Reason

PARTY ACTS

Anti-Working Class Legislation is Expected From Gov't.

London, Aug. 29 (CP Cable).—Rt.-Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, who has devoted his life to building up the British Labor Party, yesterday stripped of his leadership and only his young son, Malcolm, among all of Labor's rank and file, defended his action in forming a National Government to deal with Great Britain's financial difficulties. His former colleague, Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, affectionately known as "Uncle Arthur" to British labor, was given Mr. MacDonald's name and will lead a minimum solid force of 281 members of the House of Commons against the new Government when parliament assembles in special session Sept. 8, against that force of men and women the Prime Minister will marshal his combined Conservative and Liberal members.

Lossiemouth, Scotland, Aug. 29 (AP).—Premier Ramsay MacDonald said in an early today to study his emergency government's economy programme, the plan for which was completed last night.

He had two long telephone conversations with No. 10 Downing Street and then returned to work at his desk motored to Forbes to call on an old friend, Sir Alexander Grant.

POLE SNAPPED OFF IN CRASH

Georgetown Driver Is Thought to Have Fallen Asleep

At about seven-thirty o'clock this Saturday morning, Wm. H. Beaupre, Georgetown, Ont., while driving east on Highway No. 2 between Belleville and Trenton, is said, by the police, to have fallen asleep at the wheel with the result that the car he was driving collided with a telephone pole which snapped in two. Provincial Traffic Officer Byles arrived at the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred. Beaumont was not injured. The fender, front lights, front axle and right front spring of the car were damaged.

Gold Output Up, Mines Total Down

Although gold production for the first six months of this year reached a total of $50,207,000 as compared with $46,238,562 for the corresponding period in 1930, the value of production fell from $3.5 millions to 38.3 millions. EVEN SERIES OF PLAY-OFF

National Maids Defeat CIACOs in Fine Battle

Behind the steady pitching of Molly Gray, the National Maids evened the girls' softball play-off series up last night by defeating the Ciaco girls by the score of 8 to 6.

The game was one of the best played this year and featured plenty of fast fielding and sensational hitting on the part of both teams. The Maids grabbed the lead in the second innings when they bagged one run and then added two more in the fifth. But the Corbyville girls with their backs to the wall hammered out four runs in the fifth and sixth to take the lead. The Maids rallied back and scored four runs on the last two innings while their rivals could not get two off the offerings of Molly Gray.

The break of the game came in the eighth innings when the Ciaco team had the bases full and only one out. M. Genereaux hit one through short and the ball hit Shoemaker Patterson and she was called out, thus giving the Maids the only real break of the game. Had Patterson not got hit there is no telling what would happened but those are the breaks that make ball games.

Home runs were aplenty last evening when no less than six home runs were hit by both teams. The players that got the four-base clouts were, Rowbotham, E. Thrasher and Empey for the Maids, and K. Genereal, Dey and Grace Dey for the Ciaco girls. E. Thrasher led the hitters for the game when she collected no less than three hits out of four times at bat.

The third and deciding game will be played on the Victoria School ground on Monday evening at 6.15. The winner meets the Capitols at Kingston in the Eastern Ontario play-offs. Line-up:

National Maids—Kelleher, Gray, Morgan, I. Thrasher, Tuttle, Empey, Shoemaker, Rowbotham and E. Thrasher.

Ciaco—M. Genereal, K. Genereal, Hull, Patterson, Canning, Doolittle, Dey, Hewis, Dey and Sheppard.

Score by innings:

National Maids—0 1 0 0 2 0 0 4 1—8 runs, 14 hits, 4 errors.

Ciaco—0 0 0 0 1 2 0 1 1—6 runs, 10 hits, 3 errors.

Umpires—C. Colling and Woodley.

MACK MACHINE IN DIFFICULTY NEAR WIND-UP

Haas' Wrist Fails to Mend Properly Says Doctor

COCHRANE BACK

(By Gayle Talbot, Associated Press Sports Writer)

Notwithstanding the comfortable lead enjoyed by his Philadelphia Athletics, things are breaking none too well these days for Connie Mack. The select-3 machine he has driven to two successive world championships shows symptoms of cracking up in the home stretch. Probably they've been in the Quaker City saga he yet received came yesterday, when physicians notified him that George "Mule" Haas, his dependable centerfielder, would be lost for the remainder of the season. Haas' wrist, broken several weeks ago, has failed to mend properly. Given a complete rest, there is a slight possibility the fly hawk will be back in the game by his world series, but it is doubtful, say the medicos.

The positions have been playing for a fortnight with only one of their regular outfielders, Mule Miller, and with three fourths of their regular infield. Al Simmons, slugging left gardener, has been out ten with a sprained ankle and Joe Boley, shortstop, has been unable to see little action because of the possibility that rookie Eric Bolling would be injured. The two positions for the Mackmen when the big series rolls around. Cochrane Back

Mickey Cochrane, peppery little catcher, who has been under doctor's caution when he complained of dizzy spells during the Detroit's recent western tour, returned to the lineup yesterday, apparently none the worse for wear. He banged three hits to help the A's win the first of a two-game series from the New York Yankees, 7 to 6.

Trailing 2 to 1 in the start of the seventh, the patched-up Elephants bunched hits off Johnny Allen and his successor, Ed. Wells, for four runs to gain the verdict. Roy Mahaffey, though relieved by Whitey Wilshere in the seventh, received credit for his fifteenth victory. He has been beaten only twice.

For the second straight day the Cleveland Indians hammered out a one-sided triumph over the Detroit Tigers, winning 13 to 4. Mel Harder yielded only four hits, two each by George Uhle and Owen Jenkins, while his teammates made 16 off Crowder and Kimsey.

The Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox failed to cut down the National League game that they forced by the Cubs earlier in the day after three innings. The Senators, who had the lead in the contest finally was called after two lengthy interruptions.

The National League's lone engagement served merely to stretch the St. Louis Cardinals' lead over the field. After going scoreless for the opening three frames, they got to Larry French for two runs in the seventh and added a third in the eighth to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 4. Sparky Adams' double knocked in the winning runs. Geo. Grantham hit a homer for the Pirates in the third.

SCHOOLS WILL REOPEN SEPT. 1

Q.A.S. and Q.V.S. May Not Open Until Sept. 8th

Tuesday is school opening day, and thousands of Belleville school aid laddies will go back to their books.

Collegiate and Vocational High School Trustees Mary Ferrow and King George School are certain to open on Tuesday, September 1st. In the case of the other two public schools, Queen Alexandra and Queen Victoria School, it was stated by Mr. W. W. Ackgrman, chairman of the school management committee of the Belleville Board of Education, it is likely that these schools will not open until Tuesday September 8th, on account of the construction operations proceeding at these schools with the addition of wings for increased accommodation. The work has caused upsets in other rooms and corridors of the school and for that reason it is believed the opening will be delayed for a week. MILLER—WRIGHT

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday at four o'clock p.m. at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Wright, when her second daughter, Ethel Irene Wright, became the bride of Oliver Ross Miller, the son of the bride of Mr. and Mrs. Miller of London, Ont. Rev. Robert Hall of, Bloomfield, officiated at the ceremony which took place in the living room which was prettily adorned with gladioli and evergreens.

The bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her brother, Mr. Frank Beahm, Madoc, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Rae Holmes of Queensboro. She looked lovely in an alice blue dress inserted with lace, and brown kid shoes and stockings to match; she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, bridal roses and lily of the valley.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home where a sumptuous supper was served by her sister, Margueret Wright to twenty five.

The bride, mother of the bride was gowned in a navy crepe dress. She received a gift in the form of a wrist watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller were recipients of many handsome presents.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Robert Holmes and family Queenboro, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Miller, Mrs. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wyatt, Corbyrtie, Mr. Frank Beahm, Madoc.

LIBRARY CORNER

The most important book added to the County Library, this week, is "Intelligible Speech" Lessons, 1913-1914." The author was Britain Isaac Pitman. Headquarters Chief of the French Fifth Army, commanded by General Foch, explained the rights of the British Expedition any Force. He also informed of the doings of its neighbour in order to insure complete co-operation of the two national armies. Information of a similar character is supplemented by official documents and is a story of the Battle of the Marne. It concerned only with the left wing of the British and pertained to the operations of the French with the operations of the French Fifth Army and those of the B.E.F. as they affected that army. General Spears volume will be a standard work on the subject for a long coming campaign, but it is also a most readable and absorbing book. There are a great many illustrations throughout, and the book has been excellent military maps and plans drawn expressly by Lieutenant Colonel Sir Morgan Crofton.

"Gay Lord Quex" by Arthur Wertill, is an exceptionally good travel and drama book. Mr. Wertill, although familiar with the theatre, made a special trip to collect material for this volume. Because he wishes the prospective travellers to know the Riviera as Chase, as he went is disgusted, the author is careful to point out the imperfect sides of the picture. He lists the drawbacks and discomforts of the island as well as its advantages and attractions. To anyone with a taste of a trip to Cube in the back of his head, this book is recommended.

Politics Played No Part in Tragedy

Sorel, Que. Aug. 29—(CP)—After several witnesses had testified there had been no fight following a political argument in a local hotel last Friday night, a coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death in the case of Joseph Millette, 38, who was found outside the hotel.

Oliva Provencal, owner of the hotel, told the court that on Friday night Millette seemed to be under the influence of liquor and had been asked to leave the hotel by the kitchen door, and was next found lying on the sidewalk. Presumably, said Provencal, the victim had tripped and fallen thereby fracturing his skull.

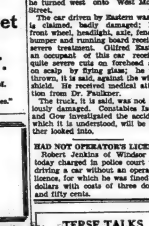
A sister of Provencal said she had seen Millette leaving the hotel alone. There had been no chance of any person pushing him or making him fall. Two other witnesses confirmed this testimony.

Other witnesses stated that the usual political discussion had been held that night but that the argument was no more violent than usual and no angry words. There had been no fight, they swore.

Dr. Rosaire Pelletier, provincial medico legal expert, stated the victim died of a fractured skull. This and the bruises, he said might have been suffered during a fall.

Forehead Cut in Head-on Collision

Friday night, about ten o'clock, a head-on collision occurred on West Moira Street, near the Upper Bridge. Wm. Eastern, R.R. No. 1, Belleville was driving south on North Front Street, and when about fifty feet from the Upper Bridge he was run into head-on, by Sidney Hedford, a truck driver by Charles H. Hedford, R.R. No. 1, Belleville, who was going north on North Front Street and the collision occurred when he turned west onto West Moira Street.



The car driven by Eastern was, it is claimed, badly damaged; left front wheel, headlight, axle, fender, bumper and running board received severe treatment. Gilbert Easton, an occupant of this car received quite severe cuts on forehead and on scalp by flying glass; he was thrown, it is said, against the windshield. He received medical attention from Dr. Bell.

The truck, it is said, was not seriously damaged. Constables Isnard and Cow investigated the accident, which it is understood, will be further looked into.

HAD NOT OPERATOR'S LICENCE

Robert Jenkins of Windsor was today charged in police court with driving a car without an operator's licence, for which he was fined two dollars with costs of three dollars and fifty cents.

TERSE TALKS on TIMELY TOPICS

A WORD TO THE WISE

FELLOW TAXPAYERS:

There are a lot of people who think this is a hard year to live in. In the best world I ever was in, as far as I know, and the best to be had for the money, so I am trying to make the best of it.

We all of us have as much trouble as the other fellow, and some of us more; but, if he thinks this is a bum world, it is probably because he is a bum himself. The world never looks very bright through smoked glasses.

So, instead of trying to send you a message of sympathy, I want to send you a thousand dollars worth of advice. I can't do that, but I can raise it to put on it. Funny thing about advice; the more we think it is worth, the more we want to give it to somebody.

Whatever it is worth, if I can say anything that will make you cuss less and work more, I will have said my stone out of the road or fill up many mudholes with kind words. I shall feel amply repaid, as the preacher said.

If I can say something to make even reading about it a little more pleasant at night that you are being murdered in your own home, I will try.

So here's my advice: Worry less, work more. Don't cry over spilt milk — hunt up another cow. Don't nurse a grouch. It starts to breath. Don't sit down when you should get up. Don't have a glum when you should get up. Don't have a glum when you should get up. Don't have a glum

RELIEF OPERATIONS

Belleville citizens appreciate the efforts put forth by the mayor and the members of the city council to see that there is ample work provided for the unemployed within the city this coming winter. The city council has given much thought to the preparation of plans for the relief of the jobless and an announcement will be made in a very short time as to the projects to be undertaken.

SCHOOL DAYS END

Every good thing comes to an end, even the holidays which seemed so endless late in June. Today they have all but gone and the little folk and the youths and young girls of the city will in a day or so be back at their desks, many to open new books and find their way into a new country of experience, leaving the name which they will be led by their teachers.

The opening day of school may seem hard for some, though it brings the joy of rejoining of schoolmates. It ought to be welcomed for it is the door to better preparation for life's greater.

PRETTY IS AS PRETTY PAYS

Beauty is only skin deep, but the knack of looking canny lasts for years, and pays dividends.

And that's something that counts in Hollywood, where there are so many pretty girls that, according to one wit, a homely one causes a sensation.

You needn't be really ugly, you needn't even be plain in order to reap these dividends," Alice Hubbelsey once reasserted in the Philadelphia Public Ledger Magazine.

You need only be clever, she adds, and "your name may go up in lights with those of Marie Dressler, Charlotte Greenwood, Louise Fazenda, Edna May Oliver, and Zasu Pitts." And there are some further thoughts on the profits to be derived from funny faces:

"Now, clever beauties reign only as long as their loveliness lasts. Marie Dressler has been a favorite for more than fifty years. In real life, Marie is a tasteful, genteel, dignified, kind-faced woman, with a trick of making you forget every one else in any room that contains her. Yet put her in a shabby shawl, drag back her hair, and with a change of expression she is a hard, ignorant, shrewish slum-dweller, worth millions to a producer.

"It's best, in the end, to have started out to play character," observed Louise Fazenda from her end of my living-room couch. "I began, when I was not quite thirteen, by playing Mack Sennett's mother.

"When I was in my 'teens, and all the other girls were allowed to wear gorgeous clothes and look like so many million dollars, it used to hurt me terribly to be cast in parts where I had to be ugly and poorly dressed, or always ridiculous. But now I'm compensated. My contemporaries, when they had to stop being ingenues at leading women, were broken-hearted at not being wanted for anything, or having to step into character roles. It didn't bother me, because I'd always played such roles, and because I find them interesting.

"I get all my characters from life, from people I've known or observed.

"When I was a child, I was the only child in a large family of grown-ups. I used to sit on a stool beside my mother, when she had company, and listen to them and watch them. When I was very little, I'd say things like: 'Mama, what are those Mrs. Snitz's teeth click?' So the formula became:

"Now, Louise, if you sit quietly and don't talk, you may stay.'

"There was nothing to do but look and when the company left I could amuse myself imitating them."

Sometimes "the stars who are known for beauty or dramatic appeal turn to uplification as a means to show their versatility," the writer tells us as she continues.

Norma Shearer has twice given evidence of her ability in this direction, once as a plain secretary who blossomed into a beauty, and once as a neglected wife who turned out to be lovely.

Perfects were achieved mainly by posture, she explains, slumping, slouching, carrying her hands awkwardly, standing poorly, walking ungracefully.

Every little fair has a meaning all its own. So has every big fair, like the Canadian National. So has the Belleville fair which is on four days next week, Sep. tember 1, 2, 3, 4. No two fairs can possibly duplicate though the aims of fairs of the same size run along general lines, but there is that pleasant individuality. Going to one fair does not mean a man has seen all. He has seen one.

The world has gone through many severe trials but few in the financial spheres commensurate with the strain and the stress of the present day, especially with the financial crisis in Britain. But out of the turmoil is the feeling that all will turn out well. The markets show the steadying power of confidence in the pound sterling.

FORTUNE TELLER
By Aline Michaelis

She shuffles the greasy cards and counts
Three equal packs, while a deep flush mounts
To the cheeks of the girl who sits waiting there
With eager glances and shining hair.

With greasy cards in her dirty hands
The gypsy mumbles of foreign lands,
Of a ship at sea and a gift of gold,
Of new love offered, of love grown cold.

She tells of a friend who is false at heart,
Who plays a cunning and cruel part,
And she warns her hearer: "Beware, beware
Of a woman you know who has golden hair!

The fortune teller wears slattern's rags
And, bending above her, the torn tent sags,
Yet all the day long people come and go
And she doles to the credulous joy and woe.

She is stripped of beauty and bent and old,
But she gives girls fairness and poor men gold;
She is thief and beggar and fugitive,
Yet she brings to the weary new will to live.

COL. AND MRS. CHARLES LINDBERGH were given a public reception at Tokio, Japan, on Friday, and the proceedings were broadcast, Belleville listeners-in getting the program between 7.30 and 8.30 a.m. Col Lindbergh, who was thought "mike shy", made an excellent speech in a very diplomatic manner, so much so that listeners-in would think that the United States and Japan were bosom friends, if they were not aware that there is rather a strained feeling between the two nations due largely to the antagonism of the Pacific coast states to the peaceful invasion of Japanese farmers and business men generally.

"LITTLE BOYS SHOULD be seen and not heard," was drilled into the ears of youth when Dad was a lad. That's one of the reasons why Dad sweats blood when called upon to say a few words at any public gathering. Today the boys are encouraged to think and speak on their feet and have not the slightest difficulty making an address upon any subject with which they are familiar. This is the results of training in the schools, churches, and Sunday Schools and the various organizations managed for and by boys. The result of this training is to make the boys more confident and self-reliant and remove any possible inferiority complex which might handicap them in taking a prominent place in the life of tomorrow.

FARM HOMES

During a visit that he paid to Oxford county, Ontario, referred was made by the federal minister of agriculture, Mr. Weir, to the "fine old farm homes" that one will come across there. The Woodstock Sentinel-Review says that the part of that word surprised his audience and that it was misinterpreted as meaning simply that he found the contrast between the fine old pioneer homes with which he was familiar.

"The latter are on the average much less pretentious than those in Ontario. It is the class of home in the former that has been brought about in this respect here is certainly quite as much to it. It used to contend. One cannot fail to be greatly impressed by it in moving about the west. It is the most convincing evidence to the personality characteristics of this part of the dominion go back a quarter of a century of how genuine has been our agricultural progress.

Nowadays there are not many farm homes with sod roofs and cowpanies of which it used to complain that when it rained one day outside it is raining in two days afterwards inside. A degree of comfort has been given to the newly settled localities that would have made the pioneers of a generation ago should it be forgotten that it is not so long ago since the first of the Ontario farmers lived in log cabins. Their successors are reaping the fruits of their courage and industry. Difficult though the opening up of new districts may be, the early establishment of its agriculture on a secure basis is assured. Canada has in most instances been nothing like as arduous as that which faced the men and women who buried themselves in the thickly wooded land of the older provinces and brought out homes for themselves and their descendants. Any such "insurmountable" conditions as are now enjoyed there will as no distant date be the rule in the west as well.—Belleville Ontario.

SCHOOLS AND SAFETY FIRST

The idea, sponsored by the Premier of Ontario, that the public schools of this province should include the teaching of "safety first" as a part of their curriculum is a thoroughly sound one which might very well be followed elsewhere.

Much time, vast quantities of paper and ink and a great deal of eloquence go to the advocating of greater care against the prevention of accidents. Much of the agitation is spasmodic and not sufficiently sustained to have wide effect. Would it not be a better plan to teach—and eventually live up to the teaching—our children at their most impressionable age, so that eventually few and simple rules the observance of which would become automatic would make so great a difference?

We have found that personal hygiene can be taught to the greatest benefit in later years. Surely it is not impossible to devote a very little additional time, to teach the simple and yet very vital and important idea of personal safety. It is not for us to say where and in the initiative of a few of the more energetic and wide-awake teachers, or to the enterprise of organizations however public-spirited and enthusiastic. Education designed to promote the preservation of human life might very well indeed be a part of the whole scheme of the training of Canadian children.—Montreal Star.

"MUMMY WHEAT"

The belief that wheat found in Egyptian tombs, cloced for three thousand years, will germinate in this year of grace has gained new acceptance in the west through the story of an Albert or British Columbia farmer—both these provinces, the most distant are credited with the story—who not only planted mummy wheat but in due time harvested it. It is an old story, this, in a new prosperous setting, and it is regrettable that it is not true; unfortunately for romance it will not eat of the bread that may have nourished King Tutankhamen; mystery and romance and truth will desipay the advertising opportunities of the discovery.

Imagine the advertisements that brings that flour would be made possible. "Eat the Bread of King Tutankhamen Great,' or "Taste the Whole Wheat Bread of King Tutankhamen and be as Beautiful as Cleopatra."—Hamilton Spectator.

WHEN PARTYISM GOES

The Labor Government in Britain, faced with a financial crisis, called in the leaders of the two other major parties. The leaders of the other parties readily responded. Discussion of the problem of balancing the budget, in other words, was made a non-party issue. Why? Because paramount interests were involved, and when that happens, partyism is submerged in order to meet a crisis.

It was in 1914 or shortly thereafter that the last crisis struck Britain. It was a far greater crisis than the present, of course, but its first political effect was wipe out party divisions and to draw all the leaders into one fold. The crisis was the war and the fold was the coalition government.

This serves to demonstrate that in a crisis of major proportions arises partyism is not considered a good medium for solving the national problems inherent in the crisis. Does it not follow that national problems of normal, uncritical times could be dealt with more ably and economically without party divisions?

Partyism has its uses. But it has tremendous drawbacks We see it in Canada today when critical times are here. Co-operation should be sought to help remove the ills of the country. The opposite is exhibited. Paigrism goes on blithely as in the old days when wheat was $1.30 and all seemed right with the world.—Hamilton Spectator.

RACING HORSE DESTROYED

When its leg was fractured in a C.P.R. freight car, it was found necessary to destroy a valuable race horse at Tweed Sunday. The property of an American racing stable, the animal was being taken from Ottawa to Ohio tracks when the accident occurred and the attendants reported it to Mr. J. W. McCutcheon, local agent, when the train stopped here. Dr. Bowlby, V.S., was called and after an examination, stated that he would be necessary to destroy it.

The men in charge of the string of horses, said the animal's value was valued at $7,000. A pit was dug and the carcass buried.

A few hours later a Customs agent from Peterboro arrived and it was necessary to disinter the horse in order that a proper report be filed with the owners and authorities regarding the nature of his death. The animal was buried and was kicked by one of the other occupants of the car

CYRIL MAUDE IN
"THESE CHARMING PEOPLE"

Blue Pearl Dressmaker Monday

It is with great pleasure and pride that Famous Players announce the presentation at the Bells, Monday and Tuesday, Maudie daily, of "These Charming People," with Cyril Maude in his original stage role. It is a Paramount British production. The story, by Michael Arlen, is concerned with a group of society people and in order to have the right atmosphere the director, Louis Mercanton, engaged society people for atmosphere. Several of those taking part are titled people and one is a member of Parliament. Supporting Mr. Maude in the important roles are Godfrey Tearle, Anthony Ireland, Cyril Raymond, Ali Yi, France, Vincent Homan, Nora Swinburne and Ann Todd.

Mr. Arlen's "These Charming People" is centred around a charming old bounder, delightfully portrayed by Cyril Maude; his two lovely daughters, Nora Swinburne and Ann Todd; and his son-in-law, a millionaire shipowner, in which role Godfrey Tearle makes his first and very successful screen appearance.

This is Mr. Maude's second appearance on the talking screen, Colonel Crawford, played by Mr. Maude, is a role full of humor and subtleties of easy-going life-about-town. Particularly amusing is the competition between Colonel Crawford and his young daughter to borrow from the millionaire shipowner who has married into the family.

Charles Delaney, opens up new channels for possibilities in thrillers. Action has been multiplied considerably by the introduction of airplanes used by the police in their work.

The story is one of a convincing nature, well acted and containing a great amount of sane treatment, which gives it an undeniable appeal. Rapid moving sequences, lead the up to a smashing climax will keep the audience in suspense right up to the last foot of film.

"Air Police" has proved a success wherever shown, and Belleville picture-goers will agree that here is a drama to be enjoyed.

Lloyd Hamilton, with his ridiculous crab-walk, puts over a good performance in "Howdy Mates" and succeeds in creating a positive riot.

"Help Wanted," a new cartoon, deserves special mention and will be found to be not only funny but unusually clever.

The Pathe Sound News, always popular and ever interesting, completes a programme which is well worth a visit to the Capitol Theatre today or Monday.

"SWEEPSTAKES" IS A COMEDY THRILLER

Romance, thrills, laughs and pathos wasked hand in hand last night when "Sweepstakes," starring Betty Bronson, Ben Lyon and Jimmie Adams, made its first bigh hard showing before a large audience at the Belleville Theatre.

Laid against the glamorous background of the finish line on the cleverest romances brought to the talking screen in recent months was unfolded before a responsive audience.

The story concerns a young poor girl who, in the midst of a beautiful romance with a cabaret singer when he comes face to face with a millionaire who is about to adopt a homeless rider. How the girl ultimately finds happiness is delightfully handled by Miss Bronson and Paul Hurst offered commendable performances.

Albert Rogell, who directed this entertaining turf story by Lew Lipton, did a good job.

"Sweepstakes" will be repeated again tonight for the last time, along with a program of entertaining short offerings.

Six persons were drowned at Sturgeon Point when two canoes went into the Danube to escape the heat.

ULTIMATUM TO AUTUMN FAIRS

Gov't. Aid Due for Slash in 1932 Says Kennedy

Upon the various Fall Fair associations in Ontario, Hon Thomas L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, is now serving a blunt but possible ultimatum that, unless they discontinue their practice of holding chiefly to Queen's Park for financial assistance, the usual Government grants will not be forthcoming in 1932.

Colonel Kennedy is convinced that many fairs show too little pride in themselves—that they would sooner ask the Government for help than their own municipalities. Consequently, he is taking steps to alter that attitude. This year the usual grants will be maintained, but next year the Government proposes to give to a fair no more money than the fair's municipality gives, on the present basis of contribution, several times, at least, are forced to suspend operations.

The Ontario Government contributes between $80,000 and $100,000 a season, it is estimated, in support of these exhibitions. Under the new plan a portion of the part of this expenditure may be saved. At a time when every department of the Home Administration is on a retrenchment diet, the saving will naturally be welcomed.

Picton

Picton, Aug. 28.—Prince Edward County farmers rejoiced on Thursday morning when rain fell heavily for some time and as skies give promise of more to come. All growing crops will benefit and wells, cisterns and creeks will be replenished, making less work for the farmers as well as the women.

For several weeks past, many farmers have been drawing water for domestic use as well as for their stock, others have been driving their stock long distances to water. Police are seeking a hit and run motorist who was responsible for the death of a horse, a smashed buggy and a badly damaged car. The accident happened near Wartang's Corners on the Bloomfield Road. The horse and buggy were owned by John Ostrander, farmer on the West Lake Road and en route to Picton being driven by Mr. Burnet Reed, who is employed on the Ostrander farm. Mrs. Reed accompanied him. A Ford car coming in the same direction as the buggy pulled out to pass and at the same time was sideswiped by a large car which did not stop. The Ford crashed into the horse and buggy and both vehicles landed in the deep ditch. The horse suffered a broken leg and had to be shot. Occupants of both vehicles miraculously escaped serious injury though Mrs. Reed is painfully cut about the face. The buggy was practically demolished while the car had two wheels smashed and other damage to it.

On Thursday evening, Picton Kiwanis Club entertained visitors at the Campbellford Rotary Club. The visitors staged a splendid program and Rev. G. A. Morden of Windsor, an old Picton boy, gave an address.

A car owned by Mr. J. Collier was burned Tuesday night in the rear and another occupant, Mr. Knight barely escaped from the machine before it was a mass of flames. Cause of the fire is not known.

Miss Margaret Watson is visiting relatives in Belleville this week.

Mrs. R. H. Hubbs and children of Picton, who are guests of Dr. and Mrs. Orrin Hubbs, return to the city on Labor Day.

Mr. Bert Wood of Pittsburgh, Penn., is visiting at his home here.

LOCATED IN TORONTO

A message that Leonard H. Gorham, who had not been seen for some days had been located in Toronto, was received by Mr. Geo. Kerr, 124 Benjamin Street, who is a friend of the family, and he is also the informant to the police in the city police. Mr. and Mrs. Gorham, who live on the Belleville road, for several days returned to Port Hope yesterday and it was in a message from Mr. Gorham that Mr. Kerr received the missing man had been found. It is said that while visiting in Port Hope Mr. Gorham for a short time ago, Gorham drove 24 feet off a pier without his knowledge and that immediately after, he experienced great pain in his stomach and, for the relief of which he obtained medicine.

We say "to make a bed" because in the days of the early settlers it was actually "made" by throwing down a heap of straw in any room in the house.

Ferguson Says STRENGTHENS THRU CRISIS

Strength of Empire Is Indicated

Toronto, Aug. 28—Expressing his faith in the ability of the British people to emerge triumphant 'and stronger than ever from their present difficulties, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner at London, addressing the convention of the Conservative Association in the Royal York last night declared that there was no sign of prosperity in sight for Canada through her connection with the Mother Land.

Speaking at a public gathering for the first time since his return to Canada some weeks ago, the former Premier of Ontario warned his listener against any weakening of the bonds between Canada and the British Isles, and the replacement of them by bonds of purely Canadian one.

"I am a firm believer in the non-partisan principle under responsible government and anyone who has been in public life as long as I have only to recall the vents of the past few days to have faith," said Mr. Ferguson. "It was a striking illustration of the fact that after the fall of a grave crisis, the one man who was the strong figure in each of the three parties together was our Governor General, Lord Willingdon (applause). Remember, he had no party to fear, because he was not about to be elected to dread; he was free to consider the nation's good without political bias or favoritism, and he stepped into the breach at a most critical time.

Austrians Ask to Walk With Warriors

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 29 (By The Canadian Press)—Members of one hundred units of the Czech Legion march side by side in the Warriors' Day parade in the Canadian National Exhibition today, if the request of a group of Austrians and Hungarians is granted.

Then men, who served with the Austro-Hungarian Powers during the war, and are now market gardeners at Richmond Hill, north of Toronto, desire to show their appreciation of the new country in which they have settled by joining in the parade on Warriors' Day.

John Peniak, spokesman, for the party, made known their wishes to Lt. William Guy Carr of the Royal Naval Reserve, who forwarded it to Exhibition authorities.

LOSES APPEAL ON OPERATION

Interesting Lawsuit Appeal Is Heard at Osgoode

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 28.—The official Law List for Court of Appeal, Mich., against dismissal of an action he had brought against Dr. John M. Morrison, of Kingston, Ont., was yesterday dismissed by a majority judgment of the second divisional court, on the ground that grass was adhering to the wheels. The action against Morrison was brought on a charge of negligence in connection with an operation performed by Dr. Morrison in the Kingston General Hospital on February 1, 1930. Plaintiff claimed that as a result of the operation he had been unable to resume his duties as a locomotive engineer with the Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Justice Riddell and Justice Middleton, who heard the appeal, reserved judgment. Mr. Justice Riddell and Justice Middleton dismissed the appeal. There was no evidence of any lack of care during the operation," said Mr. Justice Riddell.

In a dissenting judgment, Chief Justice Latchford and Mr. Justice Fisher would allow the appeal, fixing damages at $1,371. "The operation was unskilfully conducted the result undoubtedly proves," says the Chief Justice.

The electric fan was invented by Dr. Schuyler S. Wheeler in 1880.

ERSEY CITY WINS 2 GAMES BEARS WIN 4

Double Header Goes to Newark Over Bisons

ROYALS AHEAD

(By The Associated Press)

When they meet each other, there is little if any love lost between the International League ball clubs from Newark and Jersey City. But when they hook up against their common enemies around the circuit they usually manage to lend each other a helping hand.

Jersey City made a distinct contribution in the peace of Newark's fleers in the past few days by taking two games out of a series of five from the Rochester Red Wings, Newark's leading rivals, while the Bears swept four straight from the Buffalo Bisons. Newark returned the favor at the same time by four-deleting dropped Buffalo back into the League cellar and allowed the Skeeters to climb to seventh place.

Newark's Win

Newark completed its triumph over the Bisons last night by winning a twilight and finishing one-sided affair, 11 to 1 and 10 to 6. In the opener, Bill McAfee held the hered to six hits while George Quellich drove in five tallies with a homer and a single. Don Brennan fanned 13 Bisons in the second game but gave 10 hits and finally yielded to Myles Thomas. Led by Andy Cohen, who has a triple, a double and two singles to bring home four runs, the Bears made the most of their 12 hits.

Jersey City did its part by splitting the final doubleheader with Rochester, leaving the Red Wings one and one-half back in the league. Red Ehrls took the opener 10 to 2 baked the four-hit pitching of Carmen Hill as they scored seven runs in the first three innings. The Skeeters gave away five runs in the first innings of the second clash but waged an uphill battle to win 5-4. Kiss' triple in the seventh brought in three runs and the victory.

The Baltimore Orioles registered another important gain, taking a pair of games from Toronto and placing themselves only a half game behind Rochester. Heavy slugging behind Beryl Richmond and Lefty Smythe gave them the decisions by scores of 12 to 4 and 6 to 4. The Orioles won both games by late rallies after Toronto had taken the lead.

Most of Montreal's doubleheader with Reading was rained out, but they managed to get in 5 1-2 innings of action and the Royals came away with a 8-4 triumph that put them in a virtual tie with Toronto for fourth place. Gowell Claset pitched five hits, including a homer and a double by Poole that brought in all the Reading runs.

Fellow-Townsmen Will be in North

Toronto, Aug. 29—Having banned liquor and firearms from its trans-Canada highway labor camps,—Dr. Henry Government is now said to be contemplating on a further means of minimizing the possibility of camp disorders—the introduction of a policy whereby no camp unit will be permitted to recruit the personnel from one municipality entirely.

Present intentions are, it is said, to scatter each municipality's quota of trans-Canada workers as widely along the road route as possible the Government's reported feeling in this regard being that far less trouble is likely when such incompassive strangers to one another than if they all came from one particular section of the Province.

The great majority of Southern Ontario men going north have left no engagements with either work or bath ills, and the Government is banking on the employment of a great number of now-jobless Northerners in the camps, if only automatically, the required leadership for the started.

CONFERSES KILLING FOUR

Kabury, Wis., Aug. 29—Andrew Moore, Herndon County jailer, announced today that Cornelius O. Pierson, 45, had confessed the murder of a family of four children, whose bodies were found under his garage yesterday. Moore said Pierson promised "to tell all today." Pierson was locked up after a night of questioning.

Current Sport

There once was a girl so dumb that she thought water boards had something to do with prohibition.

It might be well to mention the fact that another Belleville golfer made history last Wednesday; as well as T. George Tilly, George Peachey, one of Belleville's premier golfers played the Colonial golf course in one stroke under par. The Cobourg course calls for a 73 par while George turned in a 72 score. There was considerable applause when the Belleville man made their records while playing in the same match. Tilly got a hole-in-one.

Bright and early this morning the R.A.A.A. kids left for Toronto where they meet the Columbias, champion juniors of the T.A.R.A. at the Island Stadium. The kids had a smart workout on Thursday evening and Manager All Starr said it about put them on edge. Whether or not Lefty Carter or Ted Wilkins will start on the mound is not known as yet, but both kids are ready and willing to give the Toronto juniors all that they possess in the art of pitching. If the locals do not get stage fright playing before a hostile crowd they will give the Queen City lads all the argument that they want. The date of the return game will be announced after today's game.

The Selphide team passed through Belleville today on their way to play the Gilbards of Napanee, in the first game of the intermediate semi-finals. Both teams are at full strength and a real series is expected. Coach Walt Gerow, of the Gilbards, has spent many hours in preparation for the big series and thinks that if he can play the same brand of ball that they have displayed in their last two series, with Gibson and Kingston C.I.C.'s, they will emerge winners of the series. At any rate the series should be one of the best that ever has been seen in Eastern Ontario in the intermediate ranks.

"Scotty" Kilco, Belleville's popular welterweight, lost his bout to Fahler at the big berry show held in Kingston on Thursday night. Kilco's best with Fahler was the best of the night's card. The boys sakked and gave no quarter and the fans cheered them to an echo. This is the second meeting of these two boys, each boy getting one verdict. (It might be a good idea to match them here in Belleville.)

The hosts, seven boxing and wrestling cards were held under flood lights and was the first big outdoor meet that the Limestone City has ever put on. It was a huge success.

Don't be surprised if Belleville has a softball stadium with flood lights next season. The site has been proposed already.

Chairman Harry Pearson is all ready for the big athletic meet next week. All events are well fixed except the girl's bicycle race. Rear fender skirts will be plenty of entries for that event when the time comes. Some of Belleville's young athletes were in Toronto yesterday attending the Schoolboy's Athletic Meet sponsored by the C.N.E. Most of these boys will compete on Wednesday next week.

All are even—the National Maids won the second game of the play-off series last night by the score of 8 to 6 after the CIACO girls had evened matters in the first game. (Revenge is sweet.) The game was well played with plenty of heavy hitting and plenty of sensational fielding.

The Maids outhit their rivals on the night's play and deserved the win. The third game will be played on Monday evening. It should be a thriller.

KAYE DON

Can he take the Harmsworth Trophy back to England?

"Kaye Don" as the cockpit has the most famous motor boat in the world. It will be remembered in this way as the craft that carried to his death England's foremost speed driver, Sir Henry Segrave. It will also be remembered as the boat in which Kaye Don, having raised it from the ashes, travelled 110 miles per hour, establishing a new world's record, giving England, ordinarily slow speed boats, the supremacy on land, sea and air. Gar Wood, the veteran American, in this year going to have the hardest competition he has ever had in defence of the Harmsworth Trophy. It is said that Kaye Don's boat is so fast that he will not be able to take the turns, and it is on that question that the races will be decided. Don's boat is acknowledged faster on the straightaway, but if he has to slow down for the turns he will need all the speed he can get, for Gar Wood is a master. He is the only man in America for the past ten years.

UNDEFEATED CHAMPION BAKES COME-BACK

Probably because he still feels the itch to get back into the ring, but more likely because he lost so much money in pro hockey last year, Benny Leonard, undefeated lightweight champion of the world, is going to try a comeback. It has always been said, and it seems true enough, that they never come back. Few boxers are there who have successfully reached championship form again after a long lay-off. It is on this theory that critics claim that Benny can't do it. But Benny was always a man of science; he was always a man who believed in getting into the finest condition every time he appeared in the ring and as a defensive boxer, he acknowledges no peer. Therefore it might happen that this same Benny will rise to the heights from which he fell a long year in the boxing game.

FOXBORO DOWNS PRINTERS

On "the village green" in Foxboro known as the Foxboro softball diamond, the Printers went down to defeat before the onslaughts of the heavy hitting village nine last evening by the score of nineteen to five. The Printers collected one run in the opening innings and not until the middle of the game did they add to their measly counter. Four more runs were chalked up in the fourth frame, while in the meantime the Foxboro boys were running the bags rapped mild darkness ended the fracas. The Printers were greatly handicapped on the small playing field. The outfield is studded with trees and fences, while the infield is pitted with holes and hollows. It resembles a miniature golf course more so than a ball diamond. However, Manager Ham, the lead man on the evening's performance and we wish to congratulate the Foxboro team on their win. TARZAN OF THE APES No. 18 (Metropolitan Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.)

Tarzan was anxious to return to the cabin and continue his investigations of its wondrous contents. So early one morning he set forth alone. He found the knife, beside the bones of the gorilla. Entering he closed and locked the door and then turned his attention to the picture books.

The pictures caught his fancy most. One, of a little ape similar to himself, fascinated him mightily. It had a strange colored fur, for such he thought the coat and trousers were. Beneath the picture were these little bugs — B-O-Y. Under another picture the "bugs" appeared again—A B-O-Y AND A D-O-G.

Long he puzzled; but slowly, very slowly, he learned. By the time he was fifteen he knew the various combinations of letters that stood for every picture in the little primer and in one or two of the picture books. He preserved for months each time he came to the cabin.

One day he found a number of lead pencils in a drawer. Scratching upon the table top with one of them, he was delighted to find the black line it left behind it. He attempted to reproduce some of the little "bugs" of his books. It was a difficult task.

Repeated experiments taught him how to hold a pencil. Thus he made a beginning at writing. From then on his progress was rapid. His reason now told him he was of a different race from his companions. He was a M-A-N. He didn't know he could not speak man's language.

BALCONY FALLS GUESTS HURT

Jewish Wedding Proceeds, Four Taken to Hospital

Toronto, Aug. 29—Ten persons were injured and taken to the General Hospital and a number of others escaped with minor injuries yesterday afternoon when a balcony leading from the rabbi's residence into Stratheur Synagogue, Hirsch and Cecil Streets, collapsed during a wedding ceremony, plunging the occupants to the ground, a distance of 15 feet.

As the wooden structure collapsed women screamed and some twenty persons fell, receiving injuries in the fall or from being struck by pieces of falling timber. When the police ambulance arrived members of the wedding party were found hysterical and police had difficulty in finding where the injured people were. Women who had suffered bruised shins were running about the street with their stockings rolled down and throwing their arms in the air. Of the ten rushed to the hospital none is thought to be suffering from injuries which might prove fatal.

Rabbi Solomon Langner, 61, Brunswick Avenue, father of the groom, had both legs fractured and is in the hospital. Rev. Bernard Waldo, 63 Brunswick Avenue, managed to somehow himself from the ruins. He suffered injuries to his ribs. Albert Geller, 8 Oxford Street, had his right leg fractured. Geller and Rabbi Langner were the only victims admitted to the hospital. Others given attention and later removed to their homes were: Wolf Jacobs, 19 Rose Street, cuts and bruises; Rabbi Waldo, bruised ribs; Abraham Langner, 43 Cecil Street, injured leg; Mrs. Pager, 116 Brunswick Avenue, broken wrist; Mrs. Tashowitz, 87 Cecil Street, left leg broken; M. Mankes, 33 D'Arcy Street, cut on head; C. Lozsas, 44 Queen Street East, right leg cut, and Abraham Geller, 39 Bellevue Avenue, injured back.

While the ceremony was carrying injured on stretchers to the ambulances, motor cars, waiting to drive the wedding party, were converted into ambulance Ford rushed; that injured to the hospital.

The mishap did not interfere with the carrying out of the ceremony, which was completed later when the service was performed in Rabbi Langner's residence. The couple about to be joined in marriage were not injured, although they were reported to have narrowly escaped. The synagogue was crowdi t to capacity and most of those hurt were standing on the balcony with Rabbi Langner who was conducting the ceremony. The bride, Miss Dina Silverstein, is the daughter of Rabbi Silverstein. The groom, Isaac Largner, is a son of Rabbi Langner.

Almost Smothered Trapped By Flames

Scarboro' Aug. 29—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson, Stop 22, Kingston Road, narrowly escaped suffocation early Friday morning when they awoke to find themselves trapped in a blazing, smoke-filled house. The couple fought their way through the thick smoke to the bottom of the door, and opened it open in an exhausted condition. It is believed that the fire started from a coal-oil stove in the kitchen which had been used shortly before they retired, and which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson thought had been extinguished. Chief Tom Lowe and his staff of firemen found it necessary to use chemicals because of the scarcity of water. Damage to the house was estimated at $300.

RAVOIR WINS SECOND TIME SWIM CROWN

Philadelphia Girl Duplicates Success of One Year Ago

EVEN RACE

Leads Contest From The Start, Hertle Ends Second

THE FINISH

1. Margaret Ravior, Philadelphia, Pa., 30,000, Time—4 hours, 54 minutes, 24 1-5 seconds.

2. Ethel Hertle Gary, New York, N.Y., 30,000, Time—4 hours, 58 minutes, 30 1-10 seconds.

3. Ethel McGarry, New York, $3,000, Time—5 hours, 13 minutes, 36 2-10 seconds.

4. Leah Riley, Kennebury, N.J., $750, Time—5 hours, 16 minutes, 39 seconds.

5. Evelyn Armstrong, Detroit, $500, Time—5 hours, 20 minutes, 25 1-10 seconds.

Toronto, Aug. 29. — Margaret Ravior, 15-pound Philadelphian, won the 1931 Canadian marathon swim at the C. N. E. on Friday for the second successive year.

"To win one marathon swim is a great noteworthy feat. To capture two in succession is almost superhuman. It has never been done before by a member of either sex; some well-known aquatic critics averred that it never would be done." But Margaret Ravior, swimming steadily throughout with a crawl stroke which varied but little from start to finish, dispelled the idea that marathon swim champions could not repeat, and is today richer by $5,000 as a result of the superiority which she showed in yesterday's event.

No swim ever held by the Exhibition could rival yesterday's event for evenness of performance. There was little change or jockeying for position at any time. The first six swimmers to complete the final lap of the journey finished the course and emerged prize-winners. Their position changed somewhat along the way, but ten, Margaret Ravior, who led, and Ruth Downing the last of them to get within the money," retained the same position at the completion of all laps.

With but two exceptions, all those who finished among the prize-winners have been on previous occasions recipients of prize cheques from the C. N. E. as a result of their proficiency as swimmers.

Ethel Hertle Gary, who captured second place and was favored by some to be home in front, scoremany to c[illegible] the first ed a victory in [illegible] swim which was held for ladies only. Miss McGarry, who finished in third position, was making her second bid for fame in a C. N. E. "splash"; her first attempt last year being a failure, although her showing up to the time when she was taken from the water stamped her as an outstanding swimmer. Leah Riley, fourth prize winner, and Evelyn Armstrong, who followed her to the finishing line, were "repeaters" Miss Riley finishing fourth in 1930 while Mrs. Armstrong captured third position in the same race.

Twenty Git Dees Well

In such a high class field the showing of Ruth Downing is all the more sensational. This slender, youthful and inexperienced maiden, competing for the first time in a long distance event, outswam thirty competitors, several of them considered as "dangerous" competitors, exhibiting a slight nervousness before the contest. Miss Downing took command of the situation shortly after hitting to the water and striking out in convincing fashion soon took her place up among the leaders, and once up there she never relinquished her position. Her showing was the most pleasing and should do much to revive interest in swimming here.

Striking out from the take off Margaret Ravior, Evelyn Armstrong, Ethel Clary, Leah Riley, Ethel McGary and Ruth Downing cleared away from the other swimmers and passed the first lap in that order, roughly five seconds separating Miss Ravior and Mrs. Armstrong, the former's time being 25 minutes 30 seconds, while Mrs. Clary was seven seconds behind Mrs. Armstrong, while Leah Riley was 15 seconds behind Miss Clary. Considerable surprise was shown at the speed with which Ethel McGary covered the first leg of the journey. Known as a speed swimmer, Miss McGary failed to keep close to the leaders down the first stretch and was trailing the leader by 1 minute and 10 seconds, while Ruth Downing was 33 seconds slower than Miss McGary.

Clothes

I know. You don't want me or anyone else to open your closet door suddenly. Things do get messy after any active season and all seasons are active now.

The quickest and easiest way I know to keep a closet in order is to put light into it. Darkness and disorder go together but with the coming of light, things get noticeably neater.

This question of lighting the closet is not a difficult one. The light for the closet of average size should be mounted on the door jamb inside the door, and should be operated by a pull-chain switch. We do not recommend the switch which is controlled by the door and works so that the light goes on as the door is opened and off when the door is closed, because people are too often careless about closing the closet door, and hence the lights is left burning unnecessarily. However, if you are a confirmed door-closer and closet doors should always be kept tightly closed in order to keep fine dust and lint—this door switch arrangement is very convenient.

The light should not be mounted directly in the centre of the doorway, but towards the knob side, so that the cord will be out of the way, though not enough so to pull. If the closet is in a very dark place a luminous marker may be put on the end of the cord will make it easy to locate.

A 50-watt bulb will furnish a fair degree of illumination for the average sized closet, but a 60, or a 100 watt bulb is far to be preferred, for it is amp of this size will give a really excellent light which will facilitate the finding or choosing of things, and its cost of operation will be trifling, because a closet light is only used a few hours a year. In a closet you want a lot of light for a short time, and when you want it, you want it badly.

Many [illegible] have equipped your closet with the high or powered lamp, you will wonder how you got along without it.

If a closet is very large it may require a ceiling fixture in order to be properly illuminated. In this case choose a glass enclosed fixture, similar to the type used in the kitchen, and equip it with a 100-watt lamp. It is also the part of the discretion to have the switch which operates this light placed inside the closet on the wall near the knob side of the door. This is because when a switch is placed outside the closet, it is all too easy to shut the door and forget all about turning off the light.

However, if you own your home you can install a regular time switch on the wall to control the closet light. You set this to the desired time period, and then merely touch the switch to light the light, leaving it to go out of itself.

If your closet is not lighted at all, or is but poorly lighted, remedy this situation before you even repaint the shelves. The cost of installing a lighting fixture in a closet is small, and will repay its cost in convenience a hundred fold.

Unidentified Body Is Found at Pier

Bowmanville, Aug. 29—The drowned body of an unidentified man was found Friday evening at the side of the pier at Bowmanville Beach. The discovery was made by two Hampton lads, who rowed out to the lighthouse. Chief of Police Sydney Venton and Provincial Constable Wood were brought the body to the Northcutt & Smith undertaking parlors where it was viewed by Coroner V. H. Storey and a jury. Papers on the body gave a clue to the identity of the man. He was wearing a silk shirt and brown trousers, with silk socks and sport shoes. A belt with a silver buckle gave no trifle. The man is believed to have been drowned about a month ago. He was about 5 feet, 7 inches tall, and would weigh about 170 pounds. No papers were found on his person, and only a little small change. His hair was black, and he had a perfect set of natural teeth. His nails were well manicured. The police are of the opinion that the body drifted a considerable distance from Bowmanville. An examination revealed no wounds. No one from this district is reported missing.

(By Francis M. Stephenson)

Washington, D.C., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Announcement by the secretary of the Treasury Mellon of a billion dollar financing operation for the September quarter brought President Hoover today face to face, with the vexing problem of how to balance the budget in 1932.

It is a matter he must break out with in conferences with congressional leaders of the House and Senate before the convening of Congress in December. It is expected to be a very much a two-sided problem.

Mr. Mellon, despite his report at this time to another huge bond issue, is known to favor a revision of taxes to raise the necessary fund to meet a prospective billion dollar deficit next year. The fiscal year ending June 30 incurred a $903,000,000 deficit, largely met by a long term bond issue.

France Ready to Place Army, Navy, Air Force Under League Control

French People Ready to Take Momentous Step in Way of Peace

STATEMENT ISSUED

Universal Peace Aim Says French Chairman of Foreign Affairs

Paris, Aug. 31 (AP).—A proposal that the nations of the world place their armed forces under the control of the League of Nations and a prediction that Germany would seat the way at the 1932 Disarmament Conference was made today by Joseph Paul Boncour, Foreign Affairs Chairman of the Chamber of Deputies, in a statement to the Associated Press.

Inasmuch as M. Paul-Boncour is acknowledged as France's greatest authority on disarmament what is certain to be one of France's chief delegates to the Disarmament Conference in Geneva next February, his statement was considered to be of such far reaching importance that it will give a definitely new angle to the struggle for the reduction and limitation of armaments. The impression prevailed that he would not have made the statement unless he was convinced that it harmonizes with responsible opinion in France.

"When the Disarmament Conference meets upon the actual figures of the defense strength of each country," he said, "the idea is that these forces should cease to be forces left entirely to the discretion of these countries and that there should be an international organization to settle a real [illegible].

"I mean that the Council of the League of Nations should be charged with a case of proved war of aggression should be empowered under Article 16 of the League Covenant to make use of these forces with a case of proved war of aggression should be empowered under Article 16 of the League Covenant to make use of these forces with a single vote.

"If other nations like us ready? Are they willing to put their armed forces under the control of the League of Nations? By this gesture the problem of parity might be solved. M. Paul-Boncour said that this limitation of armament is linked with the idea of creating an international police force which will ensure respect for territorial decisions and with a policy of imposing penalties on nations which have been declared aggressors. He said that French circles yearned for perpetual peace and are growing apprehensive over next year's Disarmament Conference.

Paris, Aug. 31 (AP).—Joseph Paul Boncour, chairman of the committee on foreign affairs of the French Chamber, told the Associated Press today that France is ready to join in the interests of universal peace to limitation of armaments, naval and air forces under the control of the League of Nations.

"When the Disarmament Conference meets upon the actual figures of the defense strength of each country," he said, "the idea is that these forces should cease to be forces left entirely to the discretion of these countries and that there should be an international organization to settle a real [illegible].

"I mean that the Council of the League of Nations should be charged with a case of proved war of aggression should be empowered under Article 16 of the League Covenant to make use of these forces with a single vote.

"If other nations like us ready? Are they willing to put their permanent air, naval and land forces under the control of and at the disposition of the League of Nations? By this gesture the problem of parity might be solved."

Later the accused were called to a house on College Street where it was claimed by Mr. Lowe by the name of James Hedger was causing a disturbance. Hedger was located and arrested on East Moira Street after it is said by the police he had threatened the man who had entered with another person. Appearing in Lowe house earlier in the night, to which he objected to have a key in police court this morning he was fined $10 and $7.00 costs in all by the police that Hedger, his wife and two children have been living with Mrs. Earl Jellico, the mother on College Street and that last night, owing to the disturbance he is said to have been making his wife and children had left the house and his mother had sent for the police to effect him. Constable Isaard located the wife and children and escorted them back to the house in which they had been living their home. Hedger did not pay and so "went up on the hill" for 15 days. The charge was "drunk and disorderly."

Letters to the Editor

Amelisburg, August 29.
Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

I took very much pleasure in reading Rev. Mr. Cantrell's article in one issue of your paper this week and hope we may hear from him again. I for one firmly believe that our God who created the earth and peopled it with men and women is not going to hand the ruling power over to any other hand. Although there does seem a strong tendency towards the world and its alluring snares, yet I thank God that I believe there are thousands of His people who are praying for a revival of the old-time power of the Spirit of the Living God for He still reigns in the hearts of His people and will reign till He has put all His enemies under His feet. The grass withereth and the flower fadeth but the word of our God shall stand forever. Let us all show, who profess to be His followers, just where we stand and what we stand for.

Embarrassing Moments

Fair Grounds Scene Of Activity On Eve Of Show

Large Exhibits And Fine Program Are Offered

SOME DETAILS

The hum of activity is quite perceptible around the fair grounds on Monday as preparations are being made for the opening of the Belleville Fair. Exhibits are being brought in and placed in position much earlier than in former years, in fact many herds of cattle and sheep horses are already on the grounds while a number are being brought in this morning. Quite a few members of the fair board will have to make permanent arrangements to house their exhibits.

Grounds Beautiful

Never before in the history of the new agricultural grounds have they looked so beautiful as at this year. With the help of the Horticultural Society, the grounds have been made a bower of beauty with flowers, shrubbery, and beds of brilliant colorings, that correspond to the general scheme of colorings around the grounds. The lawn about the band stand is a velvety green and much credit on the caretaker for his effort to have it in proper shape for the fair. Another improvement will take place from the band stand to the grandstand where a flagstone walk will be placed.

Midway Arrives

The Harry Lottridge Midway, which played at Napanee the past week, moved into the grounds on Sunday but operation for erecting the tents did not start until Monday. This show will be augmented by other attractions from that played at Napanee and Belleville is rather fortunate in having a clean midway for the fair, there will be rides for all, both young and old, while some exciting features will be shown. The midway will be placed in the area between the grandstand road leading to the grand stand.

The directors for years have tried to build up a large exhibit of cattle and horses and this year has exceeded their fondest expectations, for not only are the horse and cattle as has come to hand and there are many more expected before the show opens, but the horse events as has come to hand and there are many more expected before the show opens, but the horse events as has come to hand and there are many more expected before the show opens, but the horse events

THREE LOCOMOTIVES IN ONE

And it's no exaggeration to use such figures when we speak of the "8,000," which, the New York Times tells us, is the biggest and strongest locomotive in the world.

This new "iron horse," from the stables of the Canadian Pacific, earned its title when in a tryout it hauled a train more than a mile long and weighing 7,961 tons, equivalent to three normal trains on the division where the test took place. It ushers in a new era in steam motive-power say enthusiastic observers.

Not only is the "8,000" the biggest locomotive in the world, it is the first of its type in North America. It is nearly 100 feet long and weighs more than 1,000 feet long and weighs more than 1,000 tons. It was built for the Canadian Pacific Railway for heavy freight and passenger service in the Canadian Rockies, and was put through its first run between Smith's Falls, Ontario, and Montreal. Continuing:

Originally constructed to haul a train weighing 6,000 tons, the engine, known as the "8,000" multi-pressure locomotive, actually pulled a load weighing 7,961 tons, equivalent to three normal trains on that division, and covered 128.7 miles in five hours forty-five minutes, with a 30 per cent. less economy over other freight engines, it was said by H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock of the C. P. R., who designed the engine. The train was more than a mile and a third long.

The "8,000," an oil-burning, three-cylinder type, is said to represent a new era in steam motive-power, and is abreast in most respects in mechanical and railroad circles, particularly because of a radical departure in boiler design, and because of the high steam-pressures used, with resultant fuel economy.

The engine weighs 485,000 pounds and the tender 300,000 pounds, a total of 392½ tons, while the over-all length is 99 feet 3-8 inches, an increase in weight of 54,500 pounds, and an added length of fourteen inches over the "5,900" series locomotives, the biggest prior to the construction of the "8,000."

The tractive effort of the locomotive is 90,000 pounds, an increase of about 17,000 pounds. This means that on a level track the "8,000" normally will haul 160 forty-ton freight-cars, a total weight of 6,000 tons.

On its first trial run, we are told, it exceeded this load by 1,961 pounds, "nearly one-third more than it was designed for."

The term "multi-pressure" is applied because steam is generated in three separated portions and at three different pressures.

The firebox and combustion chamber are formed by tubes in which steam at 1,300 or 1,350 pounds' pressure a square inch is generated from distilled water.

After he made a special trip to Europe in 1929 to study various types of locomotives, Mr. Brown designed the "8,000" in cooperation with the American Locomotive Company and the Superheater Company of New York. It was built at the Canadian Pacific's Angus Shops at Montreal.

Belleville Fair is earlier than it used to be, there is that touch of the coming autumn in the air, which will make any crowd feel that the fair is timely and not unseasonable.

Support the men and the women from the country and the city who have the courage and zeal to keep the fair alive and to endeavor to extend the Belleville district exhibition. They have performed a community work—their work is done for 1931—and that of the citizens is yet to be performed, by their attendance which will endorse the efforts of the enterprising officials and directors who have been so far guiding the fair successfully.

THE EVE OF THE FAIR

Today the finishing touches were put on arrangements for Belleville's annual Fair. Preparations which have been under way for this event are going to show to fine advantage tomorrow. Those who attended the Sunday concert received some impression of the improved beauty of the grounds and of the general advance made by the Fair Board and the Parks Board during this summer in the park.

A look over the cattle sheds Saturday and today brought a revelation of the growth of the fair. Far beyond two hundred head of cattle are to be shown. There has been nothing like this interest by breeders ever experienced before at the Belleville exhibition. The sound of the hammer was heard late Saturday putting on the additional sheds required for the animals, the total entry of which has exceeded all bounds and run far beyond the fondest hopes of the most enthusiastic director.

IN HARMONY
By Alias Michaelis

Perfection is not won by man, so he
Whose hands caress the keys
May sometimes miss the master's melody
And spoil rare harmonies.

Sometimes a sharp, discordant note may jar
Upon the ears that wait,
And with its strident tone all sweetness mar,
All beauty violate.

So, also, through the toil of nature runs
At times a fault, a flaw,
Yet age on age the hystems and the suns
Have marched beneath the law.

In matchless harmony the planets spin
Their ordered way through space;
Such force as draws the tides now out, now in Holds all in its embrace.

And if in some dark hour a discord rings
Through any life we see,
We must remember then how all life swings
Through space in harmony.

WILD LIFE IN FOREST FIRES

American Forest contains an article by Duane H. Kipp on the destruction of wild life in a great forest fire which every outdoor-lover should read. It is a horrible tale of the suffering of fish, birds and wild animals noted in a survey made in 1930 by the Wisconsin Conservation Commission, after the worst forest-fire year Wisconsin has experienced since the introduction of forest protection. And since barely 1 per cent. of the forest fires in Wisconsin are started by lightning, man must take upon himself the blame for the agony he inflicts upon helpless creatures.

Will the hunter or camper ever learn to think of the ravages that result from carelessly flipping a lighted cigarette into the brush, or leaving his fire burning when he has done with it? Nor should he consider only the immediate suffering and actual death of the wild creatures, for the greatest number perish from the after-effects of the fire. Food is destroyed. The bare woods lend the animals no protective covering, and they become an easy prey. Warmed and sub-poisoned water and the lack of oxygen combine to kill fishes. The survey showed that fully 60 per cent of the deer suffered from badly burned feet. Thousands of eggs are destroyed in Spring fires, and mothers are found dead in their vain efforts to protect their eggs and their young.

The whole effect of forest fires is probably more destructive to game than the sum total of all the violations of the hunting and fishing laws.

WHY NOT HAVE A PURPOSE IN MOTORING

Purposeless motoring—the Sunday outing which leads nowhere save into the dust and back again—has evoked a protest from Dr. Frederick Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation. Most motorists, he suggests, devote their Sundays to gratifying their taste with memories of detours, traffic cops, cricket chirps and other nuisances. He quotes Charles Merz, author of "The Great American Band-wagon," as follows: "It is worth no man's while to ride his horse hard ten miles from break of dawn on Sunday just to add another pennant to the ordered way through space; Such force as draws the tides now out, now in Holds all in its embrace. And if in some dark hour a discord rings Through any life we see, We must remember then how all life swings Through space in harmony. But he may well ask himself why he uses his car. Purposeless motoring—the Sunday outing which leads nowhere save into the dust and back again—has evoked a protest from Dr. Frederick Keppel, president of the Carnegie Corporation. Most motorists, he suggests, devote their Sundays to gratifying their taste with memories of detours, traffic cops, cricket chirps and other nuisances. He quotes Charles Merz, author of "The Great American Band-wagon," as follows: "It is worth no man's while to ride his horse hard ten miles from break of dawn on Sunday just to add another pennant to the ordered way through space." From a point one hundred and eighty miles distant, the correspondent of two dozen policemen and seven cities all added. Thus he gives point to his adverse comments on aimless motor wanderings.

Dr. Keppel refers to a man who, by use of his motor on week-end trips, has studied the battlefields of the various battles in U.S. history, while another has studied the habits of turtles as he passed from place to place. To those who would make their motoring purposeful, he suggests the Carnegie Corporations by the president of the Carnegie Corporation. This province is dotted with places of historical importance, whose study would prove of absorbing interest, while our electrical development and other features of our own industrial progress, as well as nature study, will undoubtedly appeal to any who wish to devote their week-end motoring to useful ends. The Ontario motorist who desires to hobby need not seek far for a worthy one. And he might prove still more advantageous if most motorists drove to church.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

ADVERTISING A CENTURY AGO

The Ontario Historical Society recently issued Volume XXV of its papers and records, containing many articles of interest, not least of which, from the standpoint of newspapermen, at least, it is a paper on "Journalism in Belleville," by J. Owen Herity, B.A., manager of Belleville Chamber of Commerce. He relates that the second newspaper in the town, The Phoenix, was established in 1831, by T. Slicer. It lived but one year, and notwithstanding its name failed to rise from its ashes. Mr. Herity had the opportunity of perusing a file of issue of February 7, 1832, and commented upon the fact that it did not contain a single item of news in reference to Belleville or the surrounding country, with exception of a statement of appropriations for roads and bridges. Its reading matter was copied, but two pages of advertisements and notices did give real news and afforded an expressive commentary upon some of the conditions and customs of a century ago. Outstanding among these was an announcement by John O'Connor, merchant tailor and landed son of Erin, which may must have brought results:

"Yes, gentlemen, the present is the time—no man knows what the morrow may bring forth. I am now ready to take your dimensions, cut your cloth and rig you out for the winter. Sharp always and a clear conscience, fine cloth and good figures, reasonable cash or approval credit are articles that will always be in demand.

"John O'Connor may be found at his shop where he will receive most cordially all who may be in want of assistance in tailoring and will warrant as good fits and as tasty work as can be found out of Montreal and New York. His last coats are allowed to take the shine off any ever made in Belleville. So mind.

"Having the best workmen to whom he pays first-rate prices, he hopes to be enabled to put the lillies on all artizens of his cut, that will make one's eyes water and cause the ladies to exclaim, "That's the time o'day my flower."—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

WHERE WILD ANIMALS LOSE THEIR FEAR OF MAN

Commenting on the protection of game in the national parks of Canada, a correspondent of the London Times relates a number of incidents to show the rapidity with which wild animals lose their fear of man. The most remarkable incident concerns beaver, which are noted for their shyness.

He relates that Grey Owl, an Indian recently given a position in Riding Mountain Park, Man., "wished to discover a small colony of beaver not claimed by some other hunter, his purpose being no longer to trap but to preserve the animals. Near a wilderness lake he was successful in finding a couple of small families. With them and a few hand-raised young beaver he began his experiment in conservation. The saving of the beaver was to become his life work. Always a sympathetic observer of the ways and character of wild folk, Grey Owl began to make friends with these shyest of creatures. 'To-day they will come at call, climb out of the water into his canoe, eat out of his hand, and follow him about his camp like domestic pets.'

The article is accompanied by an illustration showing Grey Owl crouching in a meadow and a beaver eating from his hand, with one paw resting socially on the Indian's knee. It must be admitted that the beaver has one eye to wincward but that is an old habit no yet overcome.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

IN A GARDEN

All flowers in a garden
Should have delightful names
That subtly hint at beauty.
Or grace like Heart's Ease, Flames.
And every garden lover
Owes fervent thanks to those
Who gave such charming titles
To mignonette and rose;
To columbines and tulips,
To daffodils, all gold,
And iris buds that softly
Their frail blue wings unfold
They lose that in a garden
All beauty should be found;
The right kind of color.

Plague of Skunks Puzzles Islanders

Bayview, P.E.I., Aug. 31 City Councillors in Canada—This island is beset by a plague of skunks, unknown to an earlier generation of island farmers. Imported here for fur purposes from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia at the height of the fur boom a dozen years ago, they were turned loose by their owners when the bottom fell out of the market. They have taken—kindly to the island, its geese, its ducks and its chickens, and are propagating freely, notwithstanding a lusty warfare of traps and shot gun.

New Zealand Drafts Idle Men For Work

Wellington, New Zealand, Aug. 31—(AP)—Plans whereby all single unemployed men in New Zealand would be drafted to work on highway and land development schemes with only nominal pay were being developed by authorities today.

With unemployment relief funds overdrawn by about $1,130,000, the unemployment board decided to divert future expenditures to more productive channels and announced that camps would be established under the control of the public work department.

Catfish Horn is Cause of Loss of Eye

Chatham, Aug. 31—The pupil pierced by the poisonous horn of a catfish, the right eye of four-year-old Floyd Record, Thamesville, was removed by hospital surgeons here.

The boy fishing in the Thames river was using his prize from the water when the fish jumped hitting him in the face. The catfish expels poison through its horn and in a few minutes the lad's eye and face had swelled and he sank into a stupor before reaching the hospital.

FREIGHTER IS LOST WITH ALL LIFE SAVINGS

Owners and One of Crew Taken Off As Pair Row to Shore

BATTERED 24 HOURS

Drifted Helplessly With Disabled Motor—Chicago Brothers Lose All

Southampton, Aug. 31—The life savings of a family went to the bottom of Lake Huron last night when the Francis P. Ritchie of Chicago, a 150-foot motor freighter, sank from sight after heavy seas had battered her mercilessly for 24 hours against Chaffy Reef, a mile and a quarter off this village.

Her owners, Matthew and Al Pellar of Chicago, with one of their crew of three men, were taken off exhausted late Saturday night by the local lifeboat crew after many hours spent in the tiny vessel's yawl successfully made a hazardous break for shore in the freighter's single boat.

The Pellar brothers explained they had recently bought the boat in Chicago, investing everything they and their wives and their family connections could scrape together. The freighter did not carry a cent of insurance. They were on their way to Miami, they said, to establish an oil transportation line between Miami and Mexico.

Kegs Washed Up.

Kegs that washed up on the shore with the wreckage last night and which immediately started rum ons about rum-runners, later turn ed out to contain fuel oil for the ship's motors.

The freighter ran on the reef late Saturday afternoon after three days of heavies drifting in the storm which has raged up and down the west coast of the Bruce Peninsula. One of her twin motors became disabled late Thursday and she was unable to hold a straight course. They were making, as they thought, for Kincardine.

Reticence on the part of the owners and crew after they had been up at the Walker House here, together with the nearby appearance and slightly foreign accents, enhanced the picture of a rum runner come to grief which the kegs created in the local imagination. The brothers last night explained, however, that they had wished to conceal their identity lest word get to their wives in Chicago that they seriously figured as well as the family hopes were wrecked.

POLICE BULLET ENDS GUNMAN

Okotoks, Alta., Scene of Pistol Fight Officer Wounded

Calgary, Alta., Aug 31—(Canadian Press)—A gunman was killed, constable Stewart of Okotoks, was wounded when and two of the gunman's companion's were arrested in a pistol fight between police and the trio at Okotoks, Alta. shortly before midnight as a sequel to the slugging and robbing of a Calgary taxi driver earlier Friday evening.

Names of the dead gunman or his companions were unknown to police. A Squad of detectives raced from Calgary to the oil town, 30 miles south, when a call for aid was received.

Arthur Laidman, Calgary taxi driver, while driving three men to a city address, was slugged over the head and taken outside the city limits, where he was gagged and tied to a tree.

Steal Car

Taking the car, the trio headed south to the oil town. Meanwhile Laidman gained freedom, walked several miles to a farm house and telephoned city police. Shortly before midnight Constable Stewart of the Okotoks police and Sergeant Brimblecombe of Alberta Provincial police, became suspicious of a car answering description of the two. They gave chase, and at the top of the Okotoks hill the men in the fleeing car opened fire.

The gunfight continued for several miles. The desperados' car stopped when the unidentified gunman was killed. The other two continued shooting and Constable Stewart was wounded in the right eye. The two men then surrendered to the police and were taken to Okotoks.

TILLIE THE TOILER

LITTLE BENNY

By LEE PAPE

Pop is staying home for his vacation instead of going on a fishing trip, and today after lunch he was standing on the front steps smoking a cigar and I was standing there asking him questions, and ma came out and said, Willyum, you if you're not out catching any fish this vacation at least you can bring some home from the fish store, and the fish probably wont know the difference, hee hee. I wish you'd go and get me 4 fair size blue fish, she said.

O. K. I said, I will, Benny, pop said.

And we started to go around to the fish store, pop saying, Who says I cant catch them, I can catch any fish that I see, thats the kind of a fisherman I am.

And when we got to the fish store pop said to the man, How about throwing me a good size blue fish.

Ill rapp them rite up for you, the man said, and pop said, That comes later, Id like to catch them first, and how am I going to catch them if you dont throw them ?

O, I see, O.K., stranger things than that have happened, and rite around here, too, the man said. Here comes the first bite, he said. And he quick threw a fish at pop and it hit him rite in the middle of the stomach and was a big fishy wet mark on his coat, the man saying, Im sorry, I sippose you werent quite reddy.

Thats all right, a fisherman should always be reddy, pop said. Throw another one, he said. With the man did and pop caut it and it slipped out of his hands on account of being all slippery, and pop cawt it again against his knees, and pop said, Throw a couple of trout for a change, ive had more experience catching trout.

O. K., here they come, the man said. And he threw 2 more fish rite after each other and by the time pop got through catching them it was pitch dark and he juggle them he had fish marks all over him, and the man rapped up the fish and pop gave them to me to take home with me. I went around to the tailers to change his suit for the one that was around there being pressed.

MALCOLM DEFENDS HARASSED FATHER

Only one of the 281 members of the British Labor Party had the courage of his convictions to stand on his feet and publicly defend Ramsay MacDonald's action in hea ding the National Government, and he was Malcolm MacDonald, son of the Premier. His eloquence was of no avail, however, and Ramsay MacDonald was removed from the leadership in favor of Arthur Henderson. Above is a picture of the harassed British La bertie and his son.

OVERCOMING A WEIGHTY PROBLEM

The ingenuity of a couple of Jasper National Park cowboys solved a "weighty" problem for M. Georges LeFevres, Havre, France, when he expressed a desire to ride while at Jasper Park Lodge. A block and tackle, attached to a nearby tree, was all that was necessary to hoist M. LeFevre's 270 pounds high up and into the saddle.

Tomorrow is the big DAY—Bellyville's biggest and better Fair opens it's gates tomorrow morning. The big attractions tomorrow are the speeding events of the day. At 2.00 p.m. (Standard Time) the 2.30 class with a purse of $250.00 will start. This heat will be followed by the 2.14 class for a purse of $250.00. Then comes the fun of the day, the farmers running race, this race has more entries this year than any previous year according to the advice given out by Sec. H. H. Ketchmore. That looks like a very good afternoon's entertainment as all the classes are filled to capacity. Well over sixty horses are entered for the race meet at this year's fair. Most of them are here now but some more are expected today and tomorrow morning.

Don't forget all events at Bellerille Fair, this week, are called at Standard Time.

Tonight at 6.15 p.m. the third and deciding game of the playoff, between the National Maids and the CIACO girls for the title of the Bay of Quinte League will be played at the Armouries. Both teams have won a game and the big battle is now on. On the season's play the Maids should win as they have had but one game in six to the hard hitting Corbyville lassies. But the CIACO bunch have been playing heap-up ball ever since the play-offs started and if they keep up the spirit that has carried them thus far they will be right "in there" at the end of the game tonight. Here than likely both managers will start the same two pitchers; Molly Gray of the Maids and Bessie Desillle for the girls from Corbyville. (May the best team win.)

Down in Napanee on Saturday, the Gibbard's team, after trailing for five innings, broke loose and knocked "Archie" Campbell's slants "high up and far away" for seven runs in the fifth frame. Casey then went in Campbell's relief but did not fare much better as they collected five runs off his deliveries in the final innings. The final score being 15 to 9 in favour of Gibbards. Coach Walt Grover kept the Napanee boys on their toes when they started to wonder just how good Campbell was in the first half of the game. It might be added that Campbell has pitched much better ball than he displayed in Napanee on Saturday, the same can be said of "Doug" Fraser, Gibbard's star right hander. Both teams will have quite a time scoring that many runs again off the deliveries of either Campbell or Fraser. The second game is to be played at Tweed on Wednesday and after Saturday's exhibition is should be a real battle.

What's going to be done about senior ball in Bellerille next year? Other towns are out scouting right this minute. Something should be done right away if senior ball is to be played in Bellerille next season.

Vern Weir's B.A.A.A. kids ran amuck on Saturday and committed no less than seven errors. The kids played in front of the largest crowd that they had ever seen, about 1,000 saw the game, and perhaps the hostile crowd made the kids a bit stage-struck. They feel assured that they can win the second game here. The game will be played at the Fair Grounds on Labour Day at 2.15 p.m. This is the first ball game that has ever been played on Labour Day at the new park and it is expected that a large crowd will greet the kids on that day.

"Bud" Wilkins hurled about the best game of his career only to see the game slip from his grasp. The kids deserve a lot of credit for the splendid battle that they put up and won the admiration of a large number of the Toronto fans for the way they battle back in the face of defeat. But then Labour Day is another day and the kids feel assured that they can force the issue to three games.

1931 CHAMPION

Lillian May, the new Canadian women's sprint champion, runs exactly like her coach, Myrtle Cook McGowan, and with the same speed too, apparently. Added to that she is said by those who presumably speak with authority on the subject to be one of the prettiest girls in women's sport anywhere. In fact she is as beautiful as Enid Calloerwood, the Saskatoon lily, 'tis said. Be this as it may, Miss May looms as a possible successor to the shoes of Myrtle Cook, that grand racer, and Rosa Grosso and others who for years have kept Canada at the top of the heap in women's international sport. Miss May won the sprint crown at Wetaskiwin, Alta., the other day, breaking the national record for 200 metres.

SEASON'S CROP AND BARN ARE DESTROYED

Fire did $5,000 damage in the eleventh concession of Hungerford, on the farm of Wesley Badgley, when his large barn with ninety tons of hay and the autumn crop was lost last week. The blaze occurred during threshing and the men in the now were at work when some one shouted from the outside "Fire" giving the alarm which gave the men just time to make their escape out of the barn. The fire started in the straw stack and soon the barn was enveloped in flames. The livestock was all saved, the horses being taken out.

The threshing machine was the property of Johnson Brothers.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

On the day Tarzan established his right to respect, the tribe was gathered in a small natural amphitheatre. Here safe from interruption they celebrated victories. In the centre was one of those strange earthen drums the anthropoids build for their queer rites, which men have sometimes heard but never witnessed.

Tarzan, Lord Greystoke, is doubtless the only human being who ever joined in the fierce, mad, intoxicating revel of the Dum-Dum. This day the grisly rites marked the killing of a giant ape—a member of another tribe. Two mighty bulls laid the body before the earthen drum.

They squatted there beside it as guards. The other apes curled themselves up to sleep until the rising moon should give the signal for the commencement of the savage orgy. For hours absolute quiet reigned. At length, as darkness settled upon the jungle, the apes commenced to bestir themselves.

They formed a great circle around three old females, who, armed with knotted branches, began softly tapping upon the resounding surfaces of the drum, as the ascending moon altered the tree tops. Presently a wild rhythmic din pervaded the jungle for miles ar und. It rose to almost deafening volume.

Kerchak sprang into the open space, threw his head far back and, beating his breast, emitted thrice his fearful roaring shriek. Other males repeated the horrid, bloodthirsty screams. Then began the mad whirl of th. death dance. And Tarzan, sweat-streaked, muscular, glistening, was one of the wild leaping hordes!

B.A.A.A. KIDS DEFEATED IN 1ST GAME 8-1

Columbias of Toronto Took Their Measure at Island Stadium

ERRORS COSTLY

Locals Committed Seven in the Contest Each of Which Hurt

Before 3,000 hostile fans the B.A. A.A. juniors lost the first game of the O.B.A.A. junior semi-finals to the Toronto Columbias at the Island Stadium in Toronto on Saturday by the score of 8 to 1. The locals committed far less than the seven costly errors that the pitching of "Red" Wilkins and interference from the crowd gave.

The kids were playing before the largest crowd that they had ever seen and were a bit stage-struck but once they settled down they gave a good account of themselves. The boys battled back from the start and although they lost by 8 to 1 still the last man was out and after the game they received many words of encouragement from the fans that witnessed it.

Starkers Were Good

Both pitchers turned in good ball with Tommy showing but 4 hits while all the Columbia runs were off Red Wilkins. Because of Wilkins were six bingles, two of which were of the scratch variety, but could get them they can win the second game, that is to be played in Belleville on Labor Day afternoon.

After the locals got used to the surroundings they displayed some real baseball ability, especially the way in which the kid covered a lot of ground and accepted no less than seven chances without a slip. The Columbias scored three runs in the first inning on one hit and three errors, which goes to show that if they can hit a little down they should force the Toronto juniors to three games before a winner is decided.

Although the locals had seven errors charged against Wilkins was bearing down all of the time and pitched a fine game. Only one of the Toronto fans, The boy buried good enough, but with the average that the lady luck just would not smile upon him. Wilkins will have over a week's rest before he tackles the Columbias here on Labor Day and if he turns in as good a game then as he did on Saturday, the locals should take the Toronto City juniors at the Fair Grounds. The Toronto team, according to Manager Vern Welr, are a smart club and about the largest junior team that he ever saw on the field.

POLE SITTER QUITS POST

Will Investigate Rumor of Another Sitter Using Name

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 31.—(By The Canadian Press)—"Shipwreck" Kelly is finally coming down off the top of a flagpole at Sunnyside, the position he has occupied for eleven days and nights in vacant. The flag-pole sitter has gone back to Long Branch, N.J., to investigate reports, that a man named "Shipwreck" Kelly is in that place. Kelly was under contract to sit on top of the flagpole at Canada's Wonderland Amusement centre for two weeks, but he was getting very short of that, when he quit the post.

A Government committee is being formed, Kelly said, to establish a domestic automotive industry in span to produce 5,000 units a year.

Belleville Newspaperman Becomes Tweed News Owner

Tweed News with which was amalgamated some years ago the Tweed Advocate has changed hands passing from the Tweed News Limited into possession of a Belleville newspaperman, Sam R. Curry, former city editor of the Ontario Intelligencer. Mr. Curry has taken over the business and will make his home there.

He knows the newspaper needs of the community and will endeavor to satisfy them. His friends here and elsewhere predict his success in control and management of the paper.

The Tweed News is quite an adult paper in regard to age for it came into being in the fall of 1911 and in the hands of noted newspaperman than the late Dr. W. J. Taylor of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review was one time owner of this paper as was also Hanner A. R. Dyer of Campbellford. Mr. Curry's father was himself for some time owner of the Tweed News and it has since been owned by a joint stock company.

Mr. Curry expects to give the readers of the News an up-to-the-minute weekly issue.

CITIZEN'S BAND GIVES CONCERT

Belleville's Municipal Band made a host of friends last evening at their band concert played at the Belleville Agricultural Park. Although the weather was cool and the citizens did not seem to mind the chilly atmosphere while sitting in the park listening to the band music. The eight numbers played by the band and were well received by the public attending. Bandmaster Hinchliffe and his bandsmen received many rounds of applause for their efforts, by the hearty encouragement and the usual hand response.

Last night's concert was given gratis by the members of the Belleville Municipal Band in order that they might help the coming Fair as well as the public. The Band made no mistake in engaging the Belleville Band for the purpose of entertaining the patrons of the Fair. The citizens of Belleville have a band that is to be proud of and the way that they were received last night went to show the appreciation of the public for their efforts.

CHAPTER XXX.

When Panchon awoke it was to sunlight, softened by drawn blinds. A strange woman sat beside her—a woman in white, with a pleasantly intent face. The woman's fingers lay lightly on her wrist.

"Collin!" whispered Panchon.

The woman said, smiling:

"You're not to talk. But I am to tell you that everything is all right. You are to take this, and sleep——" and when you wake you may see Mrs. Carstairs."

Panchon turned on her side. Presently she slept. Later, she was to learn that she had been ill for two days, with a complete nervous breakdown and shock—and that she had come through it magnificently, had been delicious, had wept and begged for Mrs. Carstairs, had called out for Collin.....for Collin. And that he had been with her, he had not on here; the only touch that could steady her in her misery.

There she lay, and she them, after that, but it was many days before they were allowed to talk to her. Her mind clear again, her body struggling back to life and weak as a baby's, she would lie in bed and watch the room. Mrs. Carstairs, the nie who would sit beside her, her hands at rest, smile, and speak so softly, reassuringly; for Collin who would sit there also and hold her hands fast and let his eyes tell her that, miraculously, he loved her.

Finally the day came when Jennie was permitted to talk.

"Now there is no fear," she said. "She—the man—died instantly. The bullet did not miss him. He missed his footing and fell. It was the fall that killed him. Collin has told me days' wonder when it was revealed by police—and great that Collin was the notorious Antonio Fragonard. Panchon! Is it over? Yours," she said. "Your god knowledge of him is known to no one but us.

Panchon shuddered, and lifted her chin hard.....

"No—no—" she whispered.

"I understand. Claim it, for charity, then," said Jennie, "and always you are better. You are taking you South. Aged then to Fragonard quickly....."

The train pounded down Panchon's face. Tears of weakness. She said, brokenly:

"But I have no right—"

"Have you not? Do you—care anything about me, Panchon?" asked Jennie Carstairs.

Panchon looked, her lips to the quiet hand that lay there on the bed. She whispered:

"You know. It was real. Everything was real.....but.....the name....."

"Never mind that.....Do you love Collin, Panchon?"

"With all my heart," she said.

"Then haven't you—every right?" asked Jennie.

The nurse came in.

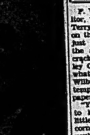
"No more today," she said warningly, and obediently Jennie rose. She looked down on the small white face, so very pale against the dark curls on the pillow. She said:

"You're not to worry.....you belong to us."

As soon as she could be moved safely Panchon was taken South. To a quiet little place in Florida, to a small lonely house, set among the palms. Gibson, the nurse, went with her; and Jennie; and Collin; and some of the servants. And it was all a dreamlike. And slowly her strength came back.

"We can sail in two weeks," Collin told her one evening. "The doctor says we may."

She looked up at the great stars and the golden splendor of the moon. There was a little Gulf wind in the palm trees. She heard the sound of water.



"Collin!" she said desperately. "What is it, darling?"

"I—I—"

Fair Personalities

R. K. Colling, member of the Panchon Board, and a director of the Fair Board.

H. W. Greenleaf, a director of the Fair Board.

"No, don't say it. Whatever it is, I love you. We will be married before we sail. Will you, Panchon?"

She said, "Collin you can't.....people—what will people say?"

"What does that matter? We are going to live abroad for a long time. Perhaps people will wonder.....but they will be told. Sinclair that Evelyn having died, you took her name—and her initials—and let it say, adopted. What difference does it make how much they wonder? Let what fault they find with our story....."

"Collin!" he added, after an interlude, "it was you we have to thank for Mrs. Carstairs!" Both of us loved her. And always will. But my mother never left you that—that she had not expected to care for Evelyn's letters. From her the things she knew and which Evelyn didn't confess.....Darling! I'm glad there was no Commander Carstairs.....and no little romance in Hawaiian, after all. Although, after knowing you, I couldn't believe anything of Evelyn. Still and all, I would not have found excuses for the rest of my life."

"She's.....dead," said Panchon in a low voice. She heard the thought of the trip Collin and Mrs. Carstairs had taken to their return with the body.

"I know.....but you are alive and mine."

"I haven't," she told him, "said much about Tony. It was—loneliness, and he was with love. I wasn't—like this—and—I—reminded her. "You told me once," reminded her, "that you had always belonged to yourself. I believed that."

"It was true, I told true now. In every way that matters most I belong to you," she said.

He took her into his arms and kissed her.

After a while Jennie came out to them and they sat there together planning their allied future. Panchon closed her eyes against the brightness of the stars.....To being .....forever. To Collin. To their the mother she had always longed for. Poor Tony, she thought, dreamily, pity for him welling up in her heart—and poor Evelyn.

But they were dead. And she was gloriously, alive.

THE END.

ROUTE NOT DECIDED

Tokyo, Aug. 31 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, during a visit to the Embassy of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics today declined to say if he and his wife had not determined which route they would take home, but both were greatly interested in Siberia.

LEFT UNSAID

by Dorothy Radcliffe Scovills

F. Wilburton Martin, the city editor, was on a rampage when Rose Terry faced him to ask for a job on the Telegraph-Journal. He had just finished telling everyone on the staff, from Bill Toomey, the crack feature writer, down to Cherry Cook, the cub man, what he thought was what. Not that it was unusual. F. Wilburton Martin was like that. His tempers were known wherever newspaper men gathered.

"You think you know all there is to know about the game!" His cold blue eyes screwed up at the copy boys. "Don't want to do what you're told! Get the idea you know-it all—" He snorted disgustedly and turned to the slim girl waiting by the door.

"Well, what do you want?" he snapped. A feature writer I suppose? Looked for a job at the Journal?" He pulled nervously at the pocket of her thin coat. "N-no pretty! No more."

"Can you write?—The city editor glared at her.

"I—"

"All right!" he stopped her with his hand, "Now listen, you smart Alecks," he turned to the others, "girl is a beauty. Don't know a beauty when you see one? Why I've been after, I'm sick of the copy I've been getting on the paper! Why —for two cents—"

The telephone cut short his threat. He motioned the girl into his office and shot her a final glare as the half dozen men he slammed the door behind them.

"What?" Bill Toomey wiped his brow in mock dismay. "Those dirty dogs coming to him that two cents just to find out what he wants to say."

"And so she's a feature writer from Chicago observed Billy. "Well, well—"

Off in a corner a desk and a typewriter belonged to Rose Terry. She was getting on with these words as came in very quietly, and her eyes were red and swollen. Bill Toomey, who took was nearest her's, made some attempt to get acquainted, but she answered him in shy monosyllables. Then little Cherry Cook was absorbed, after look when she was sure that the city editor was not saw her outside.

Her stories were plain ask stuff, but her certain appeal and were different from the usual run. Charley to the copy desk. Finally along day after day Charley's stoop-shouldered manuscript came to Rose Terry. They were strangely alike.

When the other reporters and writers and odds and ends of staff gathered to talk things over in their casual way, Rose and Charley would listen a bit, but before long the gossip was half over they would go out.

"Charlie's Rose" they called her. "Poor thing", the twice divorced Mrs. Tutt, society editor, called her.

A general rush, and an agravating number of "scoops" by the rival paper caused the city editor to explode and Rose's stories had broken for the morning sheet and he sent for her. In his cursory edition was making extra work for every one. Charley and Rose were about the only ones seemingly unaffected by it all. They went about their work uncomplainingly, and Rose seemed even more timid than before. Her eyes were aglean with something the illuminated her whole face.

Unfortunately, Charley and Rose picked the morning when everything was going wrong to walk in late.

"Here's three stories that we should have had" The city editor was waving a crumpled morning paper under the noses of the three men who covered city hall, police court and hospital. "Who's responsible for this?"

Charley and Rose opened the door just as he asked it, "Well?" said the city editor sarcastically, "Do you work here or are you just visiting? Not for two months."

Rose giggled. It was a tiny little chuckle, full of humor and the city editor caught it just as he turned toward the door of his office.

"Oh, Mr. Martin." Rose smiled and went to him, "Charley and I would like to see you this—" She slid out a tiny package, carefully wrapped in tissue and tied with a pink ribbon. "There's a little note inside—"

"Time—oh, thank you, Miss Terry." And with that the city editor disappeared into his office.

Bill Toomey and Shorty Keys first caught sight of the package in her hand on her finger, and in less than a second the whole crowd had completely surrounded Charley and Rose.

"We got married this morning. "Rose told it."

"Over at Centerville." Charley added.

"And we leave for Baltimore tonight." Rose explained their plans, "Because Charley's got a job there."

"It's my father's." Charley beamed.

What will Old Man Martin say?"

Rose laughed, "I don't know—" Her answer was interrupted by F. Wilburton Martin himself, who suddenly popped from his office door and descended on the group with glowering brows. In the general scattering of the copy boys and Rose were left alone. From behind the protection of her husband and seeming industry the staff watched and listened.

"Well!" The city editor opened his fist and looked at two bright pink envelopes in his palm; swallowed hard for a moment while a lump rose in his throat. "Now I can say my two cents worth, can't I?" He looked at Rose, "Mrs. Charley, "Hope you'll be happy—" he shook violently, and disappeared into his office again.

Like a corner of hall the staff members deserted their shelter and rushed back into the city room and made more of the affair.

Occasionally some curious visitor will ask why the new pennies are glued on the wall over the city editor's desk, for such questions the answer is usually somewhat indefinite.

"Just a little reminder—" F. Wilburton Martin will tell you—and grin, "Did you ever stop to think how much we say isn't worth two cents?"

THE SLOW DRIVER MENACE

California has just acquired a new traffic law which has as its purpose innovation of general interest. This is the section which forbids driving motor car at a speed so slow that the reasonable flow of traffic is retarded. Traffic officers are given full authority to arrest drivers who persist in poking along and holding up movement of other vehicles on the road.

Although there is no definite law as to what constitutes slow driving, the slow poke motorist, who endangers traffic by his sluggishness, will be held to be reckless driving count as a recent case in Mimico revealed. In this a motorist contributed a $10 fine to the court for driving at a rate of 11 miles an hour. It is dangerous a traffic offence, highway officials declare, if driver goes at a speed that impedes traffic, as it is to speed along the road at a dangerous rate, Ottawa Times.

Canton, China, will complete its 40,000,000 municipal improvement program within a year.

CYRIL MAUDE AT BELLE IN CLEVER ROMANTIC COMEDY

Miss Pearl Desenrosiers Tonight—"Darling of Paris" is next comedy "Three Charming People,' done so successfully on the stage by Cyril Maude and Grace George is due to the talking screen in London and Paris by Paramount and is sure to prove one of the worth while things to be seen the motion picture theatre this season. "These Charming People" is a comedy of the fine old times, misfortunes, love and gallantries of a charming old adventurer and his two daughters.

Colonel Crawford, the charming old "scoundrel" in "Three Charming People" played by Mr. Maude, is a role rich in humor and possibilities. Particularly amusing is the competition between Colonel Crawford and his young daughter, to borrow from the middle-aged bill-poster who has married into the family. Godfrey Travis the brother of Conway Travis', is next in the slightly-used category. Capitol. This article, a genuine E.P.N.S. Although she has a fortune that makes her financially independent of her efforts on the screen, Constance Bennett does not take her profession lightly. Every minute that can be pursued diligently or necessarily, she is at work, and, in fact, is one of the hardest workers in the entire film colony.

In production or between pictures this blonde star seems never to rest but is on the sets early and late while her pictures are being made. And even when she views "rushes" of the day's work, helps plan her next picture, she is busy with the director.

Her latest picture is "The Common Law" coming to the BELLE Wednesday, two days, matinee daily.

In the cast are Joel McCrea, her leading man, Lew Cody, Marion Shilling, Hedda Hopper and Paul Ellis.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or frequently, from gas, sourness and indigestion, have not discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, sodas and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Playing With Matches Blamed For $100,000 Fire In East Village

Thirty Persons Homeless and One May Die

ANOTHER HURT

Thirty Three Buildings are Destroyed at Osmanbruck Centre

Cornwall, Aug. 31—Two persons were seriously injured, 36 rendered homeless, and 33 buildings razed when two boys playing with matches destroyed two-thirds of Osmanbruck Centre late Saturday. Damage of $100,000 has come in the village, which is 20 miles west of Cornwall.

John Laporte, 30, is in Cornwall Hospital with little hope held out for his recovery. He was badly burned attempting to save his household effects. Irvin Neville, 22, fell from a roof and broke both ankles. He is also seriously burned.

Two churches, a lodge hall, Osmanbruck Township Hall, a store and many dwellings were among the buildings destroyed.

Four-Hour Fight

Starting shortly before 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the fire swept an area 3 mile in length and half a mile wide before it was brought under control at 8 p.m. Firemen from Cornwall and more than 400 volunteers were hampered by lack of water, and by the fact that a high wind swept sparks over a wide area to start new fires every few minutes.

The fire started in a barn owned by James McLain at the western boundary of the village. George Ware, aged 5, and David McBain, 4, were playing in the barn, the McBain youngster striking together two matches which he had found in his home. One of the matches, he afterward said, ignited and broke, the burning splinter setting fire to a pile of straw. Within a few minutes the barn was a mass of flames and a strong southwest wind carried showers of sparks to all portions of the village. The boys escaped from the barn without difficulty.

Half an hour after fifteen buildings had been destroyed, a change of wind carried the fire away from the main section of the village, but the flaming embers set fire to more than twenty buildings southeast of it. Isolated barns more than a mile from the scene of the original fire were destroyed before volunteer fire-fighters could reach them.

Within an hour telephoned calls for help had brought more than 400 men from the near-by villages of Lunenburg, Newington and Wales. Owing to the recent dry weather, only two wells within 300 yards of the original fire contained water and these were rapidly exhausted.

At 6 o'clock firemen from Cornwall arrived with a motor-pump but were seriously hampered by a lack of water. Chemicals were used to good effect in saving a schoolhouse and one or two dwellings. The fact that the fire covered more than a large area made it almost impossible for firemen to concentrate upon any particular section. Consequently the conflagration continued until the wind dropped shortly after 8 o'clock.

The loss in practically every instance was complete. E rapidly did the fire spread that it was impossible for volunteers to remove more than one or two pieces of furniture from each building before the heat loosened their work. The buildings were of frame construction, erected years ago and the material has dried. Nothing remains today above the foundation lines, every vestige of combustible material having been burned.

Persons whose houses are within the fire area, and still in danger from drifting sparks, were hauling water, several miles today in order that they might meet any emergency which might arise.

From the hillside here the fire spread across to a sawmill about 300 yards distant, owned by Herman Algire. The blaze-dry building, surrounded by lumber, slabs and sawdust, quickly caught fire and burned fiercely. Then building after building caught until the whole thirty-three were destroyed.

Individual Losses

The buildings destroyed and the losses in each case are as follows: Dwelling of James McBain and frame barn, loss $3,500; sawmill owned by Herman Algire, loss $8,000; dwelling and barn owned by Mrs. Maria Neville, loss $4,000; dwelling and barn owned by Arthur Ware, loss $4,000; dwelling, barn and barber shop owned by Aden Swerdfeger, loss $6,000; United dwelling and barn owned by Simeon Hamer, loss $12,000; storehouse occupied by William Conliffe, loss $1,000; barracks shop owned by Josiah D. Laporte, loss $3,500; vacant dwelling owned by William Conliffe, loss $500; house and barn owned by Hercule Algire, loss $3,000; house and barn owned by Mrs. Charles Campbell, loss $3,000; house owned by Wilson Crydeman, loss $2,500; hall occupied by Orange and Canadian Order of Forester organizations, loss $3,000; storehouse owned by Simeon Hamer, loss $3,000; Osmanbruck Township Hall, loss $2,000; St. Peter's Anglican Church, loss $10,000; Osmanbruck Centre Methodist church, loss $12,000; two vacant houses owned by Aden Swerdfeger, loss $4,000; house owned by William Milton, loss $3,500; many outbuildings, pool tables, stoves, etc., loss estimated at $3,000.

Valiant to Save Possessions

Valiant efforts were made by many of the village's residents to save their belongings. John Laporte's general store burned when he attempted to drag two trunks from it. Despite the fact that he is advanced age, little hope is held out that he will recover.

Irvin Neville, who fell from the barn the fire started, declared that his companion, William Milton, was accidentally started the fire, Mr. McBain saw the blaze soon after it started, but was powerless to prevent it reaching his home. His wife was away from home and he immediately locked himself getting the six of his seven children who were in the house to safety. He suffered a heart attack immediately after and lay in the field beside his home unconscious while the building burned to the ground.

As he watched his home being destroyed, Aden Swerdfeger remarked to his wife they were lucky they owned a vacant house on the edge of the village to which they could move. He turned to look towards it and saw his second home burst into flames.

The dry homes burned like tinder and threw intense heat. Trees 100 yards from burning buildings were scorched, their blackened stumps lending an eerie touch to the scene today.

Irvin Neville received his injuries while he was helping fight a fire at Mrs. David Boyd's home. Sparks alighted on the roof, and Neville volunteered to extinguish the incipient blaze.

OLD CATHOLIC AND ANGLICAN CREEDS AGREE

Step Toward Union of Churches Is Made

MEETING SOON

Announcement is Made of Harmony at London

London, Aug. 31.—(UP)—A program for reunion of the Church of England with other denominations was advanced today under the guidance of the Most Rev. and Rt. Hon. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury.

An announcement at Lambeth Palace said a joint commission of the Anglican Communion and Old Catholic churches had met at Bonn in July and agreed on three points which were considered important steps toward reunion.

The joint commission, appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Archbishop of Utrecht was authorized by the Lambeth Bishops Conference of 1930, which considered suggestions for unification of various denominations on a wide scale.

The three points agreed upon were:

1—To recognize mutually the catholicity and independence of the two churches.

2—Each communion will admit members of the other communion to participate in sacraments.

3—Neither church will necessarily adopt the customs or habits of devotion of the other.

The importance of the agreement with the Old Catholic Church which was formed by Roman Catholics who refused to accept the decrees of the Vatican council of 1870 defining the dogma of papal infallibility, was emphasized by the announcement a week ago that plans for unification of the Anglican Church with the Eastern Orthodox churches were improved as a result of the visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury to Palestine last Spring.

A joint doctrinal commission, representing the Anglican communion and the Eastern churches is scheduled to meet at Lambeth Palace on October 15 to prepare a joint statement showing the theological points on which the two churches are agreed.

The question of reunion of the Church of England with the Roman Catholic Church has not been seriously raised since the unsuccessful Malines conversations in that direction, but the Archbishop of Canterbury has intensified efforts toward reunion with the Orthodox churches and the Old Catholics, whose chief strength lies in Germany at present.

The National Exposition of Agricultural and Industrial Produce held n La Plaz, Bolivia, in July and August, drew large crowds.

Hon. Robert Cooke, Hydro Commission Chairman who is an honorary director of the Belleville Agricultural Society.

Alderman G. O. Tice, a director of the Belleville Fair Board.

Cathedral Is Presented Memento of War of 1812

Kingston, Aug. 31.—A Canadian ensign, used by a Canadian, was vested in the War of 1812, has been presented to St. George's Cathedral to be preserved as an interesting historical memento. A brief service marking the depositing of the flag was conducted by the Dean of Ontario and rector of St. George's, Very Rev. W. W. Craig, at the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning.

The flag was presented to St. George's by Mrs. Elizabeth C. Cameron of Lakefield, and her son, R. Rodney Cameron, of Toronto. Mrs. Cameron's account of the flag is that it was given to her husband, the late Charles Campbell, over 60 years ago by Colonel Corbett, who was in charge of British military stores at Kingston at that time. Colonel Corbett stated that the flag had been taken from an American war vessel after the War of 1812.

The flag has a blue background with a Union Jack in the upper corner nearest the flagpole. It was placed in the cathedral during the week, and is considered a valued addition to the flags and plaques which adorn the walls.

EXPRESS RATE CUTS COMING

Move is Made to Meet Competitive Rates of Truckers

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Declaring that the regulation of truck rates was a matter which would have to be settled by the Provincial Government and a matter in which they must have a hand, Hon. T. K. McDonnell, Toronto, president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific Express Company, announced yesterday that express companies in view of the competitive rates of truckers, were lowering their tariffs to equal those charged by the truckers in a statement issued over the week end.

During the last couple of weeks the express companies had filed new tariffs with the Railway Commission in more than 300 places throughout Canada where truckers by cutting their rates had taken the heavier traffic.

He suggested that truckers should be obliged to file their rates openly—then they could not cut their rates to less than cost and injure the trucker, railways and business men who had to compete with the shipper and who had clubbed the trucker into semi-reasonable low tariff. Regulation of the truck rates must come even in the interest of the truckers themselves.

The present expense of the express companies of Canada to meet the competition of truckers and satisfy the demands of shippers for competitive rates was not in any sense a war with the trucks, he stated.

"Many shippers have stated time and time again", said Mr. McDonnell, "that, if the railways or the express companies would charge no more than was being paid to the truckers, the rail service would be used in preference to trucks as it was better, more dependable and easier to locate when needed. Further challenge has been accepted. They have what they asked for. The degree to which the express companies will extend the continuous this experiment will be affected by the use made of this service by those who asked for it. If no responsible person will deny that the railways are essential to the Dominion, surely then it is only fair that they should be used when their rates and services are comparable with those offered by the truckers."

HAS HOPE IN BRITISH LABOR

MacDonald Thinks He Has Not Lost All Influence

Lossiemouth, Scotland, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald indicated today that he did not believe the revolt of his Labor party had robbed him of all influence with British workers.

"I have received letters from all parts of the country showing the willingness of Britons to make sacrifices," the Prime Minister said in reference to the new National Government's economy program, particularly the reduction of the dole, to which his Labor party objected.

"The letters were from bishops, parsons, unemployed and old age pensioners, among others. The trade union element does not yet appreciate the moral force of an emergency appeal."

MacDonald, who was asked Sunday to resign his Seaham seat in the House of Commons, probably will delay a decision until the present Government ends its term in meeting the financial crisis. He took advantage of excellent weather to rest over the week-end and decided to fly back to London today rather than leave by train last night.

Attends His Own Funeral At 80

Benton, Ills., Aug. 31.—Surrounded by relatives and friends, Stephen H. Fulton Sunday attended his own "funeral." Flowers were there in profusion but there was no casket.

"And, by golly, I want to know what Maulding thinks of me."

SPLENDID PROGRAMME AT THE CAPITOL TONIGHT

Each performance of "Air Police" at the Capitol on Saturday was attended by an exceptionally large crowd, can be justly estimated that crowd were appreciative judge by the audible enjoyment they derived from the whole programme.

"Air Police" offers something new in the way of "thrillers." The introduction of airplanes, used by a couple of plainclothesmen in their effort to round up a bunch of toughs in South America, provided moments of suspense. Skirmishes between hunter and hunted, emphasized by the tattoo of machine guns, battles of wits and strategy, with both of these young policemen in love with the same girl. The haunting melody of the late Egyptian tango added to the realism of this story. Kenneth Harlan, Charles Delaney and Dorothy Dunn are co-featured in this drama, which it reminiscent of "Flight."

The supporting programme is of marked interest. Go Gnatland Sportlight containing some remarkable instances of man's power over alligators. This particular sport is at present on view at the Canadian National Exhibition, and it is amusing to watch an alligator being put to sleep by the gentle rubbing of his chest! Lloyd Hamilton puts over some new comedy stunts in "Rowdy Mates," and Scrappy, a new cartoon character, is lifelike in "Yelp Wanted." The Pathe Sound News completes the programme which ends tonight.

Warden Charles W. Thompson of the County of Hastings and an honorary president of the Belleville Agricultural Society.

Japan's salmon catch is less this year than last.
